U.S. to Seek Expansion of World Trade

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy said today the new round of trade negotiations scheduled for next spring could lead to free world trade expansion "in all products and in all directions."

He gave his rosy assessment of the outlook for the so-called "Kennedy round" of negotiations in the seventh annual report to Congress on the trade agreements program.

The report covers trade and tariff developments in 1962. In a letter transmitting the report, Kennedy said the United States would "continue to press for removal of all restrictions that hinder our exports."

"It will also continue to follow a national policy of self-restraint in the use of restrictions and of confidence in the intentions of our trading partners to do the same," the President added.

Kennedy said forthcoming negotiations could help deal with the problem of "agricultural protectionism and the dilemma of hunger and glut. They can turn trade into a more effective tool of economic growth for the developing nations."

During the period covered by the report, Kennedy said:

—Free world trade continued to expand with exports climbing to a record $124 billion with United States exports reaching a new high of $20.9 billion — $4.5 billion more than its imports.

—There was a further freeing of trade in agriculture, helping U. S. farm exports to hold their own at the $5 billion mark.

—The needs of the less developed countries in their trade relations received more attention than ever before.

Three Lives Claimed in State Hunting

DENVER (AP)—In the first two days of the 1963 Colorado big game season, three out-of-state hunters have died.

Two of the deaths were directly or indirectly attributed to gunshot wounds, the third to a heart attack caused by fatigue.

Mrs. Ruby Spalding, 39, of Eldon, Mo., was shot while hunting 20 miles northeast of Craig Saturday. Her brother-in-law, William E. Spalding, of Eugene, Mo., said he fired from about 35 feet away when he saw movement and thought it was a bear. They were hunting in heavy timber.

Spalding was found guilty in Craig Justice Court of careless and reckless hunting and was fined $100, according to Harry Dobbs, supervisor for the State Game and Fish Department in that area.

Robert Still, 49, of Shreveport, La., was wounded in the leg Saturday when he tried to club a wounded deer to death with the butt of his rifle, Garfield County Coroner Orville Sowder said.

Sowder, who helped get the hunter down from Baker's Point, said Still died after undergoing surgery at a Grand Junction hospital. He said a cardiac arrest apparently occurred after the operation.

Amos Barksdale, 69, of Denton, Tex., died at a hunting camp near Creede Sunday morning of an apparent heart attack.

Companions said Barksdale complained of fatigue after his first day of hunting.

Two hunters were in St. Mary's Hospital at Grand Junction Sunday night with injuries received while trying to move deer that had been shot.

Donald Costelow, 41, of Compton, Calif., was in good condition with a leg wound that attendants said he received when deer antlers caused his gun to discharge. Another man, whose name could not be obtained, reportedly fell on his hunting knife as he dragged away a deer. The patient, from De Beque, Colo., was in good condition with a wound in the abdomen.

Continuing Drought Spells Loss of Millions to Economy

CHICAGO (AP)—The drought belt extending from Texas to New England remained explosively dry over the weekend as the effect on the nation's economy deepened.

Scattered rains brought scant relief to some spots, but the loss to crops and property from the dryness and accompanying fires is expected to run into the millions of dollars.

Fires have burned across thousands of acres of forests and woodlands. Pastures have turned brown. Wells and farm ponds have gone dry. Water is being rationed in some communities. The shortage of water has been felt in some of the major cities in the East.

The drought has delayed the seeding of winter wheat in the Great Plains. Livestock producers in many areas have marketed their cattle early because of shortage of feed and water. Milk production in many areas was far below seasonal levels.

Officials in several eastern and Midwest States have ordered the closing of many forests and woodlands. Hunting and fishing have been banned.

Although light rain fell in central sections of the nation over the weekend, Weather Bureau officials said heavy rains are needed.

Lawmen Hunt Escapee From County Jail

Colorado Springs law enforcement authorities were searching this morning for John Pappillian, 28, who escaped from the County Jail Sunday morning by climbing over a fence, the sheriff's office reported.

Pappillian was sentenced to four months in the County Jail Friday for the Aug. 9 assault and battery of Feliciano Rosdo.

Jailer Robert C. Otto told Sheriff Earl L. Sullivan that Pappillian was let out of the building to sweep the front porch and walk shortly before 6 a.m. Sunday.

Pappillian left the broom he was using near the fence in the southwest corner of the yard, indicating he had climbed over the fence at that location, Otto said.

Deputies reported that Pappillan's wife, Elsie Mae Pappillian, 30, visited him at the jail Friday night, and it is thought they made plans for his escape at that time.

Assisting in the investigation of the escape were deputies Bernard Barry, Vince Denboske, Franklin Ripley and Charles Dietsche. Members of the Colorado Springs Police Dept. also investigated.

Haile Selassie Tries Mediation In North Africa

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia delayed his departure from Morocco today to continue efforts to mediate the Moroccan-Algerian border conflict.

The emperor was expected to hold further talks with Moroccan officials and possibly to arrange a meeting between Algerian Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika and Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Balafrej.

Haile Selassie went to Rabat Sunday after an official visit to King Hassan II in Marrakech, the country's winter capital. Bouteflika joined him in Rabat Sunday night.

Cabinet ministers said the Moroccan government is ready to negotiate the bitter dispute but the Algerians must make the first move.

At U.N. headquarters in New York, emissaries from both governments told Secretary-General U Thant there was no chance of a cease-fire under present conditions. Each demanded that the other's forces withdraw from the disputed border area.

The Algerians have refused to discuss Moroccan demands for a large portion of the Sahara, which Morocco claims belongs to it historically and ethnically.

Troops were massed around half a dozen frontier points after a series of clashes in which there have been several score victims. Algerian sources re-

'Worst Defeat' Reported by South Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese and U.S. Army officers expected trouble when they planned a weekend attack on a Communist guerrilla unit deep in the Mekong Delta.

Their fears were well founded. South Vietnamese troops suffered their worst defeat in nine months. Government casualties were listed at 40 dead and 80 wounded, including 13 American wounded.

The government estimated enemy casualties at 30 dead. No prisoners were taken. Only four bodies were found.

The battle, termed by U. S. advisers "the bloodiest nose" given President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces since a similar defeat Jan. 2, took place in a remote area of rice paddies and palm groves near Loc Ninh, 140 miles southeast of Saigon.

A considerable distance from helicopter bases and out of reach of government artillery, the sector has long been infiltrated by guerrillas.

Entrenched in fortified positions, Viet Cong heavy machine guns cut up two waves of South Vietnamese troops carried in by U.S. helicopters.

Another government battalion brought in on foot failed to dislodge the Viet Cong's well-trained and well-equipped battalion. A third helicopter force was halted too.

Transit Dispute Talks Delayed For One Day

Scheduled talks between the Colorado Springs Transit Co. and the Bus Drivers local were called off today because of the delay in the return of David W. Cowen, company executive vice president, from a vacation trip.

Spokesmen for the company said Mrs. Cowen became ill on a trip to Mexico delaying the return of the executive.

The talks, to avoid a possible bus strike here, were scheduled for 10 a.m. today.

Officials said the talks will be held Tuesday.

The local union has filed an intent to strike with the State Industrial Commission if the negotiations fail. Deadline on the intent is midnight Tuesday.

The union can strike anytime after the deadline passes with a full vote of the union members. Bus drivers are demanding an 18-cent hourly increase plus fringe benefits for the new two-year contract.

The old contract expired at midnight Sept. 30. The union is still operating under the terms of the expired contract.

Negro Leaders Plan Showdown In Birmingham

By United Press International

Negro leaders prepared today for a showdown with Birmingham, Ala., officials over demands that Negro police officers be hired and Louisiana authorities investigated the alleged beating of a Negro man who attempted to register as a voter.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was scheduled to return to Birmingham today or Tuesday and confer with leaders in the Negro community there about leading more huge racial demonstrations.

He has vowed to lead the demonstrations if 25 Negro policemen are not hired by Tuesday. Mayor Albert Boutwell and the Birmingham city council have refused to meet the demands.

James A. Payne told authorities in Louisiana this weekend that three white men beat him and threatened to kill him last week shortly after he returned from an unsuccessful attempt to register as a voter at the St. Francisville, La., registrar's office.

He said he had not reported the incident sooner because he was afraid.

Payne said he was hit in the

Vito Genovese Conviction to Be Reconsidered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today ordered reconsideration of the narcotics conviction of Vito Genovese, recently named as "boss of all bosses" of the Cosa Nostra underworld syndicate.

The brief order vacated the 1959 convictions of Genovese and nine co-defendants. The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals was directed to look at the cases again in light of a Supreme Court decision last term.

Genovese is now serving a 15-year sentence at Leavenworth.

Underworld informer Joseph Valachi has said that the 65-year-old crime figure is operating his criminal empire from prison through three lieutenants who dare not disobey him.

Hurricane Ginny Rakes Coast of North Carolina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Ginny raked the North Carolina coast with gale force winds today and whipped up heavy seas as it remained centered 100 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras.

The Weather Bureau reported that Ginny was expected to move east northeast about 5 m.p.h. during the next 12 hours with no drop in strength.

The storm spun 90 m.p.h. winds out for 60 miles around its center and reached out with gale force winds for 250 miles to the north and east and 170 miles to the south and west.

Waves of 25 to 30 feet were reported lashing the Diamond Shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras.

Two Climbers Fall to Death On Nepal Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two Italian climbers fell to their deaths Thursday on 23,750-foot Langatang Lirung peak in the Himalayas, according to reports reaching the Nepal government Sunday.

The victims wer Dr. Cesar Volante, 27, and Giorgio Rossi, 28, members of a ten-man Italian team tackling the unclimbed peak. They died in the area where three members of a Japanese expedition were killed in 1961.

Sky Diver Falls To Death as Wife Watches

Jack Wallace, Ypsilanti, Mich., who had made 75 jumps over four years, made his second jump of the day with Louis Peres, of Detroit, into winds of six-to-eight miles per hour.

Peres hit the airport target, but Wallace, apparently drifting near a busy road, attempted to clear the road and struck and short-circuited two wires.

Anti-Government Dominican Riot Is Broken Up

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — An anti-government rally turned into a free-swinging riot Sunday night as police used clubs and tear gas to break up the demonstration.

It was the most serious outbreak in the Dominican Republic since the government of President Juan Bosch was overthrown in a military coup Sept. 25.

Police arrested 32 demonstrators.

The melee started when police attacked Richard Espinal, a former diplomat, as he tried to speak against the ruling civilian junta, witnesses said.

U. S. Renews Cuba Air Surveillance

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special) — The covert "air arm" of the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency is again flying high, wide, and out of the range of Soviet ground-to-air missiles — over Cuba.

Undisputed command of all U.S. air surveillance of Cuba and along the borders of the Soviet Union has been turned over to CIA Director John McCone by the White House.

No hint of this significant development has been given the public or Congress by officials of the Kennedy administration despite its jolting implications on U.S. security.

The vital Cuban surveillance mission, shared with the Air Force and Navy since last October's missile crisis, is now being exclusively carried out by the CIA's "second-rate airforce," as it is labeled by top Air Force generals.

This phantom CIA force, which is far from adequate to do the job, includes less than two dozen high-flying U-2 reconnaissance planes and about twelve "flying platforms," especially equipped long-range surveillance planes.

At present, CIA pilots are limited to less than a dozen high-level U-2 reconnaissance flights a month, with none passing directly over Cuba. Instead, the U-2s follow the Cuban coastline, staying over international waters and out of range of more than 600 SA-2 missiles that ring the island.

All low-level reconnaissance flights conducted over Cuba by Navy and Air Force pilots during the missile crisis were halted several months ago on direct orders from the White House, despite protests by the two services that the flights were necessary to check on Soviet missiles in Cuba.

HISTORY REPEATS

As before the Cuban missile crisis, all CIA air missions in the Caribbean area or near the Soviet Union must receive advance approval by President Kennedy. This air-tight control procedure was adopted to avoid CIA operations that might cause incidents between Castro and U.S. forces.

Despite vigorous denials by State and Defense Department officials, there have been periods as long as two weeks during which no reconnaissance flights were made in the vicinity of Cuba.

One of these self-imposed reconnaissance blackouts was put into effect during the nuclear test ban negotiations in Moscow. During a two-week period late in July and early August, all fights were stopped by White House orders.

Hurricane Flora, the storm that hammered Cuba for five days this month, also grounded CIA planes more than a week. While Navy planes flying off the carrier Lake Champlain virtually mapped all of Haiti to obtain a complete picture of the storm damage on that island, they were banned from taking pictures of Cuba's extensive storm damage.

A YEAR LATER

Just one year ago, on Sunday, October 21, 1962, while the nation went to church and watched professional football games, Navy and Air Force reconnaissance planes criss-crossed Cuba at tree-top level, photographing Soviet missile base construction and jet bombers.

On that fateful Sunday, the CIA circulated an Intelligence estimate that between 5,000 and 6,000 Soviet troops were on the island, despite warnings from Cuban refugees that there were "more than 20,000" — a warning that proved to be deadly ac-

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The war against communism in South Viet Nam—with the security of a vastly strategic area at stake—can be lost. It can be won, too. Hopes were high not long ago.

If South Viet Nam goes, it will be lost in the presidential palace in Saigon, where a frightened regime seems to be playing Vietnamese roulette with the future of all Southeast Asia.

Perhaps the war never can be wholly won while South Viet Nam has a Communist neighbor in the north. But even in this sea of confusion and frustration, it is possible to hope that the back of the Viet Cong Communist effort can be broken and a reasonable amount of peace restored.

The Americans, whose government has sunk more than $2 billion and committed 16,000 men to the anti-Communist effort, virtually to a man are

Transit Dispute Talks Delayed For One Day

Scheduled talks between the Colorado Springs Transit Co. and the Bus Drivers local were called off today because of the delay in the return of David W. Cowen, company executive vice president, from a vacation trip.

Spokesmen for the company said Mrs. Cowen became ill on a trip to Mexico delaying the return of the executive.

The talks, to avoid a possible bus strike here, were scheduled for 10 a.m. today.

Officials said the talks will be held Tuesday.

The local union has filed an intent to strike with the State Industrial Commission if the negotiations fail. Deadline on the intent is midnight Tuesday.

The union can strike anytime after the deadline passes with a full vote of the union members. Bus drivers are demanding an 18-cent hourly increase plus fringe benefits for the new two-year contract.

The old contract expired at midnight Sept. 30. The union is still operating under the terms of the expired contract.

Negro Leaders Plan Showdown In Birmingham

By United Press International

Negro leaders prepared today for a showdown with Birmingham, Ala., officials over demands that Negro police officers be hired and Louisiana authorities investigated the alleged beating of a Negro man who attempted to register as a voter.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was scheduled to return to Birmingham today or Tuesday and confer with leaders in the Negro community there about leading more huge racial demonstrations.

He has vowed to lead the demonstrations if 25 Negro policemen are not hired by Tuesday. Mayor Albert Boutwell and the Birmingham city council have refused to meet the demands.

James A. Payne told authorities in Louisiana this weekend that three white men beat him and threatened to kill him last week shortly after he returned from an unsuccessful attempt to register as a voter at the St. Francisville, La., registrar's office.

He said he had not reported the incident sooner because he was afraid.

Payne said he was hit in the

Vito Genovese Conviction to Be Reconsidered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today ordered reconsideration of the narcotics conviction of Vito Genovese, recently named as "boss of all bosses" of the Cosa Nostra underworld syndicate.

The brief order vacated the 1959 convictions of Genovese and nine co-defendants. The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals was directed to look at the cases again in light of a Supreme Court decision last term.

Genovese is now serving a 15-year sentence at Leavenworth.

Underworld informer Joseph Valachi has said that the 65-year-old crime figure is operating his criminal empire from prison through three lieutenants who dare not disobey him.

Hurricane Ginny Rakes Coast of North Carolina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Ginny raked the North Carolina coast with gale force winds today and whipped up heavy seas as it remained centered 100 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras.

The Weather Bureau reported that Ginny was expected to move east northeast about 5 m.p.h. during the next 12 hours with no drop in strength.

The storm spun 90 m.p.h. winds out for 60 miles around its center and reached out with gale force winds for 250 miles to the north and east and 170 miles to the south and west.

Waves of 25 to 30 feet were reported lashing the Diamond Shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras.

Two Climbers Fall to Death On Nepal Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two Italian climbers fell to their deaths Thursday on 23,750-foot Langatang Lirung peak in the Himalayas, according to reports reaching the Nepal government Sunday.

The victims wer Dr. Cesar Volante, 27, and Giorgio Rossi, 28, members of a ten-man Italian team tackling the unclimbed peak. They died in the area where three members of a Japanese expedition were killed in 1961.

Sky Diver Falls To Death as Wife Watches

Jack Wallace, Ypsilanti, Mich., who had made 75 jumps over four years, made his second jump of the day with Louis Peres, of Detroit, into winds of six-to-eight miles per hour.

Peres hit the airport target, but Wallace, apparently drifting near a busy road, attempted to clear the road and struck and short-circuited two wires.

Anti-Government Dominican Riot Is Broken Up

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — An anti-government rally turned into a free-swinging riot Sunday night as police used clubs and tear gas to break up the demonstration.

It was the most serious outbreak in the Dominican Republic since the government of President Juan Bosch was overthrown in a military coup Sept. 25.

Police arrested 32 demonstrators.

The melee started when police attacked Richard Espinal, a former diplomat, as he tried to speak against the ruling civilian junta, witnesses said.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The war against communism in South Viet Nam—with the security of a vastly strategic area at stake—can be lost. It can be won, too. Hopes were high not long ago.

If South Viet Nam goes, it will be lost in the presidential palace in Saigon, where a frightened regime seems to be playing Vietnamese roulette with the future of all Southeast Asia.

Perhaps the war never can be wholly won while South Viet Nam has a Communist neighbor in the north. But even in this sea of confusion and frustration, it is possible to hope that the back of the Viet Cong Communist effort can be broken and a reasonable amount of peace restored.

The Americans, whose government has sunk more than $2 billion and committed 16,000 men to the anti-Communist effort, virtually to a man are

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special) — The covert "air arm" of the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency is again flying high, wide, and out of the range of Soviet ground-to-air missiles — over Cuba.

Undisputed command of all U.S. air surveillance of Cuba and along the borders of the Soviet Union has been turned over to CIA Director John McCone by the White House.

No hint of this significant development has been given the public or Congress by officials of the Kennedy administration despite its jolting implications on U.S. security.

The vital Cuban surveillance mission, shared with the Air Force and Navy since last October's missile crisis, is now being exclusively carried out by the CIA's "second-rate air-force," as it is labeled by top Air Force generals.

This phantom CIA force, which is far from adequate to do the job, includes less than two dozen high-flying U-2 reconnaissance planes and about twelve "flying platforms," especially equipped long-range surveillance planes.

At present, CIA pilots are limited to less than a dozen high-level U-2 reconnaissance flights a month, with none passing directly over Cuba. Instead, the U-2s follow the Cuban coastline, staying over international waters and out of range of more than 600 SA-2 missiles that ring the island.

All low-level reconnaissance flights conducted over Cuba by Navy and Air Force pilots during the missile crisis were halted several months ago on direct orders from the White House, despite protests by the two services that the flights were necessary to check on Soviet missiles in Cuba.

HISTORY REPEATS

As before the Cuban missile crisis, all CIA air missions in the Caribbean area or near the Soviet Union must receive advance approval by President Kennedy. This air-tight control procedure was adopted to avoid CIA operations that might cause incidents between Castro and U.S. forces.

Despite vigorous denials by State and Defense Department officials, there have been periods as long as two weeks during which no reconnaissance flights were made in the vicinity of Cuba.

One of these self-imposed reconnaissance blackouts was put into effect during the nuclear test ban negotiations in Moscow. During a two-week period late in July and early August, all fights were stopped by White House orders.

Hurricane Flora, the storm that hammered Cuba for five days this month, also grounded CIA planes more than a week. While Navy planes flying off the carrier Lake Champlain virtually mapped all of Haiti to obtain a complete picture of the storm damage on that island, they were banned from taking pictures of Cuba's extensive storm damage.

A YEAR LATER

Just one year ago, on Sunday, October 21, 1962, while the nation went to church and watched professional football games, Navy and Air Force reconnaissance planes criss-crossed Cuba at tree-top level, photographing Soviet missile base construction and jet bombers.

On that fateful Sunday, the CIA circulated an Intelligence estimate that between 5,000 and 6,000 Soviet troops were on the island, despite warnings from Cuban refugees that there were "more than 20,000" — a warning that proved to be deadly ac-

Prime Minister Faces Urgent Repair Jobs

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home, Britain's new prime minister today faced an urgent repair job on the Conservative party's election machinery, disrupted by defections at the top.

Home's quickly constructed Cabinet—largely a reshuffle of Harold Macmillan's — won general approval from Conservative newspapers and derision from pro-Labor commentators.

Editorial writers of both sides suggested the government must be handicapped by the refusal of Iain MacLeod and Enoch Powell to serve under Home.

MacLeod, one of the younger Tory progressives who backed Richard A. Butler in last week's struggle for the leadership was expected to resign as joint chairman of the Conservative party.

Informed sources said his cochairman, financier Lord Poole, would resign with him. He had backed Science Minister Lord Hailsham to succeed Macmillan.

MacLeod and Poole were a formidable team in planning Conservative platform and finances for the national election next year. Their joint chairmanship probably will be turned into a one-man post and given to John Hare, 52, a former labor minister who took the sinecure post of chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the new Cabinet.

The independent Times said the speed with which the Cabinet was produced was a good token of the support for Lord Home but added "nevertheless the time left for him to establish himself is perilously short. Deep wounds and suspicions have been left behind."

Most political commentators believe MacLeod, by refusing office after winning an ovation at the recent Conservative party conference, staked an unspoken claim to the leadership if Home should falter.

Home's major innovation was to create a secretary for industry, trade and regional development and hand it to his former deputy foreign minister, Edward Heath, 47.

The new prime minister succeeded in getting his three major challengers for the party leadership to stick with him.

To replace MacLeod as floor leader in Commons, Home brought Selwayn Lloyd of limbo and made him lord privy seal, giving him a seat in the Cabinet. Lloyd, foreign secretary for five years under Anthony Eden and Macmillan, was fired as chancellor of the exchequer in July 1962 because his wage freeze policy had been unpopular.

Other cabinet changes were minor.

Home, 60-year-old Scottish aristocrat whose estates cover more than 80,000 acres, announced he would shed his title and run for Commons at a special election in the Scottish district of Kinross and West Perth next month.

Local Student Named DU Scholar

Miss Nancy C. Napoletan, 2023 N. Wahsatch Ave., daughter of Mrs. Eldrid Napoletan and Peter Napoletan, has been named a university scholar at the University of Denver, Chancellor Chester M. Alter has nounced.

Miss Napoletan is one of 56 members of the fourth specially-selected group of scholars to be chosen for the program at the University. The first class, known as the Centennial Scholars, began work in 1960 and will be graduated next spring. This academic year is the University's centennial.

Miss Napoletan, who is enrolled as a freshman, was selected on the basis of proven scholastic ability and participation in high school activities.

At the university, the scholars attend special lectures and seminars in addition to pursuing regular class work.

Graduating 18th in her high school class of 425 at W. J. Palmer High School, Miss Napoletan was a member of the National Honor Society and won advanced placement awards in English and history and honors recognition in English, Spanish and for her work on the school's yearbook.

Her interest at the present is in special education, working with the deaf or blind.

French Tragic Drama Shown On Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — The French way with tragic drama is being demonstrated on Broadway by Marie Bell and her Paris troupe.

Mme. Bell is an artiste in the grand tradition on the other side of the Atlantic and her arrival Sunday night at the Brooks Atkinson Theater in Racine's "Phedre" launches her initial visit here.

As an item in international cultural exchange, the production rates as a pretty special exhibit. Spectators adept in the Gallic tongue and those who can easily grasp the deliberate, stylized manner probably will have a rewarding time.

As the central figure in the classic fable of illicit passion, Mme. Bell is a matron most convincing when emoting with vocal calm. Alain Cuny is effective as Thesee, and Claude Giraud imbues Hippolyte—the object of stepmother ardor—with youthful vigor.

The company is here on limited engagement, and will vary the program with another Racine tragedy, "Berenice."

ZURICH — Nestle of Switzerland will invest in foreign food manufacturers.

Atomic Power Not Expected To Clear the Air

Whatever else peacetime atomic power may do to make life easier, it probably won't clear the air.

This is the opinion of forty-six top state air pollution experts queried by the Reader's Digest in connection with the publication of "How Polluted Is The Air Around Us?" by Wolfgang Langewiesche in the magazine's September issue.

Asked "Do you anticipate that the wide-spread use of atomic power may finally solve the air pllution problem?" all but two of the experts answered, "No."

Says William Monroe, chief of the New Jersey State Air Sanitation Program, "Atomic power could help by replacing smoky fuels, but it could not resolve the air pollution problem."

Says David B. Lee, director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering in the Florida State Board of Health, "We cannot foresee that the waste disposal problem can be solved by atomic power and this is the big obstacle."

And from Curtis P. McCammon, M.D., director of Industrial Hygiene Services for the Tennessee State Department of Public Health: "Wide-spread use of atomic power will merely substitute another contaminant to measure and monitor. It will do nothing to reduce particular loading from industrial processes which are not powered automatically."

Even the two "yes" answers are qualified. Both from state directors who prefer not to be quoted, they make the point that the atmosphere over atomically powered cities might look cleaner than ours does now and still be laden with dangerous atomic particles.

Asked what factors now prevent effective pollution control, all but six of the state directors put "public indifference" in first place. Placing second and third are "shortage of trained inspectors" and "industry recalcitrance." None of the directors thinks that local government resistance to effective control of industry, or violation of control statutes now on the books are significant factors.

Most of the directors, in fact, feel that industry is doing about as good a job as it can do. Asked, "Do you feel that communities are often justified in their feeling that a 'get tough' policy on air pollution may drive industry—and jobs—out of town?" thirty-eight of the state directors answered with an unqualified "No." Even the minority answering "yes" believe that the industries that cause trouble are the exception rather than the rule.

Says Victor N. Sussman, director of the Division of Air Pollution Control in Pennsylvania State Department of Health, "Some government air pollution control programs work a hardship on industry, but it has been my experience in this state that these programs are enforced in a reasonable manner and industry has cooperated.

Reader's Digest writer, Wolfgang Langewiesche, says, "The fact is that industry does not fight back very hard. Often a company is quite willing to be compelled, provided only that its competitors are forced to go to the same expense. In the last analysis, if industrial costs rise across the board, the bill is paid by the public. And the rewards are very great."

On this point the state directors agree solidly. All say that air pollution is presently a "serious health menace," altho four insist that it is not nearly so much so in their states as in others and one qualifies his "yes" answer with "probably," insisting that more research needs to be done.

Motorboat Hitches Ride With Freighter

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Fisherman Freeman A. Earl of East Cleveland hitched an unwanted ride in a 14-foot outboard motor boat alongside a fast-moving 350-foot foreign freighter in Lake Erie Sunday.

The big freighter towed Earl's small boat for a mile before he leaped into the water. He was rescued by other fishermen.

A crewman on the freighter cut Earl's boat free. It was recovered 1½ miles away.

The Coast Guard said the Norwegian ship Fernfjord plowed through an area a mile off Wildwood Park where about 75 small boats filled with fishermen were anchored.

Vatican Council Turns Attention to Breviary

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council turned its attention today to a little book called the breviary, which is with every priest constantly and demands his daily devotion.

The breviary or divine office now takes about 90 minutes to read each day. Soon it may be shortened and changed from Latin to vernacular languages.

Like the Mass and the Sacraments, the breviary is part of Roman Catholic liturgy undergoing modernization in a schema or topic on public worship.

A first group of 12 amendments to a schema chapter on the divine office has been prepared for the votes of the 2,300 council fathers this week in St. Peter's Basilica.

Some amendments deal with specific contents of the divine office and with the hours for reading it. Two would allow a bishop to grant exemption under special circumstances from the priestly duty of reciting the office.

One amendment—the 12th, due for voting by midweek — would allow bishops to grant permission for the breviary to be read in the local language.

After all amendments have cleared, the prelates will vote on the entire chapter as they did last week with chapters on the Mass and the Sacraments.

Those votes gave substantial commission must study hundreds of "approved but with reservation" votes however, and work out suggested alternations.

The changes contained in those chapters, once the entire liturgy schema is promulgated by Pope Paul VI and the full council would allow bishops to authorizes local languages in place of Latin and other changes to make the rituals mean more to communicants.

A liturgy expert on the commission said the same idea was being applied to the Breviary "especially in these times when a priest is so busy that he reads rapidly and with distraction."

Prime Minister Faces Urgent Repair Jobs

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home, Britain's new prime minister today faced an urgent repair job on the Conservative party's election machinery, disrupted by defections at the top.

Home's quickly constructed Cabinet—largely a reshuffle of Harold Macmillan's — won general approval from Conservative newspapers and derision from pro-Labor commentators.

Editorial writers of both sides suggested the government must be handicapped by the refusal of Iain MacLeod and Enoch Powell to serve under Home.

MacLeod, one of the younger Tory progressives who backed Richard A. Butler in last week's struggle for the leadership was expected to resign as joint chairman of the Conservative party.

Informed sources said his cochairman, financier Lord Poole, would resign with him. He had backed Science Minister Lord Hailsham to succeed Macmillan.

MacLeod and Poole were a formidable team in planning Conservative platform and finances for the national election next year. Their joint chairmanship probably will be turned into a one-man post and given to John Hare, 52, a former labor minister who took the sinecure post of chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the new Cabinet.

The independent Times said the speed with which the Cabinet was produced was a good token of the support for Lord Home but added "nevertheless the time left for him to establish himself is perilously short. Deep wounds and suspicions have been left behind."

Most political commentators believe MacLeod, by refusing office after winning an ovation at the recent Conservative party conference, staked an unspoken claim to the leadership if Home should falter.

Home's major innovation was to create a secretary for industry, trade and regional development and hand it to his former deputy foreign minister, Edward Heath, 47.

The new prime minister succeeded in getting his three major challengers for the party leadership to stick with him.

To replace MacLeod as floor leader in Commons, Home brought Selwayn Lloyd of limbo and made him lord privy seal, giving him a seat in the Cabinet. Lloyd, foreign secretary for five years under Anthony Eden and Macmillan, was fired as chancellor of the exchequer in July 1962 because his wage freeze policy had been unpopular.

Other cabinet changes were minor.

Home, 60-year-old Scottish aristocrat whose estates cover more than 80,000 acres, announced he would shed his title and run for Commons at a special election in the Scottish district of Kinross and West Perth next month.

Local Student Named DU Scholar

Miss Nancy C. Napoletan, 2023 N. Wahsatch Ave., daughter of Mrs. Eldrid Napoletan and Peter Napoletan, has been named a university scholar at the University of Denver, Chancellor Chester M. Alter has nounced.

Miss Napoletan is one of 56 members of the fourth specially-selected group of scholars to be chosen for the program at the University. The first class, known as the Centennial Scholars, began work in 1960 and will be graduated next spring. This academic year is the University's centennial.

Miss Napoletan, who is enrolled as a freshman, was selected on the basis of proven scholastic ability and participation in high school activities.

At the university, the scholars attend special lectures and seminars in addition to pursuing regular class work.

Graduating 18th in her high school class of 425 at W. J. Palmer High School, Miss Napoletan was a member of the National Honor Society and won advanced placement awards in English and history and honors recognition in English, Spanish and for her work on the school's yearbook.

Her interest at the present is in special education, working with the deaf or blind.

French Tragic Drama Shown On Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — The French way with tragic drama is being demonstrated on Broadway by Marie Bell and her Paris troupe.

Mme. Bell is an artiste in the grand tradition on the other side of the Atlantic and her arrival Sunday night at the Brooks Atkinson Theater in Racine's "Phedre" launches her initial visit here.

As an item in international cultural exchange, the production rates as a pretty special exhibit. Spectators adept in the Gallic tongue and those who can easily grasp the deliberate, stylized manner probably will have a rewarding time.

As the central figure in the classic fable of illicit passion, Mme. Bell is a matron most convincing when emoting with vocal calm. Alain Cuny is effective as Thesee, and Claude Giraud imbues Hippolyte—the object of stepmother ardor—with youthful vigor.

The company is here on limited engagement, and will vary the program with another Racine tragedy, "Berenice."

ZURICH — Nestle of Switzerland will invest in foreign food manufacturers.

Atomic Power Not Expected To Clear the Air

Whatever else peacetime atomic power may do to make life easier, it probably won't clear the air.

This is the opinion of forty-six top state air pollution experts queried by the Reader's Digest in connection with the publication of "How Polluted Is The Air Around Us?" by Wolfgang Langewiesche in the magazine's September issue.

Asked "Do you anticipate that the wide-spread use of atomic power may finally solve the air pllution problem?" all but two of the experts answered, "No."

Says William Monroe, chief of the New Jersey State Air Sanitation Program, "Atomic power could help by replacing smoky fuels, but it could not resolve the air pollution problem."

Says David B. Lee, director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering in the Florida State Board of Health, "We cannot foresee that the waste disposal problem can be solved by atomic power and this is the big obstacle."

And from Curtis P. McCammon, M.D., director of Industrial Hygiene Services for the Tennessee State Department of Public Health: "Wide-spread use of atomic power will merely substitute another contaminant to measure and monitor. It will do nothing to reduce particular loading from industrial processes which are not powered automatically."

Even the two "yes" answers are qualified. Both from state directors who prefer not to be quoted, they make the point that the atmosphere over atomically powered cities might look cleaner than ours does now and still be laden with dangerous atomic particles.

Asked what factors now prevent effective pollution control, all but six of the state directors put "public indifference" in first place. Placing second and third are "shortage of trained inspectors" and "industry recalcitrance." None of the directors thinks that local government resistance to effective control of industry, or violation of control statutes now on the books are significant factors.

Most of the directors, in fact, feel that industry is doing about as good a job as it can do. Asked, "Do you feel that communities are often justified in their feeling that a 'get tough' policy on air pollution may drive industry—and jobs—out of town?" thirty-eight of the state directors answered with an unqualified "No." Even the minority answering "yes" believe that the industries that cause trouble are the exception rather than the rule.

Says Victor N. Sussman, director of the Division of Air Pollution Control in Pennsylvania State Department of Health, "Some government air pollution control programs work a hardship on industry, but it has been my experience in this state that these programs are enforced in a reasonable manner and industry has cooperated.

Reader's Digest writer, Wolfgang Langewiesche, says, "The fact is that industry does not fight back very hard. Often a company is quite willing to be compelled, provided only that its competitors are forced to go to the same expense. In the last analysis, if industrial costs rise across the board, the bill is paid by the public. And the rewards are very great."

On this point the state directors agree solidly. All say that air pollution is presently a "serious health menace," altho four insist that it is not nearly so much so in their states as in others and one qualifies his "yes" answer with "probably," insisting that more research needs to be done.

Motorboat Hitches Ride With Freighter

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Fisherman Freeman A. Earl of East Cleveland hitched an unwanted ride in a 14-foot outboard motor boat alongside a fast-moving 350-foot foreign freighter in Lake Erie Sunday.

The big freighter towed Earl's small boat for a mile before he leaped into the water. He was rescued by other fishermen.

A crewman on the freighter cut Earl's boat free. It was recovered 1½ miles away.

The Coast Guard said the Norwegian ship Fernfjord plowed through an area a mile off Wildwood Park where about 75 small boats filled with fishermen were anchored.

Vatican Council Turns Attention to Breviary

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council turned its attention today to a little book called the breviary, which is with every priest constantly and demands his daily devotion.

The breviary or divine office now takes about 90 minutes to read each day. Soon it may be shortened and changed from Latin to vernacular languages.

Like the Mass and the Sacraments, the breviary is part of Roman Catholic liturgy undergoing modernization in a schema or topic on public worship.

A first group of 12 amendments to a schema chapter on the divine office has been prepared for the votes of the 2,300 council fathers this week in St. Peter's Basilica.

Some amendments deal with specific contents of the divine office and with the hours for reading it. Two would allow a bishop to grant exemption under special circumstances from the priestly duty of reciting the office.

One amendment—the 12th, due for voting by midweek — would allow bishops to grant permission for the breviary to be read in the local language.

After all amendments have cleared, the prelates will vote on the entire chapter as they did last week with chapters on the Mass and the Sacraments.

Those votes gave substantial commission must study bundreds of "approved but with reservation" votes however, and work out suggested alternations.

The changes contained in those chapters, once the entire liturgy schema is promulgated by Pope Paul VI and the full council would allow bishops to authorizes local languages in place of Latin and other changes to make the rituals mean more to communicants.

A liturgy expert on the commission said the same idea was being applied to the Breviary "especially in these times when a priest is so busy that he reads rapidly and with distraction."

Burma Nationalizes Cigarette Factories

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's military government has nationalized the country's seven cigarette manufacturing companies. It was the last segment of big business still in private hands.

A cigarette company official declined to estimate the value of the seven companies.

The government has already nationalized all banks, import and export trade, and other major industries.

New Korea President Plans Conciliation

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)— President-elect Chung Hee Park made another conciliatory move today toward his chief opponent in the presidential election, former President Yun Po-Sun.

Park ordered his Democratic Republican party to withdraw the libel charges they filed against Yun. The party filed suit after Yun in a campaign speech accused Park of being a former Communist.

LOST SCORE

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Sports historians are still trying to figure out what happened in the University of Kentucky's first football game back in 1881.

On the record, Kentucky, then known as Kentucky A & M, defeated Kentucky University, now known as Transylvania, by a score of 7¼ to 1.

Numerical scoring had not yet been introduced into football in 1881. The winner usually was the team that scored the most goals, then worth more than touchdowns or safeties.

Apparently, the two teams agreed on a private scoring system which has since been forgotten.

Later in the same season, the two schools compounded the mystery when Kentucky (Transylvania) beat A & M (Kentucky) by a score of 3¾ to 2¼.

Susi Byers was named "Miss Division Artillery" at festivities held at Ft. Carson Oct. 13. Cindy Farr was her attendant.

Thirteen other girls also participated. They included Angela Smith, Nancy Cruse, Jan Malone, Phyllis Bystrom, Lynn Russ, Nikki Moore, Betty Talbot, Cathy Torbit, Kathy Ward, Barbara Kaiser, Suzie O'Neill, Laura Nugent, and Sue Falk from Widefield.

The girls were taken to the Cheyenne Shadows Service Club, where they met their escorts for the day. The couples then had dinner at the Officer's Club after which they all paraded onto the football field. The cheerleaders from Fountain cheered for the game.

The girls will do routines during games half-times and will lead the pep club in various hand motions during the games. Their first performance will be at the half-time of the Homecoming game with Leadville Wednesday.

Two bus loads of band members traveled to Boulder Oct. 12 for the annual Band Day. One hundred bands, totaling over 6,000 members, participated in a parade thru downtown Boulder.

FHS welcomed two new students Wednesday. They are Donna Young, junior, and Karen Young, senior.

The band, under the direction of Francis DeMarco, performed during half-time of the Fountain-Florence game Oct. 11. Among the various formations was a moving spiral and an "F" formation for both Fountain and Florence.

Reginald Rose's "Twelve Angry Jurors", under the direction of Jerome Stratton, will be presented Nov. 23. The play by Sherman L. Sergel was originally written for an all male cast. Adapted, it has been presented by an all female cast and, as in this case, will be presented by a mixed group.

Homecoming queen candidates chosen by the football squad are as follows: Sophomores, Barbara Kaiser, Becky Winters; juniors, Nancy Cruse, Lynn Russ; seniors, Kathy Ward, Jan Malone.

A Homecoming Sock Hop will be held immediately following the game Wednesday. After football season is over, a formal Homecoming Dance will be held.

The Homecoming bonfire will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Sophomores are sponsoring the bonfire.

School will not be in session Thursday and Friday. It will resume Monday, Oct. 28.

High-Powered Tax Cut Drive Being Planned

By JOSEPH D HUTNYAN
United Press International

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI) — The administration set in motion today a high-powered drive to convince the business community that it should use its influence and prestige to help pass President Kennedy's $11 billion tax cut bill as soon as possible.

The drums were beaten for tax reduction at an unusual gathering of the elite of the corporate community convening at this fashionable resort for a two-day meeting of the business council.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told the top brass of business that the tax cut could have a profound effect on the nation's economic future.

"The decision on the tax bill will determine whether, in the years ahead, our economy will be surging upward or limping along, or dipping downward," he said in a prepared speech.

He was picking up the same theme that earlier had been sounded by Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., and Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

The administration had argued that passage of the tax cut will stimulate the economy to a record-breaking growth rate that will help ward off future recessions.

Decision on Tax Proposals Is Being Put Off

DENVER (UPI)— A subcommittee of the Governor's Local Affairs Commission studying state rvenue problems has put off a decision on tax proposals until Nov. 1.

The group defeated a motion to table specifically any consideration of a plan to increase the state sales tax. Herrick Roth, president of the Colorado Labor Council, AFL-CIO, and a member of the subcommittee, made the motion.

When the subcommittee meets again Nov. 1, it will consider the sales tax proposal and a gross income tax program proposed by Rep. Robert Schafer, R-Boyero.

Schafer proposed a 1½ per cent gross income tax for schools which he said would net $77 million a year. He said it differs from Colorado's present net income tax by allowing no deduction for business expense or cost of goods sold. It would allow a flat $1,000 exemption on personal income.

Grout answered charges of laxity on the part of parole officers in a speech to the American Legion here. Dist. Judge Robert Fullerton of Denver has attacked the department and it has been reported that Gov. John Love, at Fullerton's urging, plans an investigation.

"Nationally, they love us," Grout said, explaining that Colorado ranks fifth in the country in the number of persons successfully paroled.

Carnegie Man Says Bureaucrat College Danger

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corp., told governing board members of colleges and universities here that they must work together to preserve the future of universities.

Gardner, addressing the closing session of the 41st annual meeting of the Association of Governing Boards, told the regents they must face the problem of their institution's relationship to the federal government.

"It is absolutely essential that the universities work together to preserve their command of their own future," Gardner said. "It is essential that they maintain the initiative in determining the paths of their own development. If they do not, their future will be shaped by its decision of middle level officials in Washington. ."

At an afternoon session, on the Pennsylvania State University campus, the AGB announced it will move its executive offices to Washington, D.C. during 1964 from its present headquarters in Denver.

The group named Roy Rowe of Burgaw, N.C., trustee of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, president of the AGB.

TENNIS ANYONE?

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Seven years after Shirley Fry gained No. 1 ranking in women's tennis, her home city is naming tennis courts for her.

When Akron wanted to name its Mason Park courts in her honor in 1956, she wrote City Council president Ralph Turner: "I would not like to see my name placed on a nicely painted fence that encloses nothing but weeds."

Akron is using some of its tax money to build the "proper public tennis court facilities" at Mason Park.

Noting this, the now - retired Shirley — who lives in Connecticut with her husband and four children — agreed to have the courts named for her.

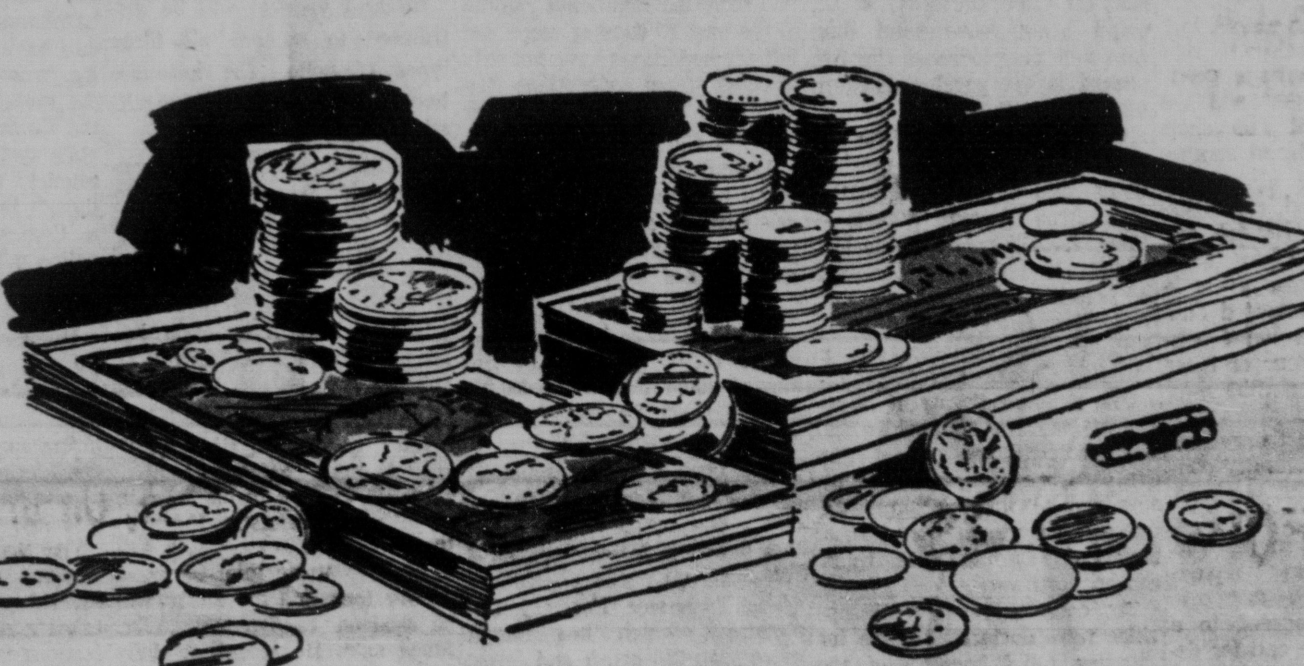
TODAY THE BEST ADDITIVES MAKE THE BEST GASOLINES



TO THE MAN WHO IS SPENDING $13,300 FOR GASOLINE:

That's probably you. Yes, you could easily spend up to $13,300—or more—for gasoline in your lifetime. That's more than most people pay for their houses, or ever manage to save.

Doesn't that make your choice of gasoline brands an important investment? Worth some careful thought? It should, because engineers know that gasolines can vary widely in performance characteristics.

"What?" you may say. "Aren't most major brand gasolines alike? Don't many of them come from the same pipeline?"

The answer is: They are alike only up to a point. It is true that many major oil companies that make gasolines of similar high specifications may use the same pipelines. (This cuts the cost of shipping gasolines over hundreds of miles—and saves you money.) But this doesn't mean there aren't differences—important differences—in gasolines!

The BIG difference today is "additives" — special formulations added by various major oil companies AFTER the gasoline comes out of the pipeline, and before it goes to service stations. Today, the best additives make the best gasolines.

Skelly's additive is Keotane®. It was developed by Skelly Research to attack, head-on, one of the major causes of engine trouble: the build-up of excess carbon. Carbon steals gas. It robs your engine of pep and power. Keotane was developed to help prevent carbon build-up as you drive. Only Skelly has it. In fact, Keotane is so different that Skelly has been granted U. S. Patent No. 2,878,109 covering its use.

Will it pay YOU to switch to Keotane? Why not find out? Try 3 tankfuls of Skelly Keotane Gasoline. Then judge for yourself. Skelly Keotane Gasoline costs no more than other major premium brands without Keotane. If you do get better performance, you'll have found a new friend. And so will Skelly!

Only Skelly has Keotane.
...so different its use is patented* by Skelly
*U. S. Patent No. 2,878,109

SKELLY

Again Skelly says: "You Start or We Pay." Yes, Skelly pays up to $2 on each service call to get your engine started this winter when you have your Skelly Dealer winterize your car these 5 ways: 1. Fill your tank with fast-starting Skelly Keotane or Skelly Regular Gasoline. 2. Drain and refill your crankcase with Skelly Supreme or Skelly Tagolene HD Motor Oil for winter. 3. Test anti-freeze and protect for low temperature in area. 4. Test your battery for reliable winter starting power. 5. Check your transmission and differential. Then if your engine fails to start anytime up to April 1, 1964, Skelly will pay you up to $2 on each service call to get your engine started (see directions on Bonded Starting Certificate) and send you a new certificate, too! Fountain-Carson High News

By DIANE KRAUS

Susi Byers was named "Miss Division Artillery" at festivities held at Ft. Carson Oct. 13. Cindy Farr was her attendant.

Thirteen other girls also participated. They included Angela Smith, Nancy Cruse, Jan Malone, Phyllis Bystrom, Lynn Russ, Nikki Moore, Betty Talbot, Cathy Torbit, Kathy Ward, Barbara Kaiser, Suzie O'Neill, Laura Nugent, and Sue Falk from Widefield.

The girls were taken to the Cheyenne Shadows Service Club, where they met their escorts for the day. The couples then had dinner at the Officer's Club after which they all paraded onto the football field. The cheerleaders from Fountain cheered for the game.

The girls will do routines during games half-times and will lead the pep club in various hand motions during the games. Their first performance will be at the half-time of the Homecoming game with Leadville Wednesday.

Two bus loads of band members traveled to Boulder Oct. 12 for the annual Band Day. One hundred bands, totaling over 6,000 members, participated in a parade thru downtown Boulder.

FHS welcomed two new students Wednesday. They are Donna Young, junior, and Karen Young, senior.

The band, under the direction of Francis DeMarco, performed during half-time of the Fountain-Florence game Oct. 11. Among the various formations was a moving spiral and an "F" formation for both Fountain and Florence.

Reginald Rose's "Twelve Angry Jurors", under the direction of Jerome Stratton, will be presented Nov. 23. The play by Sherman L. Sergel was originally written for an all male cast. Adapted, it has been presented by an all female cast and, as in this case, will be presented by a mixed group.

Homecoming queen candidates chosen by the football squad are as follows: Sophomores, Barbara Kaiser, Becky Winters; juniors, Nancy Cruse, Lynn Russ; seniors, Kathy Ward, Jan Malone.

A Homecoming Sock Hop will be held immediately following the game Wednesday. After football season is over, a formal Homecoming Dance will be held.

The Homecoming bonfire will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Sophomores are sponsoring the bonfire.

School will not be in session Thursday and Friday. It will resume Monday, Oct. 28.

High-Powered Tax Cut Drive Being Planned

By JOSEPH D HUTNYAN
United Press International

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI) — The administration set in motion today a high-powered drive to convince the business community that it should use its influence and prestige to help pass President Kennedy's $11 billion tax cut bill as soon as possible.

The drums were beaten for tax reduction at an unusual gathering of the elite of the corporate community convening at this fashionable resort for a two-day meeting of the business council.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told the top brass of business that the tax cut could have a profound effect on the nation's economic future.

"The decision on the tax bill will determine whether, in the years ahead, our economy will be surging upward or limping along, or dipping downward," he said in a prepared speech.

He was picking up the same theme that earlier had been sounded by Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., and Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

The administration had argued that passage of the tax cut will stimulate the economy to a record-breaking growth rate that will help ward off future recessions.

Decision on Tax Proposals Is Being Put Off

DENVER (UPI)— A subcommittee of the Governor's Local Affairs Commission studying state rvenue problems has put off a decision on tax proposals until Nov. 1.

The group defeated a motion to table specifically any consideration of a plan to increase the state sales tax. Herrick Roth, president of the Colorado Labor Council, AFL-CIO, and a member of the subcommittee, made the motion.

When the subcommittee meets again Nov. 1, it will consider the sales tax proposal and a gross income tax program proposed by Rep. Robert Schafer, R-Boyero.

Schafer proposed a 1½ per cent gross income tax for schools which he said would net $77 million a year. He said it differs from Colorado's present net income tax by allowing no deduction for business expense or cost of goods sold. It would allow a flat $1,000 exemption on personal income.

Parole Chief Says State's Record Good

DENVER (UPI)— Colorado Director of Parole Edward Grout said here that people who criticize his department "don't know the situation."

Grout answered charges of laxity on the part of parole officers in a speech to the American Legion here. Dist. Judge Robert Fullerton of Denver has attacked the department and it has been reported that Gov. John Love, at Fullerton's urging, plans an investigation.

"Nationally, they love us," Grout said, explaining that Colorado ranks fifth in the country in the number of persons successfully paroled.

Carnegie Man Says Bureaucrat College Danger

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corp., told governing board members of colleges and universities here that they must work together to preserve the future of universities.

Gardner, addressing the closing session of the 41st annual meeting of the Association of Governing Boards, told the regents they must face the problem of their institution's relationship to the federal government.

"It is absolutely essential that the universities work together to preserve their command of their own future," Gardner said. "It is essential that they maintain the initiative in determining the paths of their own development. If they do not, their future will be shaped by its decision of middle level officials in Washington. ."

At an afternoon session, on the Pennsylvania State University campus, the AGB announced it will move its executive offices to Washington, D.C. during 1964 from its present headquarters in Denver.

The group named Roy Rowe of Burgaw, N.C., trustee of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, president of the AGB.

TENNIS ANYONE?

When Akron wanted to name its Mason Park courts in her honor in 1956, she wrote City Council president Ralph Turner: "I would not like to see my name placed on a nicely painted fence that encloses nothing but weeds."

Akron is using some of its tax money to build the "proper public tennis court facilities" at Mason Park.

Noting this, the now - retired Shirley — who lives in Connecticut with her husband and four children — agreed to have the courts named for her.

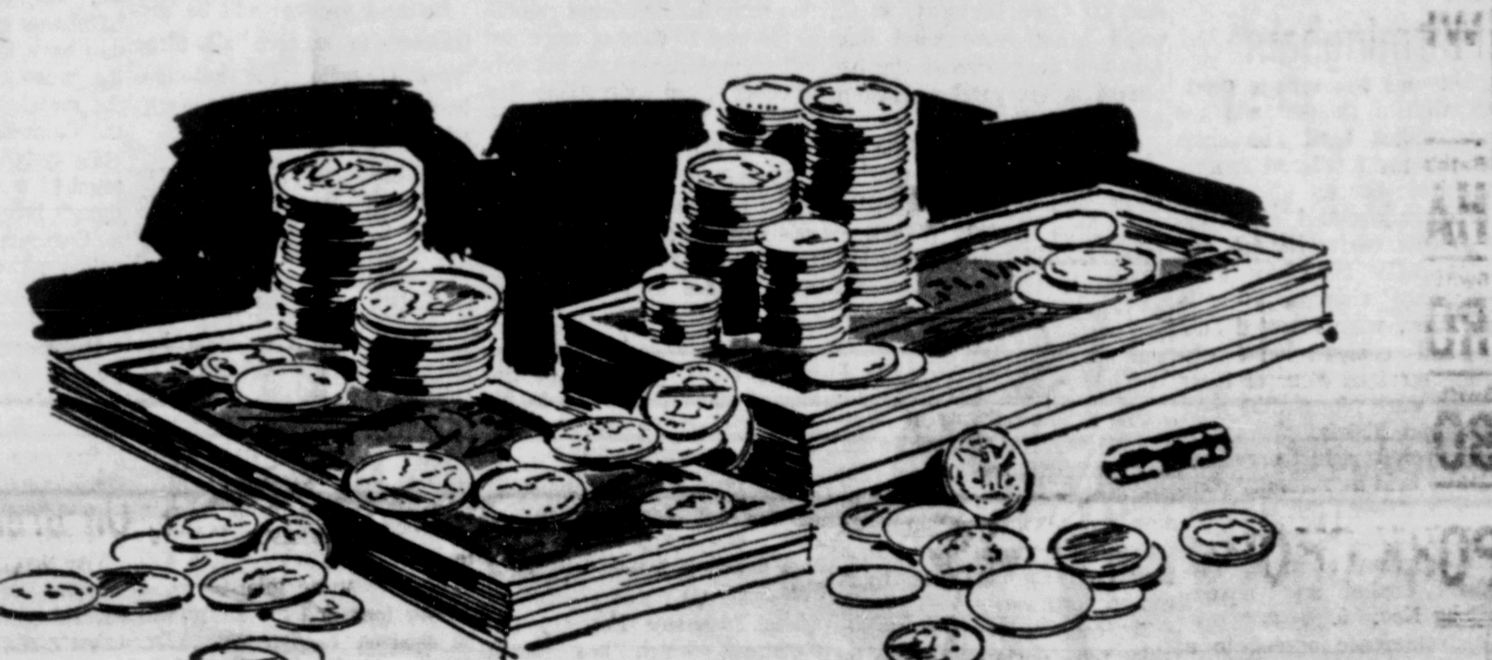
TODAY THE BEST ADDITIVES MAKE THE BEST GASOLINES



TO THE MAN WHO IS SPENDING $13,300 FOR GASOLINE:

That's probably you. Yes, you could easily spend up to $13,300—or more—for gasoline in your lifetime. That's more than most people pay for their houses, or ever manage to save.

Doesn't that make your choice of gasoline brands an important investment? Worth some careful thought? It should, because engineers know that gasolines can vary widely in performance characteristics.

"What?" you may say. "Aren't most major brand gasolines alike? Don't many of them come from the same pipeline?"

The answer is: They are alike only up to a point. It is true that many major oil companies that make gasolines of similar high specifications may use the same pipelines. (This cuts the cost of shipping gasolines over hundreds of miles—and saves you money.) But this doesn't mean there aren't differences—important differences—in gasolines!

The BIG difference today is "additives" — special formulations added by various major oil companies AFTER the gasoline comes out of the pipeline, and before it goes to service stations. Today, the best additives make the best gasolines.

Skelly's additive is Keotane®. It was developed by Skelly Research to attack, head-on, one of the major causes of engine trouble: the build-up of excess carbon. Carbon steals gas. It robs your engine of pep and power. Keotane was developed to help prevent carbon build-up as you drive. Only Skelly has it. In fact, Keotane is so different that Skelly has been granted U. S. Patent No. 2,878,109 covering its use.

Will it pay YOU to switch to Keotane? Why not find out? Try 3 tankfuls of Skelly Keotane Gasoline. Then judge for yourself. Skelly Keotane Gasoline costs no more than other major premium brands without Keotane. If you do get better performance, you'll have found a new friend. And so will Skelly!

Only Skelly has Keotane.
...so different its use is patented* by Skelly

SKELLY

Again Skelly says: "You Start or We Pay." Yes, Skelly pays up to $2 on each service call to get your engine started this winter when you have your Skelly Dealer winterize your car these 5 ways: 1. Fill your tank with fast-starting Skelly Keotane or Skelly Regular Gasoline. 2. Drain and refill your crankcase with Skelly Supreme or Skelly Tagolene HD Motor Oil for winter. 3. Test anti-freeze and protect for low temperature in area. 4. Test your battery for reliable winter starting power. 5. Check your transmission and differential. Then if your engine fails to start anytime up to April 1, 1964, Skelly will pay you up to $2 on each service call to get your engine started (see directions on Bonded Starting Certificate) and send you a new certificate, too! See your Skelly Dealer—protect yourself now!

Neither nation — each with about the same population of 11 to 12 million— has enough men to wage a full-scale war along the 700-mile frontier.

Moroccan strategists believe the 35,000-man royal army bolstered by 20,000 auxiliaries is the stronger force in the desert on the southern front. They do not hide their concern over apparent Algerian superiority on the northern part of the frontier.

Algeria has a 60,000-man army equipped with Soviet and Chinese heavy weapons. The Moroccans have a superior air force of 13 Soviet MIGs and as many or more French jets plus propeller planes.

Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella requested a meeting of African foreign ministers to condemn Morocco for aggression.

Ben Bella also told Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba his offer to mediate at the foreign minister level is not acceptable as long as Moroccan troops remain in Algerian territory. Ben Bella also conferred with Ghana Foreign Minister Kojo Botio on his country's offer to mediate. The Arab League named a five-nation committee to visit Algeria and Morocco and try to mediate.

Negro Leaders Plan Showdown In Birmingham

face with a shotgun and the three whites fired two shots "betwixt my feet" and another toward his house.

In other weekend racial developments, twelve Negroes and whites who tried to enter "white-only" churches in Jackson, Miss., were arrested Sunday and charged with disrupting services. Four of those arrested were young white ministers from Illinois.

Negro civil rights organizations also held a "summit" conference in Atlanta this weekend in which they agreed on a broad program to make the Southern capital an "open city" by Nov. 5.

The conference agreed to a slate of goals which call for desegregation of all hotels, restaurants and other public accommodations.

Other developments:

Selma, Ala.: Negro leaders renewed their sagging drive to register Negro voters. Integration leader Fred L. Shuttlesworth is to arrive here Tuesday to bolster the drive.

Hartford, Conn.: Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a speech here Sunday that a Senate filibuster on civil rights would not have popular support.

'Worst Defeat' Reported by South Viet Nam

About 900 Vietnamese troops fought against a force of no more than 400 to 500 guerrillas, U.S. advisers said.

"They (the guerrillas) were a well-trained, well-organized unit," said an American officer. "They had plenty of automatic weapons and ammunition."

Four American crewmen were injured when a helicopter was hit by Communist fire and flipped over in the mud. Another helicopter lost rotor control but made a crash landing at an airfield 25 miles away after the American pilot was struck in the back by a Communist bullet.

Viet Cong machine gunners also wounded the American navigator of a B26, struck two fighter planes and damaged several other helicopters.

By nightfall, the battle was over and the Communists had slipped away.

"We will destroy all the fortifications and sampans we find, then we will have to move out," an American adviser said.

REPORTS PLANE CRASH

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — Authorities said today 24 persons were killed in the crash of a Soviet military transport plane at Aswan airport last week.

At the time, it was reported 25 had died in the crash. Authorities said an investigation showed engine trouble caused the crash.

HONORED — Frank Colley (l), wildlife conservation officer, was honored at a dinner meeting here recently after completing 25 years of service with the State Game and Fish Department. Approximately 30 persons including fellow employes, their wives, and friends gathered at the Dawn Restaurant to present gifts and reminisce about the "good old days." Mrs. Colley decorated Frank with a 25 year service pin covering a period of service that began at Steamboat Springs, Colley's home town. Colley has served the Colorado Springs area 17 years. Affectionately recognized by his co-workers for his prowess in handling beaver matters, Colley failed to make it thru the evening without being caught in one of his own gold-plated traps. Carl Welsh (r), regional game and fish manager, gleefully tugged on the trap chain and opined that Colley was trapped for at least another 10 years.

Continuing Drought Spells Loss of Millions to U.S.

night. The hurricane, named Ginny, was accompanied by winds up to 85 m.p.h. a Weather Bureau forecaster said the storm, about 90 miles southeast off Cape Hatteras, N. C., could bring more wind than rain and thus increase the fire hazard in the parched Eastern forests.

On the bright side of the dismal weather picture, the nation's major winter vegetable and citrus growing regions — Florida, California and the lower Rio Grande Valley — reported favorable growing conditions. Irrigation from wells provides sufficient moisture for crops in the Rio Grande and Florida.

The arid conditions in southern Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont remained critical. The fire danger was accelerated by high winds which accompanied the Atlantic storm that lashed the North Carolina coast and moved northward.

Six counties in New Hampshire were declared eligible for disaster relief because of the drought. The state's grazing pastures were burned and barren. State parks and the White Mountain National Forest were closed.

No major fires were reported in New Hampshire, but there were numerous small blazes over the state. William Messeck, director of the Division of Resources Development, said the state was "on the brink of a major fire." Many towns were using emergency water supplies.

Vermont's Gov. Philip H. Hoff who closed the state's woods Oct. 10, repeated his warnings against persons entering wooded lands, except in cases of emergency. Livestock in Vermont was eating forage stored for winter use. There was an acute shortage of grain. A shortage of water prompted Gov. Hoff to have two counties declared federal disaster areas.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., called for federal assurances that grain can be transported into the state to meet shortages.

Thousands of acres of forest and fields have burned in upstate New York in the searing days since Oct. 1 and the Weather Bureau in Albany reported that the last 21 months, since Jan. 1, 1962, was the driest such period in the records of the bureau.

All woodlands and fields in New York State were closed to the public. Hunting, fishing and outdoor fires were banned.

The New York Conservation Department appealed to high school boys to turn out to help weary fire-fighters battle fires which created widespread fog over the upstate area. A rash of new fires raged Sunday and thickened the smothering smog blanket.

The New York health department warned that the widespread smog, especially in the Hudson Valley, could cause trouble for persons suffering from respiratory and heart ailments.

Pennsylvania was especially hard hit by the continued parching. The Weather bureau said no immediate relief was in sight for the drought-weary state. Fires continued to break out—34 of them Saturday—across the state's timberlands.

More than half of Pennsylvania's 67 counties were declared disaster areas and were applying for disaster area status.

Hunters, farmers and others using the outdoors in Mississippi were warned not to set any kind of spark. The Weather Bureau's agricultural branch at Stoneville, Miss., said there has been "no recorded significant rainfall in the past 30 days or more and the dry conditions have not only affected farm operations but also have increased the danger of grass and brush fires."

Agriculture sources in Alabama said the state "was in a crisis and in a hazardous condition." In some areas farmers were unable to plow the dry earth.

Rainless timberlands in Louisiana faced the greatest fire hazard since 1952 when 400,000 acres burned. Tennessee passed its 22nd day without rain.

Pine needles in the southern pinelands of Louisiana turned brown and hung in the treetops creating acute danger of fires.

The Tennessee Forestry Department, which has fought more than 250 brush and forest fires since Oct. 1, reported that the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was "tinder dry."

At Norvin Green State Forest in northern New Jersey, a 2,900-acre fire was "nearly under dontrol," but at East River Mountain, near Bluefield, Va., 100 men fought a fire which had burned more than 700 acres since Thursday.

CU to Hold New Series Of Seminars

Acting Dean William J. Stanton of the University of Colorado School of Business today announced a new series of business management seminars to be held in Colorado cities during 1963-64.

Stanton said his faculty will carry the seminars to Pueblo on Nov. 12-13, Colorado Springs, Nov. 14-15, and to four other regional centers to be arranged during the year.

Similar seminars were held in Lamar and Glenwood Springs last spring and were very successful, Stanton said.

Stanton said the two-day "Gear Up for Growth" meetings are designed to bring to the business community "a continuing opportunity to explore with business school faculty, the changing patterns of business growth."

They will be sponsored by the CU business school and Extension Division in cooperation with local chambers of commerce.

The seminars seek to help owner-managers increase the effectiveness of their business operations by broadening and updating available information in such areas as marketing, finance, management and accounting.

Participants also will analyze growth factors and changes in their local business scene.

Mass Polio Innoculation Plan Announced

said today at a press conference held at Penrose Hospital.

He said vaccine will be distributed to combat all three types of polio. The innoculations will be given on three "K. O. Polio Sundays."

Dr. Stone said a nominal contribution of 25 cents will be asked for each innoculation but is not necessary. He said the vaccine will be distributed free of charge if necessary.

The Medical Association has set up distribution centers in all schools. He said there will be a total of 51 of these centers. A physician will be on hand for each of the innoculations.

Dr. Stone said that Type 1 of the vaccine will be distributed on Nov. 17; Type 2, Jan. 5, and Type 3, Feb. 16.

Four tons of cube sugar will be used on each Sunday, Dr. Stone said. He said that Holly Sugar Corp. has donated the sugar to be used in the mass innoculations.

"All three types of vaccine are required to combat the types of polio," Dr. Stone said. "We recommend that each person take all three types to be safe from this disease.

Dr. Stone said that the Association is hoping to make the "K. O. Polio Sundays" a family affair and urged that all members of each family takes the vaccine.

He said that all individuals from the age of three months on should take the vaccine even tho they may have already been innoculated with the Salk vaccine.

Dr. Stone explained that the Sabine vaccine, which contains a live virus, gives immunity in the mucous membrane of the intestinal tract thereby eliminating the possibility of a person becoming a carrier of the disease.

He pointed out that even diabetics may take the vaccine in sugar form. Dr. Stone said physician members of the association said the one cube would not be harmful to a diabetic.

However, the vaccine will also be distributed in water and in direct portions during the three sessions.

Dr. Stone strongly recommended that persons who have had polio also take the vaccine since they may still be susceptible to the other types of the disease.

A host of volunteers will join in the innoculation program Dr. Stone said. He said the Medical Association here and the El Paso County Chapter of the National Foundation are sponsoring the program.

Dr. Stone said that the mass innoculations are the best way to eliminate Polio from the world. He said that the Association urges all residents to take advantage of the program.

PARACHUTE MEDICINE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., suggests the United States parachute medicine and food to areas in Cuba devasted by Hurricane Flora.

"It would dramatically show U.S. concern for the people of Cuba as well as pointing up Castro's inability to care for the citizens' of Cuba," he said Sunday.

unanimous in their dedication to their task and to the hope that it can be accomplished. They are divided on how to do it.

The educated element of the Vietnamese is stirring painfully. Jails in Saigon are full to the bursting point with political prisoners. Police brutalities, the beating of students and the police state spying, interrogation and repression can have a chain reaction which can severely damage the effort to crush the Viet Cong.

Young men ask whether their government is any better than the Communist one in North Viet Nam.

Most Americans believe this war could be won if President Ngo Dinh Diem alone headed the South Viet Nam government. But the man called "President No. Two"—who may have more power than the president himself and who exercises enormous influence on him—is the big problem. Many Americans believe this war cannot be won while Ngo Dinh Nhu, the president's brother who holds the modest title of "counsellor," is around.

The main issue is not whether South Viet Nam has an authoritarian government or a dictatorship or whatever Westerners choose to call it. Such labels do not apply in Southeast Asia. The country can hardly absorb anything remotely approaching parliamentary democracy for a long time. And there is a war going on.

The main issue is not the Buddhist clash with the government, nor is it a matter of a religious conflict. Buddhists and Roman Catholics have lived together in peace for years.

The issue in Saigon — where the war can be lost—is the harshness of the regime, which can have formidable impact on the prosecution of the war and the morale of the army fighting the Communists. It is a police state system resembling a Communist one in some ways, though lacking the efficiency of a Communist apparatus. The police network is dominated by Nhu, a man who has a lively contempt of the United States.

President Diem and his family are Roman Catholics. But the evidence seems to be that their attitude toward the Buddhists sprang not from religious considerations as much as from a suspicion of anything that smacked of organization.

The Buddhists have been developing a reorganization for several years. The Ngo family takes a dim view of all organizations they do not totally control. They get along well with the tame Buddhists—those who do not protest.

The president, advised by Nhu and Nhu's pretty and powerful wife, is becoming more and more isolated from his people. He has tightened and stepped up the machinery of the police state and thus has created even more opposition.

Not too long ago, many involved in the war effort—both Vietnamese and American—held rising hopes for the outcome. But as the political situation deteriorates in Saigon, the hope becomes less bright. And while Nhu is around and powerful, the hope may become dimmer.

The key is the confidence of the people. The Diem regime is not winning that.

The police state is tight. But one assassination or even attempted assassination in the palace, one attempt at ousting the ruling family, could well touch off a bloodbath in the capital. That could lead to both military and political chaos in which the Viet Cong Communists could prosper.

There is still much hope among Americans that the situation can be righted and that the country can turn its main attention to prosecuting the war.

But there is dread that the president's family will snatch defeat from the jaws of victory.

Dr. Court Speaks At Faith Festival Service Tonight

Dr. Frank Court, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Denver, is the speaker for the Festival of Faith service at First Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

This Festival of Faith service is sponsored by the Committee on Evangelism of the Pikes Peak Council of Churches.

In addition to Dr. Court's pastorate in Denver, and Lincoln, Neb., he is a lecturer for the General Motors Corporation entrusted with the responsibility of frequently addressing top echelon sales management and production personnel. Recently, in cooperation with a national organization interested in supporting the work of Dr. Albert Sweitzer, he visited with this outstanding Christian in Lambarene, Equatorial Africa.

The choir of First Baptist Church will sing. Dr. M. Loyd Owens is the director of the choir and Mrs. Ralph Hiscutt, organist.

Members of the Committee on Evangelism assisting in the service will be Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg, Chaplain Kenneth G. Irwin, Rev. Paul Gamber, Rev. R. C. Jacobson, Rev. Ward B. Hurlburt, and Rev. Samuel O. Morreale.

The public is invited to attend this service.

Knob Hill District Mill Levy Reduced

Residents within the Knob Hill Sanitation District will have their district mill levy reduced in 1964, the district board of directors said today.

The levy will be reduced from 4.65 mills to 4 mills.

It marked the second consecutive year that the district has reduced the levy.

At the same time, directors approved the 1964 budget which totals $22,931, also a reduction from the 1963 budget.

Spokesmen said that the reductions were brought about by "close operation" of the district and a careful handling of the budget money.

Forensic Contest Set for Coming Weekend

The Rocky Mountain Forensic League Tournament will be held Friday and Saturday in the East Ballroom of the University of Colorado Memorial Center. Nine universities in the mountain west will be represented.

The program opens at 9 a.m. Friday with a free, public symposium by Assoc. Prof. Richard Wilson of the CU Department of Political Science, Prof. Homer Rainey of the College of Education and Prof. Paul Jedamus of the School of Business.

The tournament will include two rounds of oratory and extemporaneous speaking, four rounds of novice debate and five rounds of senior debate. The tournament will end at 1 p.m. Saturday with tabulation of scores.

The program is being administered by the CU Department of Speech and Drama. Miss Lois Bursack is in charge of arrangements.

Expected to compete are students from CU, Colorado State University, Colorado State College, Utah State University, Brigham Young University, Montana State University and the Universities of Denver, Wyoming and Utah.

Heintges Will Represent Carson At Meeting

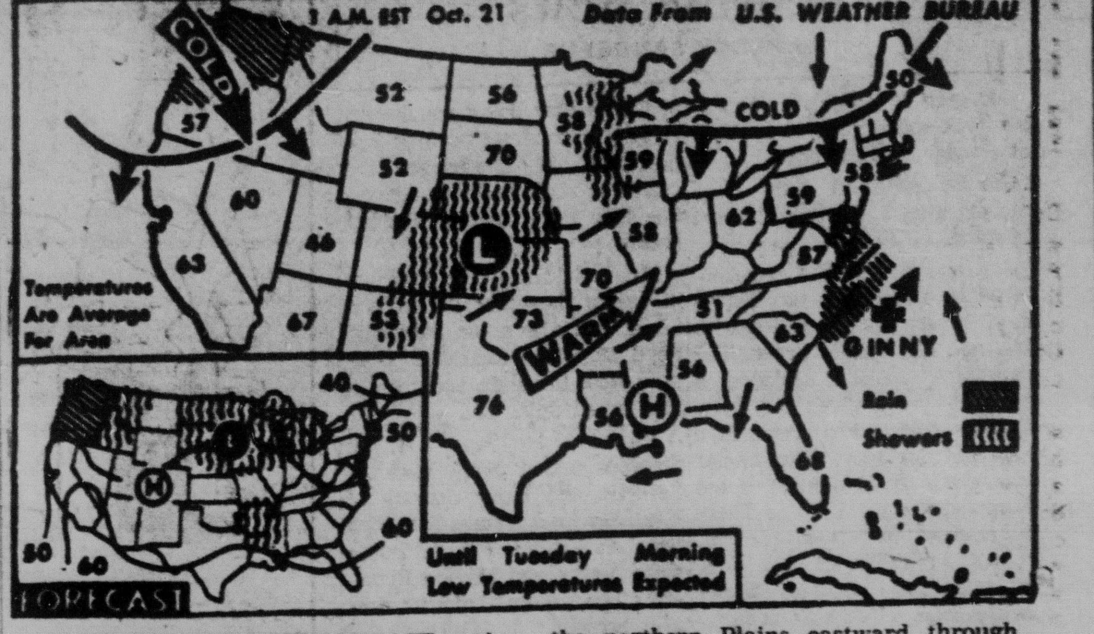
Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, Ft. Carson and 5th Infantry Division commander, and Col. H. V. Middleworth, his chief of staff, will represent Ft. Carson at the annual meeting of the Association of the U. S. Army in Washington Oct. 21 to 23.

Modern Army on the Move is the theme for the meeting which will feature Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as ranking speaker at the General George Catlett Marshall dinner.

Keynote address will be given at the opening session by General Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff.

Tuesday's meeting will include a panel discussion on Army Air Mobility. Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance will speak at the annual luncheon.

Seventy exhibits by industry and the Army will show the latest trends and developments in military equipment and operations in the Sheraton Park Hotel.



WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — A hurricane off the east coast brings a threat of high winds and rain to the Atlantic coast states Monday night. There will be rain in the northwest section of the country and showers from the northern Plains eastward through the Lakes area as well as in Arkansas. It will be cooler in the northwest and in the central Plains; warmer in the southern Plateau and in the central Atlantic coast states.

U.S. Renews Air Surveillance of Cuba

curate.

Once again there is alarming evidence that the CIA is underestimating Soviet troop strength in Cuba. Its latest estimate hails Russia's removal of her combat units — some 5,000 troops.

This CIA report is flatly challenged by the same Cuban refugees. These reliable sources have turned over information to the CIA warning that Soviet combat units are still on the island with their modern equipment stored in caves.

While just a year ago the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., was on alert for a parachute leap over Cuba, this week in Cuba nearly 10,000 Chinese paratroopers are training in secret for action in the Caribbean or Latin America.

Basic ammunition had been issued to 82nd jumpers on October 21, 1962, and thruout the day vehicles, artillery pieces and other gear were rigged for a heavy drop. This week in Cuba the Chinese paratroopers began receiving their basic ammunition and first communication equipment.

Tension mounted at Ft. Bragg a year ago. No man knew whether war would erupt. Today, no U.S. officials known how many Soviet or Chinese troops are in Cuba or why they are there. Yet there is no tension in Washington because officials of the Kennedy administration refuse to face up to these new developments, while keeping Congress completely in the dark.

CUBAN FLASHES

Russian submarine pens are being constructed at Bahai de Nipe. Powerful fortifications also are being built there, particularly for anti-aircraft guns . . .The number of so-called "technicians" from Red China is steadily increasing in Cuba. Intelligence now estimates they run into the thousands, and are of various categories. They are located in compounds and are rarely seen in public, unlike the Russians and Czechoslovaks who travel about freely. . . The castro regime is making strenuous efforts to persuade Czech technicians to remain in Cuba, offering numerous special inducements.

As a result of recent hostile hit-and-run sorties and raids, the large guard force at the Isle of Pines prison has been doubled — from around 2,000 to some 4,000. There are three main concentration camps on the isle, which is the chief prison for Castro's political enemies. . .Raul Castro, younger brother of Fidel and head of the armed forces, has made several trips to Yucatan for meetings with Mexico's former leftist President Lazaro Cardenas. The latter owns an estate in Yucatan, and frequently holds meetings there with Communists and others of that ilk. . . In talks with foreign diplomats in Havana, Castro is still muttering angrily over the fact that not a single Latin American Communist leader attended the July 26 celebration of his "revolution."

CRYSTAL BALL

President Kennedy is scoring a partial victory on the foreign aid authorization bill in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The committee, which has been considering the measure for several months, will restore about half of the $1 billion cut by the House when it voted $3.5 billion — as against the $4.5 billion demanded by the President. The Senate committee will approve around $4 billion.

Both branches of Congress still have to act on the actual appropriation bill — which will mean another bitter battle. Outcome of that is a toss-up, with the inside chances favoring a compromise in the neighborhood of $3.5 billion—approximately $1.5 billion less than the $4.9 billion the President originally sought.

The Nation's Weather

Welcome rains were occurring thru much of the upper Plains eastward into the western portions of the middle and upper Mississippi Valley this morning.

Rainfall averaged one-tenth to one-third of an inch during the past six hours. Occasional rain was also occurring thru much of the Pacific Northwest and also thru the coastal areas of northern North Carolina.

Most rainfall totals in these areas were light with the exception of Cape Hatteras, N. C. which had received 3.40 inches during the past 24 hours as a result of Hurricane Ginny.

Elsewhere over the nation this morning, the weather was fair and dry. Temperature-wise, the cool 30s and 40s were noted thruout most of the western third of the nation except for the 50s along the Pacific Coast and thru the far southwest.

Over the eastern two-thirds of the country, the 50s prevailed over most sections except for the 60s in the extreme south.

SIGHT SUBMARINE

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—An unidentified submarine was reported in Swedish waters Sunday night northeast of Svenska Hoegarna in the Stockholm archipelago.

The lighthouse keeper at Svenska Hoegarna reported the sighting. He said the vessel was surfaced but disappeared into heavy fog before he could identify its markings.

The Swedish navy said it had no submarines in the area at the time.

Neither nation — each with about the same population of 11 to 12 million— has enough men to wage a full-scale war along the 700-mile frontier.

Moroccan strategists believe the 35,000-man royal army bolstered by 20,000 auxiliaries is the stronger force in the desert on the southern front. They do not hide their concern over apparent Algerian superiority on the northern part of the frontier.

Algeria has a 60,000-man army equipped with Soviet and Chinese heavy weapons. The Moroccans have a superior air force of 13 Soviet MIGs and as many or more French jets plus propeller planes.

Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella requested a meeting of African foreign ministers to condemn Morocco for aggression.

Ben Bella also told Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba his offer to mediate at the foreign minister level is not acceptable as long as Moroccan troops remain in Algerian territory. Ben Bella also conferred with Ghana Foreign Minister Kojo Botio on his country's offer to mediate. The Arab League named a five-nation committee to visit Algeria and Morocco and try to mediate.

Negro Leaders Plan Showdown In Birmingham

face with a shotgun and the three whites fired two shots "betwixt my feet" and another toward his house.

In other weekend racial developments, twelve Negroes and whites who tried to enter "white-only" churches in Jackson, Miss., were arrested Sunday and charged with disrupting services. Four of those arrested were young white ministers from Illinois.

Negro civil rights organizations also held a "summit" conference in Atlanta this weekend in which they agreed on a broad program to make the Southern capital an "open city" by Nov. 5.

The conference agreed to a slate of goals which call for desegregation of all hotels, restaurants and other public accommodations.

Other developments:

Selma, Ala.: Negro leaders renewed their sagging drive to register Negro voters. Integration leader Fred L. Shuttlesworth is to arrive here Tuesday to bolster the drive.

Hartford, Conn.: Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a speech here Sunday that a Senate filibuster on civil rights would not have popular support.

'Worst Defeat' Reported by South Viet Nam

About 900 Vietnamese troops fought against a force of no more than 400 to 500 guerrillas, U.S. advisers said.

"They (the guerrillas) were a well-trained, well-organized unit," said an American officer. "They had plenty of automatic weapons and ammunition."

Four American crewmen were injured when a helicopter was hit by Communist fire and flipped over in the mud. Another helicopter lost rotor control but made a crash landing at an airfield 25 miles away after the American pilot was struck in the back by a Communist bullet.

Viet Cong machine gunners also wounded the American navigator of a B26, struck two fighter planes and damaged several other helicopters.

By nightfall, the battle was over and the Communists had slipped away.

"We will destroy all the fortifications and sampans we find, then we will have to move out," an American adviser said.

REPORTS PLANE CRASH

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — Authorities said today 24 persons were killed in the crash of a Soviet military transport plane at Aswan Airport last week.

At the time, it was reported 22 had died in the crash. Authorities said an investigation showed engine trouble caused the crash.

HONORED — Frank Colley (1), wildlife conservation officer, was honored at a dinner meeting here recently after completing 25 years of service with the State Game and Fish Department. Approximately 30 persons including fellow employes, their wives, and friends gathered at the Dawn Restaurant to present gifts and reminisce about the "good old days." Mrs. Colley decorated Frank with a 25 year service pin covering a period of service that began at Steamboat Springs, Colley's home town. Colley has served the Colorado Springs area 17 years. Affectionately recognized by his co-workers for his prowess in handling beaver matters, Colley failed to make it thru the evening without being caught in one of his own gold-plated traps. Carl Welsh (r), regional game and fish manager, gleefully tugged on the trap chain and opined that Colley was trapped for at least another 10 years.

Continuing Drought Spells Loss of Millions to U.S.

night. The hurricane, named Ginny, was accompanied by winds up to 85 m.p.h. a Weather Bureau forecaster said the storm, about 90 miles southeast off Cape Hatteras, N. C., could bring more wind than rain and thus increase the fire hazard in the parched Eastern forests.

On the bright side of the dismal weather picture, the nation's major winter vegetable and citrus growing regions — Florida, California and the lower Rio Grande Valley — reported favorable growing conditions. Irrigation from wells provides sufficient moisture for crops in the Rio Grande and Florida.

The arid conditions in southern Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont remained critical. The fire danger was accelerated by high winds which accompanied the Atlantic storm that lashed the North Carolina coast and moved northward.

Six counties in New Hampshire were declared eligible for disaster relief because of the drought. The state's grazing pastures were burned and barren. State parks and the White Mountain National Forest were closed.

No major fires were reported in New Hampshire, but there were numerous small blazes over the state. William Messeck, director of the Division of Resources Development, said the state was "on the brink of a major fire." Many towns were using emergency water supplies.

Vermont's Gov. Philip H. Hoff who closed the state's woods Oct. 10, repeated his warnings against persons entering wooded lands, except in cases of emergency. Livestock in Vermont was eating forage stored for winter use. There was an acute shortage of grain. A shortage of water prompted Gov. Hoff to have two counties declared federal disaster areas.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., called for federal assurances that grain can be transported into the state to meet shortages.

Thousands of acres of forest and fields have burned in upstate New York in the searing days since Oct. 1 and the Weather Bureau in Albany reported that the last 21 months, since Jan. 1, 1962, was the driest such period in the records of the bureau.

All woodlands and fields in New York State were closed to the public. Hunting, fishing and outdoor fires were banned.

The New York Conservation Department appealed to high school boys to turn out to help weary fire-fighters battle fires which created widespread fog over the upstate area. A rash of new fires raged Sunday and thickened the smothering smog blanket.

The New York health department warned that the widespread smog, especially in the Hudson Valley, could cause trouble for persons suffering from respiratory and heart ailments.

Pennsylvania was especially hard hit by the continued parching. The Weather bureau said no immediate relief was in sight for the drought-weary state. Fires continued to break out—34 of them Saturday—across the state's timberlands.

More than half of Pennsylvania's 67 counties were declared disaster areas and were applying for disaster area status.

Hunters, farmers and others using the outdoors in Mississippi were warned not to set any kind of spark. The Weather Bureau's agricultural branch at Stoneville, Miss., said there has been "no recorded significant rainfall in the past 30 days or more and the dry conditions have not only affected farm operations but also have increased the danger of grass and brush fires."

Agriculture sources in Alabama said the state "was in a crisis and in a hazardous condition." In some areas farmers were unable to plow the dry earth.

Rainless timberlands in Louisiana faced the greatest fire hazard since 1952 when 400,000 acres burned. Tennessee passed its 22nd day without rain.

Pine needles in the southern pinelands of Louisiana turned brown and hung in the treetops creating acute danger of fires.

The Tennessee Forestry Department, which has fought more than 250 brush and forest fires since Oct. 1, reported that the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was "tinder dry."

At Norvin Green State Forest in northern New Jersey, a 2,900-acre fire was "nearly under dontrol," but at East River Mountain, near Bluefield, Va., 100 men fought a fire which had burned more than 700 acres since Thursday.

CU to Hold New Series Of Seminars

Acting Dean William J. Stanton of the University of Colorado School of Business today announced a new series of business management seminars to be held in Colorado cities during 1963-64.

Stanton said his faculty will carry the seminars to Pueblo on Nov. 12-13, Colorado Springs, Nov. 14-15, and to four other regional centers to be arranged during the year.

Similar seminars were held in Lamar and Glenwood Springs last spring and were very successful, Stanton said.

Stanton said the two-day "Gear Up for Growth" meetings are designed to bring to the business community "a continuing opportunity to explore with business school faculty, the changing patterns of business growth."

They will be sponsored by the CU business school and Extension Division in cooperation with local chambers of commerce.

The seminars seek to help owner-managers increase the effectiveness of their business operations by broadening and updating available information in such areas as marketing, finance, management and accounting.

Participants also will analyze growth factors and changes in their local business scene.

Mass Polio Innoculation Plan Announced

said today at a press conference held at Penrose Hospital.

He said vaccine will be distributed to combat all three types of polio. The innoculations will be given on three "K. O. Polio Sundays."

Dr. Stone said a nominal contribution of 25 cents will be asked for each innoculation but is not necessary. He said the vaccine will be distributed free of charge if necessary.

The Medical Association has set up distribution centers in all schools. He said there will be a total of 51 of these centers. A physician will be on hand for each of the innoculations.

Dr. Stone said that Type 1 of the vaccine will be distributed on Nov. 17; Type 2, Jan. 5, and Type 3, Feb. 16.

Four tons of cube sugar will be used on each Sunday, Dr. Stone said. He said that Holly Sugar Corp. has donated the sugar to be used in the mass innoculations.

"All three types of vaccine are required to combat the types of polio," Dr. Stone said. "We recommend that each person take all three types to be safe from this disease.

Dr. Stone said that the Association is hoping to make the "K. O. Polio Sundays" a family affair and urged that all members of each family takes the vaccine.

He said that all individuals from the age of three months on should take the vaccine even tho they may have already been innoculated with the Salk vaccine.

Dr. Stone explained that the Sabine vaccine, which contains a live virus, gives immunity in the mucous membrane of the intestinal tract thereby eliminating the possibility of a person becoming a carrier of the disease.

He pointed out that even diabetics may take the vaccine in sugar form. Dr. Stone said physician members of the association said the one cube would not be harmful to a diabetic.

However, the vaccine will also be distributed in water and in direct portions during the three sessions.

Dr. Stone strongly recommended that persons who have had polio also take the vaccine since they may still be susceptible to the other types of the disease.

A host of volunteers will join in the innoculation program Dr. Stone said. He said the Medical Association here and the El Paso County Chapter of the National Foundation are sponsoring the program.

Dr. Stone said that the mass innoculations are the best way to eliminate Polio from the world. He said that the Association urges all residents to take advantage of the program.

PARACHUTE MEDICINE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., suggests the United States parachute medicine and food to areas in Cuba devasted by Hurricane Flora.

"It would dramatically show U.S. concern for the people of Cuba as well as pointing up Castro's inability to care for the citizens' of Cuba," he said Sunday.

unanimous in their dedication to their task and to the hope that it can be accomplished. They are divided on how to do it.

The educated element of the Vietnamese is stirring painfully. Jails in Saigon are full to the bursting point with political prisoners. Police brutalities, the beating of students and the police state spying, interrogation and repression can have a chain reaction which can severely damage the effort to crush the Viet Cong.

Young men ask whether their government is any better than the Communist one in North Viet Nam.

Most Americans believe this war could be won if President Ngo Dinh Diem alone headed the South Viet Nam government. But the man called "President No. Two"—who may have more power than the president himself and who exercises enormous influence on him—is the big problem. Many Americans believe this war cannot be won while Ngo Dinh Nhu, the president's brother who holds the modest title of "counsellor," is around.

The main issue is not whether South Viet Nam has an authoritarian government or a dictatorship or whatever Westerners choose to call it. Such labels do not apply in Southeast Asia. The country can hardly absorb anything remotely approaching parliamentary democracy for a long time. And there is a war going on.

The main issue is not the Buddhist clash with the government, nor is it a matter of a religious conflict. Buddhists and Roman Catholics have lived together in peace for years.

The issue in Saigon — where the war can be lost—is the harshness of the regime, which can have formidable impact on the prosecution of the war and the morale of the army fighting the Communists. It is a police state system resembling a Communist one in some ways, though lacking the efficiency of a Communist apparatus. The police network is dominated by Nhu, a man who has a lively contempt of the United States.

President Diem and his family are Roman Catholics. But the evidence seems to be that their attitude toward the Buddhists sprang not from religious considerations as much as from a suspicion of anything that smacked of organization.

The Buddhists have been developing a reorganization for several years. The Ngo family takes a dim view of all organizations they do not totally control. They get along well with the tame Buddhists—those who do not protest.

The president, advised by Nhu and Nhu's pretty and powerful wife, is becoming more and more isolated from his people. He has tightened and stepped up the machinery of the police state and thus has created even more opposition.

Not too long ago, many involved in the war effort—both Vietnamese and American—held rising hopes for the outcome. But as the political situation deteriorates in Saigon, the hope becomes less bright. And while Nhu is around and powerful, the hope may become dimmer.

The key is the confidence of the people. The Diem regime is not winning that.

The police state is tight. But one assassination or even attempted assassination in the palace, one attempt at ousting the ruling family, could well touch off a bloodbath in the capital. That could lead to both military and political chaos in which the Viet Cong Communists could prosper.

There is still much hope among Americans that the situation can be righted and that the country can turn its main attention to prosecuting the war.

But there is dread that the president's family will snatch defeat from the jaws of victory.

Dr. Court Speaks At Faith Festival Service Tonight

Dr. Frank Court, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Denver, is the speaker for the Festival of Faith service at First Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

This Festival of Faith service is sponsored by the Committee on Evangelism of the Pikes Peak Council of Churches.

In addition to Dr. Court's pastorate in Denver, and Lincoln, Neb., he is a lecturer for the General Motors Corporation entrusted with the responsibility of frequently addressing top echelon sales management and production personnel. Recently, in cooperation with a national organization interested in supporting the work of Dr. Albert Sweitzer, he visited with this outstanding Christian in Lambarene, Equatorial Africa.

The choir of First Baptist Church will sing. Dr. M. Loyd Owens is the director of the choir and Mrs. Ralph Hiscutt, organist.

Members of the Committee on Evangelism assisting in the service will be Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg, Chaplain Kenneth G. Irwin, Rev. Paul Gamber, Rev. R. C. Jacobson, Rev. Ward B. Hurlburt, and Rev. Samuel O. Morreale.

The public is invited to attend this service.

Knob Hill District Mill Levy Reduced

Residents within the Knob Hill Sanitation District will have their district mill levy reduced in 1964, the district board of directors said today.

The levy will be reduced from 4.65 mills to 4 mills.

It marked the second consecutive year that the district has reduced the levy.

At the same time, directors approved the 1964 budget which totals $22,931, also a reduction from the 1963 budget.

Spokesmen said that the reductions were brought about by "close operation" of the district and a careful handling of the budget money.

Forensic Contest Set for Coming Weekend

The Rocky Mountain Forensic League Tournament will be held Friday and Saturday in the East Ballroom of the University of Colorado Memorial Center. Nine universities in the mountain west will be represented.

The program opens at 9 a.m. Friday with a free, public symposium by Assoc. Prof. Richard Wilson of the CU Department of Political Science, Prof. Homer Rainey of the College of Education and Prof. Paul Jedamus of the School of Business.

The tournament will include two rounds of oratory and extemporaneous speaking, four rounds of novice debate and five rounds of senior debate. The tournament will end at 1 p.m. Saturday with tabulation of scores.

The program is being administered by the CU Department of Speech and Drama. Miss Lois Bursack is in charge of arrangements.

Expected to compete are students from CU, Colorado State University, Colorado State College, Utah State University, Brigham Young University, Montana State University and the Universities of Denver, Wyoming and Utah.

Heintges Will Represent Carson At Meeting

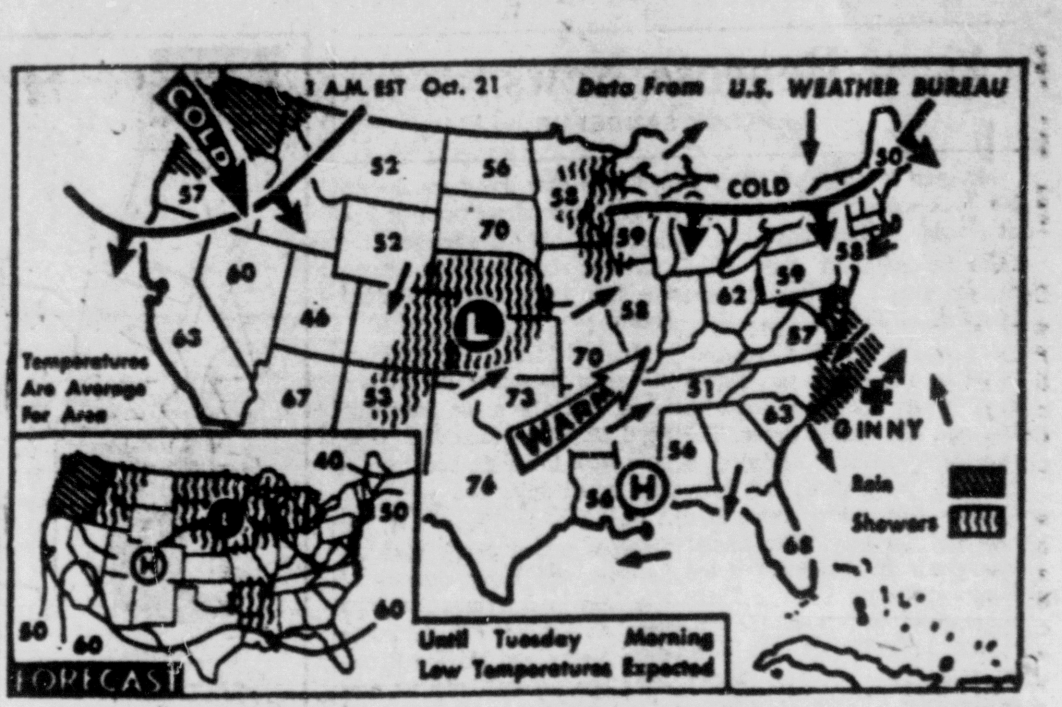
Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, Ft. Carson and 5th Infantry Division commander, and Col. H. V. Middleworth, his chief of staff, will represent Ft. Carson at the annual meeting of the Association of the U. S. Army in Washington Oct. 21 to 23.

Modern Army on the Move is the theme for the meeting which will feature Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as ranking speaker at the General George Catlett Marshall dinner.

Keynote address will be given at the opening session by General Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff.

Tuesday's meeting will include a panel discussion on Army Air Mobility. Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance will speak at the annual luncheon.

Seventy exhibits by industry and the Army will show the latest trends and developments in military equipment and operations in the Sheraton Park Hotel.



WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — A hurricane off the east coast brings a threat of high winds and rain to the Atlantic coast states Monday night. There will be rain in the northwest section of the country and showers from the northern Plains eastward through the Lakes area as well as in Arkansas. It will be cooler in the northwest and in the central Plains; warmer in the southern Plateau and in the central Atlantic coast states.

curate.

Once again there is alarming evidence that the CIA is underestimating Soviet troop strength in Cuba. Its latest estimate hails Russia's removal of her combat units — some 5,000 troops.

This CIA report is flatly challenged by the same Cuban refugees. These reliable sources have turned over information to the CIA warning that Soviet combat units are still on the island with their modern equipment stored in caves.

While just a year ago the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., was on alert for a parachute leap over Cuba, this week in Cuba nearly 10,000 Chinese paratroopers are training in secret for action in the Caribbean or Latin America.

Basic ammunition had been issued to 82nd jumpers on October 21, 1962, and thruout the day vehicles, artillery pieces and other gear were rigged for a heavy drop. This week in Cuba the Chinese paratroopers began receiving their basic ammunition and first communication equipment.

Tension mounted at Ft. Bragg a year ago. No man knew whether war would erupt. Today, no U.S. officials known how many Soviet or Chinese troops are in Cuba or why they are there. Yet there is no tension in Washington because officials of the Kennedy administration refuse to face up to these new developments, while keeping Congress completely in the dark.

CUBAN FLASHES

Russian submarine pens are being constructed at Bahai de Nipe. Powerful fortifications also are being built there, particularly for anti-aircraft guns . . .The number of so-called "technicians" from Red China is steadily increasing in Cuba. Intelligence now estimates they run into the thousands, and are of various categories. They are located in compounds and are rarely seen in public, unlike the Russians and Czechoslovaks who travel about freely. . . The castro regime is making strenuous efforts to persuade Czech technicians to remain in Cuba, offering numerous special inducements.

As a result of recent hostile hit-and-run sorties and raids, the large guard force at the Isle of Pines prison has been doubled — from around 2,000 to some 4,000. There are three main concentration camps on the isle, which is the chief prison for Castro's political enemies. . .Raul Castro, younger brother of Fidel and head of the armed forces, has made several trips to Yucatan for meetings with Mexico's former leftist President Lazaro Cardenas. The latter owns an estate in Yucatan, and frequently holds meetings there with Communists and others of that ilk. . . In talks with foreign diplomats in Havana, Castro is still muttering angrily over the fact that not a single Latin American Communist leader attended the July 26 celebration of his "revolution."

CRYSTAL BALL

President Kennedy is scoring a partial victory on the foreign aid authorization bill in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The committee, which has been considering the measure for several months, will restore about half of the $1 billion cut by the House when it voted $3.5 billion — as against the $4.5 billion demanded by the President. The Senate committee will approve around $4 billion.

Both branches of Congress still have to act on the actual appropriation bill — which will mean another bitter battle. Outcome of that is a toss-up, with the inside chances favoring a compromise in the neighborhood of $3.5 billion—approximately $1.5 billion less than the $4.9 billion the President originally sought.

Pauling to Join Institution For Democracy

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Linus Pauling, winner last week of the 1962 Nobel Peace Prize, today planned to leave the California Institute of Technology to join the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

The Caltech chemistry professor, only man to win two Nobel prizes, said Friday he had accepted the appointment "under conditions favorable to the continued prosecution of my work in science, medicine and world affairs." He will take over his new post Nov. 1, 1963.

"I shall be on leave of absence from Caltech during the remainder of the academic year, but I shall continue to supervise experimental and theoretical research in the field of chemistry . . . " he said.

Although his "leave of absence" was until June 30, 1964, Pauling said it "appears my work at Caltech is at an end."

Pauling, who was awarded the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1954, said that it was "not without regret" that he was severing his association with Caltech after more than 41 years as a professor. However, he hinted at some possible dissatisfaction with his experimental laboratory at the school.

The professor told newsmen he considered the Nobel Peace Prize a vindication "for all the criticism I had received over the years for my work against nuclear testing and for world peace.

Greenwich Village Gets Children's Street Project

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — You've heard of Greenwich Village's coffee houses and know about its upbeat, downbeat and nobeat poets.

Make way for the village's Children's Street—a place featuring a green frog, a gingerbread house and a zoo.

The street's real name, Christopher Street, was dubbed "Children's Street" by residents, once they saw what goes on inside the shops called frog, gingerbread and zoo.

Her shop, the Gingerbread House, specializes in imported toys and dolls. The name stems from a musical gingerbread man—once the biggest seller.

Now, however, says Mrs. Springer, a grandmother assisted by daughter Julie, the biggest mail order item is a Joan Walsh Anglund doll—often sold in conjunction with author Anglund's cowboy doll.

Right next door to the Gingerbread House is the Green Frog, a girl's dress shop operated by Mrs. Evelyn Knapp—a mother with two daughters.

Mrs. Knapp caters to the no-shape females, toddlers to 10-years old. Dresses don't have waistlines.

Creepers who like crawlers have their choice of eight colors. The youngsters favor green snakes first, then orange ones. They're the shades most frequently ordered.

Color psychologists say green is the philosopher's color. And orange? It's the color of self-satisfaction.

Court Decision Is Expected on Racial Crisis

By United Press International

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has agreed to decide whether federal or state courts have jurisdiction in racial crises.

Three members of the court, including Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle, heard arguments in Atlanta, Georgia in a case involving such jurisdiction.

Attorneys for Clinton, La., said a federal court stay of a state court injunction against racial demonstrations has "hamstrung" law enforcement in the city. The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), which is conducting a voter registration drive in Clinton, had contended the state injunction violated the civil rights of Negroes.

The case is considered significant in that it could set a precedent on whether a federal court has the right to take over from a state court in actions against racial demonstrations.

The Justice Department said one of its officials gave King a ride from a motel to a church in Birmingham while interviewing him on racial issues. It branded as false Wallace's accusation that King was driven from Birmingham to Selma in a government-rented car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brechlin and son, Jerry, Mrs. David Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. George Schoonover, and Prudence Mick of Colorado Springs, went to Montrose recently to attend the state Grange meeting. Mrs. Gibbs was an alternate and the others were delegates.

The G. F. McReynolds of Monument gave a family dinner and birthday party for Mrs. Geneva Perrine recently.

The George Proctors of Griswold, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. William Proctor and children of Denver visited Mrs. David Gibb last week. The Proctors are cousins of Mrs. Gibbs. She spent Friday night in Littleton with these relatives.

At the Monument Home Demonstration Club meeting Oct. 10, a birthday celebration was held for Mrs. Charles Allis at the club hall. This is an annual event in honor of Mrs. Allis and, until her death, was also in honor of Mrs. Hattie Schmitt's birthday.

The old timers who sat at the birthday table with Mrs. Allis were: Mrs. A. S. Best, Mrs. Dave Green, Mrs. Pearl Archer, Mrs. Charles Willhite, Mrs. John Kinner, Mrs. Levi Brown, Mrs. Ruth Connelly from Bijou Basin, Mrs. Ruby Patterson of Colorado Springs, Mrs. Dieboldt, Mrs. H. L. Frank, Mrs. Lenore Barker, Mrs. Shirk, Mrs. Norah Freeman, Mrs. Nancy Williams and Mrs. Elizabeth Sautter.

Mrs. Lucille Lavelett baked the birthday cake as usual and the lovely roses and dahlias decorated the tables.

A workshop is planned by members of the club to make things for a Bazaar to be held shortly to raise money to pay for the bathroom installed in the Monument Home Demonstration Club Hall.

New officers elected for the group at this meeting were Mrs. Fern Webb, president; Mrs. Ruth Engle, vice-president; Mrs. Doris Tupper, secretary; and Mrs. Myra Gibbs, treasurer.

Mrs. Mary Liming has returned from a trip with relatives to the southern part of the state, and to New Mexico. The group visited Trinidad and the Frank Bloom Museum, and then went on to Taos and Santa Fe.

The Lee McKitterick family spent the weekend at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hermann entertained a large group of their Denver friends at a potluck supper and Canasta session on Saturday.

Col. and Mrs. Carl F. Duffner entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clausing and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Rogers M. McDonough at dinner Saturday. Afterwards Col. Duffner showed some interesting slides taken in Germany.

The seniors of Lewis Palmer High School held a pancake supper at the school lunchroom on Sunday.

The seventh graders entertained at a pre-Holloween party at the town hall recently. Mrs. John Meckes and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schroeder were chaperons.

Miss Dolores Plested of Denver, who will be the speaker at the Palmer Lake Historical Society meeting Oct. 17 at the town hall, will have dinner with the Rogers McDonoughs prior to the meeting.

The cub scouts of Troop 17 had a meeting at the Palmer Lake town hall last week.

Monument is growing citywise with new street lights and street signs. Be sure to notice what a night-time glow Palmer Lake's neighborning town has now!

Denver Students Fill Chairs in Rural Colleges

DENVER (UPI)— A member of Gov. John Love's Advisory Committee on Junior Colleges said here rural Colorado junior colleges were being forced to turn away students from their own areas because of a "high influx" from Denver.

"The Denver students are taking up space that really should go to students from the areas where the colleges are located," Mrs. Juanita Gray of Denver said.

She said the only solution was to build several Denver - area junior colleges.

Mrs. Gray and other members of the committee toured Trinidad State Junior College, Otero Junior College in La Junta and Lamar Junior College this week.

TO: The people of Colorado.

Business leaders throughout America this week are reading the attached advertisement, one of a series which Colorado Interstate is publishing nationwide.

The purpose of these ads is to bring new job opportunities, new payrolls, new purchasing power -- in short, new prosperity -- to Colorado and the Rocky Mountain West.

We thought you might like to see how we're going about it.

Happy Landing

In locating a business, as in pitching horseshoes, the idea is to land in the right place. But the clamor of thousands of conflicting claims can make it a confusing process. ■ Thus, it may be helpful to you to know about one characteristic of the communities which make up the Denver Central region of Colorado. They play for keeps. They want their new industrial residents to be satisfied, prosperous, and permanent. ■ So—in their own interest as well as yours—they use the factual approach. Happily, the facts combine into a highly persuasive picture. This is tangibly attested to by the large, and still fast-growing, manufacturing complex which has become rooted in the area. ■ You are invited to explore the advantages, as a location for your next branch plant or regional office, offered by Denver, Boulder, Golden, Castle Rock, Littleton, Englewood, Broomfield, and other choice Central Colorado locations. Waiting for you are complete facts and figures about markets, raw materials, utility services, transportation, labor, etc. No window dressing, no bargain-basement inducements, no blue-sky promises; Colorado rests its case on solid data—plus assurance of wholehearted and continuing helpfulness on the part of the community in furthering your business interests. ■ The facts are available on request from Donald F. McMahon, Director of Area Development, Colorado Interstate Gas Company, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

COLORADO INTERSTATE GAS COMPANY A COMPANY ON THE GO

The breathtaking natural beauty of the Rocky Mountain West is a primary reason for Colorado's tremendous postwar growth in population, family income, and business activity. But many other factors have also contributed to the region's emergence as a major center of industry and commerce. Prominently included is the fact that the Colorado-Wyoming area has a plentiful supply of dependable natural gas, at rates which are among the lowest anywhere in the United States. The supply is constantly expanding—for example, Colorado Interstate is presently spending $14,000,000 to build 227 miles of new gas pipelines which will help meet all of Colorado's and Wyoming's requirements this coming winter.

Pauling to Join Institution For Democracy

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Linus Pauling, winner last week of the 1962 Nobel Peace Prize, today planned to leave the California Institute of Technology to join the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

The Caltech chemistry professor, only man to win two Nobel prizes, said Friday he had accepted the appointment "under conditions favorable to the continued prosecution of my work in science, medicine and world affairs." He will take over his new post Nov. 1, 1963.

"I shall be on leave of absence from Caltech during the remainder of the academic year, but I shall continue to supervise experimental and theoretical research in the field of chemistry . . . " he said.

Although his "leave of absence" was until June 30, 1964, Pauling said it "appears my work at Caltech is at an end."

Pauling, who was awarded the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1954, said that it was "not without regret" that he was severing his association with Caltech after more than 41 years as a professor. However, he hinted at some possible dissatisfaction with his experimental laboratory at the school.

The professor told newsmen he considered the Nobel Peace Prize a vindication "for all the criticism I had received over the years for my work against nuclear testing and for world peace.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

A Memorial Against the U.N.

We can't begin to know whether or not the move will prove effective, but one is being made to cause the Colorado State Legislature to "investigate" the United Nations.

Former Major Arch E. Roberts has spearheaded an attack against the U.N. in this state and is calling for a memorial from the state legislative body by means of which Congress can be apprised of Colorado's rejection of the United Nations Charter, which, in certain respects, has superseded the Constitution of the United States.

At this moment, it is too early to know whether or not the legislature will pick up the gauntlet dropped at its feet. If it does, we surmise that Roberts will offer some fairly conclusive evidence to the effect that the U.N. is little more than a forerunner of a one-world government which would have the effect of reducing the sovereignty of this nation in some kind of a political global melting pot.

To bear out the former major's contentions we are quoting from the booklet, "Should We Strengthen the United Nations?" by Dr. V. Orval Watts:

"The Truman administration labeled the war in Korea a 'police action,' which it professed to undertake at the bidding of the U.N. and with authority conferred upon the President by the U.N. This pretense was to avoid getting the consent of Congress for a declaration of war as the United States Constitution provided. It was also easier to rally American support for the war in a faraway land by representing it as a fulfillment of our treaty obligations to an organization supposed to be 'mankind's best hope for peace.'

"This action by the President implies that the U.N. Charter has taken the place of the Constitution as 'the supreme law of the land' for the United States. If joining the U.N. did this . . . and many jurists and a number of court decisions say it did . . .the senators who voted to ratify the U.N. Charter in 1945 unknowingly violated their oath of office and subverted the Constitution. At any rate, President Truman spoke and acted as if it were true, not only in sending United States military forces into war without the consent of Congress, but later in seizing the steel mills. This and many similar instances of wartime erosion of the Constitution in 1861-65, in World War I and II, and in the Korean War show how war fosters the practices of unlimited government or 'democratic Caesarism.' These costs of American interventionism and U.N. membership cannot be measured in money terms, but they are real and very high. . .

"To legalize the council's action, therefore, and to remove the obstacle of the veto for the future, the U.N. Assembly in November, 1950, passed the 'Uniting for Peace Resolution.' This resolution stated that, if the Security Council fails to act in regard to a reported breach of the peace, the assembly could, by a two-thirds vote, take the necessary action (i.e., exercise the powers given the Security Council by the Charter.) To take charge of the troops in such a case the assembly set up a Collective Measures Committee corresponding in powers and duties to the Military Staff Committee in the Security Council (on which the Soviet Chief of Staff has a permanent place.) Finally, to give the U.N. Assembly the power as well as the authority of a world government, the United States delegation urged that the U.N. states provide troops to be kept ready for the orders of the assembly and the Collective Committee."

It will be a matter of considerable interest to see whether or not such a move as Roberts proposes will be accepted by the legislature and whether or not something comes of it.

There is no doubt in the minds of serious persons who have examined the Charter and the record of the U.N. that they pose a constant danger to the peace of the world.

It would be a most fascinating development if the state legislature of this state decided to do something about it.

To Defy

Freedom of speech doesn't mean that you have a right to speak up in agreement with popular view. Even in the most backward and regimented countries the sorriest slave can do that. Freedom of speech means your right to speak up against established opinion; to challenge that which has been long accepted; to defy even the authoritarian position with logic, reason and persuasion.

An 18 Per Cent Increase In Local Taxes

In a recent speech by Governor John Love of Colorado, he mentioned that there was a possibility of a tax revolt on the part of the people of this nation. He even suggested that if it came, it would make the "Boston Tea Party seem like a mild disagreement."

Perhaps the governor was in the "know" as to what was brewing here in Colorado Springs. Perhaps not. But certainly something is brewing in the halls of the mighty.

Without the formality of a prior public hearing, the county has just moved to increase the general mill levy for the purpose of building a new court house. Of course we have a new court house annex. But the old building won't do any more if we are to keep up with political ambitions. Also, since the city has a new jail, the county is going to have to have a new jail, too, isn't it? You wouldn't want the prisoners of the county to feel a lack of status, would you?

For some years this newspaper has pointed out the folly of succumbing at every point to each new tax demand. Others have chided us for our lack of civic pride; for our concern "only with dollars"; for our failure to be "forward looking."

The trouble is we have been forward looking. The situation which now looms over Colorado Springs and El Paso County taxpayers is one which we predicted many times.

So, hang onto your hats. And your billfolds. In fact, you can look lovingly at whatever remains in the latter, for it is about to depart.

The local government officials have decreed a tax increase for taxpayers in this city which will boost their taxes next year by 18.20 per cent. That is not a mill levy boost, that is a per cent figure. It means that local home owners are going to have to pay nearly one fifth more in taxes beginning almost at once.

Consider what this means. If your taxes last year were $100, you will pay, next year, $118.20. If your taxes last year were $300, you will be required to pay right at $354.60. If your taxes were $1,000, you will have to pay $1,180.

If you project the curve of recent increases, beginning say in 1950, you will find that by 1974 the curve will go right off the board. In fact, you won't have money enough left to buy food for yourself and your family.

We have warned and warned that all of this growth of local government would cost money. Some way, our opponents have lulled you into a sense of false security, causing you to believe that others than you would have to pay for it. But you will pay. And you will pay and pay.

The matter is not entirely decided. You will still have a chance to say no on some things, such as the new proposal being made regarding new parks and playgrounds and the projected expenses therein. But you will have little to say about the new courthouse or the new county jail. That has almost been decided. So have a number of other items.

We were talking with a most knowledgeable man the other evening, a man who has the best interests of this community at heart. The "projected growth" of Colorado Springs came into the conversation, and our friend was not optimistic. He said, in effect, "Don't ask me to forecast what Colorado Springs will be like in another fifty years, you wouldn't like it." He tied his gloom to the question of water, and the fact that we cannot support a city larger than the water supply will reach. We'll join in his gloom but, instead, on the grounds that you can't build government larger than the people's dollars will permit.

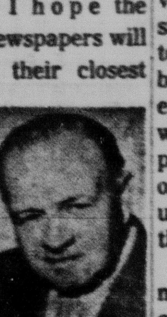
GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.



Most earnestly, I hope the readers of these newspapers will give this column their closest attention. The money involved is your own! I will quote exactly from an item appearing in the Santa Ana Register, and probably many other daily newspapers, in October 7, 1963 under this subheading: "Washington, (UPI)—Status of Major Legislation." You will find an item under "enacted" which covers two enacted items: military pay and silver.

Under the military pay item, kindly note that the information does not mention that a pay raise for non-military agencies was included. In this column on a previous occasion I called these to your attention.

Under "Silver," please give your close attention to the following quotation, as printed; "To combat shortages of silver for coins, Congress gave administration authority it requested to replace existing silver-backed $1.00 bills with gold-backed $1.00 bills."

IF a shortage of silver exists, in fact, it is simply because the government refuses to buy silver. Plenty of silver is available with which to manufacture coins or anything else and large purchases of silver from the mining industry would greatly stimulate mining but this is not the really important part of the news item.

The "existing silver backed $1.00 bills" bear this statement "IN SILVER PAYABLE TO THE BEARER ON DEMAND." This means that the silver-backed $1.00 bills are backed by $1.00 worth of silver; that the government guarantees to give you silver in the value of one dollar for the paper currency. There is no prohibition against the public ownership of silver, obviously, since you have coins which contain silver and the news item states there is a shortage of silver for coins.

Currency which is not backed by silver is backed by a gold reserve, legally, to the value of 25 per cent of the face value of the currency. Now, take a close look at what the government is doing to you with the consent of the Congress and at the request of the present administration which you elected to public office. The government, YOUR government, if you prefer to call it that, will substitute for $1.00 silver certificates, each of which is worth an amount of silver worth the value of $1.00 in silver, which it is legal for you to own, a certificate which will be redeemable only with another identical certificate, which will be backed, if the status quo persists, with a gold value of only 25 per cent of the face value of the paper certificate. But, that's just the beginning.

The new one dollar bills will not be redeemable in the value of even 25 cents in gold because you are prohibited from owning minted gold.

To put it another way; your $1.00 silver certificate, redeemable in silver in the value of one dollar, will be replaced by a piece of paper, redeemable in another piece of paper, backed by a reserve of 25 per cent in gold, which you are prohibited from owning. You will sacrifice one dollar in a precious metal you are permitted to own, for a piece of paper which will be backed by something you are prohibited from owning but if you were permitted to own it, the value would be only 25 cents.

More than three years ago, I warned readers of my columns to beware of what was going to happen to them, their savings, life insurance policies and investments and anything else of value, when government went to work on the silver certificates, at a fantastic cost to the people of this country. I knew I hit the jackpot when supposed "experts" from all over the country began to give me a very hard way to go on this subject. Since that time, the propaganda has been persistent and insidious. In one case a pair of "experts" told newspaper readers they had nothing to worry about, that their "old bills" would be redeemable in new bills at no cost to them. You bet they will be. Those "old bills" according to my figures are worth just four times as much, IF you could trade the new bills in for gold.

Now, as far as I am concerned, news of this kind is front-page stuff but with wire service treatment it gets lumped into something called "Status of Major Legislation" and gets less than one inch of space. But don't get me wrong; I am not being critical of the newspapers which carry my column. I can think of no way that such wire service items might be carefully checked except by specially trained interpreters of the cautiously innocuous material which comes out of Washington. The expense might be prohibitive.

I've followed the progress of this specific thievery for more than three years and have reported on it regularly. The Congress has carried the plan to its culmination and I'm mightly darned glad I have none of your representatives in your government on my conscience. As far as I am concerned, I am finished with this subject. There will be no post mortems, no continued conversation about a deal which should have been of pressing interest and concern to every economist in the country and to every citizen who believes he possesses even one dollar.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

The American Way

Cure for Unemployment

By HARRY BROWNE

Is it possible to have full employment — where everyone who wants to work can get a job?

Yes! This is what our traditional American free enterprise system offers us. In a free economy, there is always a need for someone who wants to work. For evidence of that, just look in the help wanted section of this newspaper.

You may not find the job you want most or the salary you dream of. Who does? But people don't starve to death in America because the capitalist system will always supply some kind of job at a livable wage.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

At the same time, the miraculous private enterprise system automatically takes into consideration the real needs and wants of the consumer. A premium is thereby placed on work that is really needed, while others see lowering wages as an inducement to give up work that is no longer in demand.

This natural supply-and-demand system keeps everyone at work — and keeps production geared to our needs and wants.

Why, then, is there so much unemployment today? What has thrown this great system out of balance?

WAGE FIXING

Basically, there are three main causes of our present unemployment. First, minimum wage laws keep some people — who are not worth the fixed minimum — out of work permanently. The man whose value is only $1 per hour is not going to be hired by a firm that is forced to pay $1.25 per hour.

Second, government unemployment - insurance systems force employers to contribute to a fund that tempts workers to remain unemployed. Why take a less-than-perfect job at $80 per week when you can draw $60 per week for not working?

If the system were voluntary — supported by the worker's own savings — there would be more incentive to work.

Third, the government has granted special privileges to labor union leaders to permit them to force wage rates up to unrealistic levels. As with minimum wage laws, this forces the employer to make up the difference by hiring fewer people.

CAPITALIST SYSTEM

Full employment will come when we reclaim the capitalist system that is our heritage. We should eliminate minimum wage laws, transfer unemployment insurance to a private, voluntary system, and require unions to compete on the basis of service, rather than political advantage.

Then there will be jobs available for all who want them. Production will be geared to the real desires of the people — and can help move our standard of living ever upward.

Freedom is the most beneficial commodity known to man. Why do we trade its blessings for inept political meddling?

SEAT-BELT BOOSTER

To the Editor:

Many thanks for publishing my letter on seat belts as of September 4.

It appears that only one reader was interested enough to present comments, which were solicited. Such apparent indifferentness to carnage and suffering seems deplorable. Having twenty years of professional flying experiences and several in aircraft accident investigation, ground safety, and vehicular safety and accident prevention, the lack of public interest or response reminds me of the fact that all we have to do to prevent accidents and injuries is to eliminate people who "are just no good." Only people cause accidents. (Sometimes, accidents cause people.)

However, many thanks to the one response from Mr. James E. Douglas of 2712 Tremont who at least took the time and effort as a good citizen to express his views. I, of course, and statistics, disagree with him in his answering letter to the editor on "driving hazards." I believe he completely missed the points of my letter, especially that the "inconvenience" or "discomfort" of seat belts is soon overcome if one disciplines himself or herself for a short time and thereafter will actually appreciate the security and comfort of usnig seat belts. "Don't get caught dead sitting on your saet belt," is for those who may have seat belts installed but don't use them.

Mr. Douglas's argument only indicated a certain lack of discipline or willingness to at least try seat belts.

I believe all will agree with Mr. Douglas's basic statement that a death toll drop in highway accidents would result if all drivers were continuously "on their toes." However, it may be that using "seat belts and other gimmicks" is actually a part of "being on one's toes."

Also, wherein Mr. Douglas states that ". . .safety will be found in drawing boards, driving attitudes, and engineering rather than gimmicks," where does he think safety belts and every other safety feature since a wheel first rolled over mankind came from? He might also have clarified "driving attitudes" as proper driving attitudes and safety will result from "proper attitudes" towards seat belts as well, instead of a negative attitude.

In closing, I sincerely hope (and pray, "Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do") that Mr. Douglas and his family, including his three young daughters, as well as other potential die-hards (and believe me, windshields and pavements are hard) and non-believers all get thru life and "prove" my arguments for seat belts (and statistics) wrong.

HELPFUL FIREMAN

To the Editor:

On Oct. 10, 1963, the engineer operating D&RGW Train No. 3, The Missouri Pacific Eagle, was taken seriously ill south of Littleton, Colo. The fireman (helper) administered such aid as possible (no doctor available) and assumed control of the train to Palmer Lake, Colorado. The operator at that point notified the D&RGW agent at Colorado Springs to have ambulance meet train; also, to call a relief engineer.

This is another example of the need and good service of firemen (helpers).

The fireman in this case could have stopped the train miles from communications and let it set for delay. The sick man would have been further jeopardized.

EVIDENCE

To the Editor:

The accumulating evidence is piling up and may no longer be ignored. Man's progenitors, the savage beasts, had laws (of the pack-majority rule); and government (a "pecking order" enforced by beak, fang and claw); but they had no market place for peaceful exchange of goods and ideas. THAT is a human invention!

The market place IS civilization! Those who would destroy it yearn for a return to the bloody chaos of the jungle from whence we came.

COUNTY TAXES

To the Editor:

Re: New court house —higher taxes — no hearing.

Does the El Paso County taxpayer mean to let the Democrats in the county go on running the operation, even tho YOU thought you voted for Republicans in their respective offices? The CONTROL is still in the hands of Democrats, thru the Chief Deputy Foote right back to the Democrat he works under (county clerk). His position allows him to handle personnel problems and you can bet he hires "good Democrats." Also, his office is in with the commissioner and he is allowed to make statements as he did in this article. Where are the commissioners?

I know that this might sound like a mad Republican. Well, I am a registered one. My family were old Gazette Telegraph family — and I know the situation in the county first-hand. I WAS ONE of the deputy county treasurers, working for a Republican but controlled by Democratic rule. Others in the county office know this truth. Why let it continue to exist — to cost the taxpayer? What else do they need to "wake up?"

'PEOPLE'S CHOICE'

To the Editor:

Governor Rockefeller recently stated that both he and Eisenhower did not understand Goldwater's position.

The American people thoroly understand and whole heartedly approve of Goldwater's policies. It's immaterial whether Ike or Rocky either understand or approve. The American people know what they want. They want a man with courage and principle, who sincerely believes in Constitutional government. We do not want the meddling interference of self-appointed "king makers." The people have made it plain they want to vote for their man this time.

Goldwater is the people's choice.

Ike and Rocky should listen and keep still.

COSTLY 'RESEARCH'

To the Editor:

These quotes might be of interest to your readers, on what taxpayers have spent for a myriad of projects. For instance, as reported in the Manion letter:

1) Evolution of tree frogs, $10,800.

2) Functional anatomy of the jaw apparatus in the Passerine birds, $32,700.

3; Study of native Australian rats, $45,800.

4) Chromosomes of the chipmunks, $12,600.

5) Study of finches and mockingbirds, $46,600.

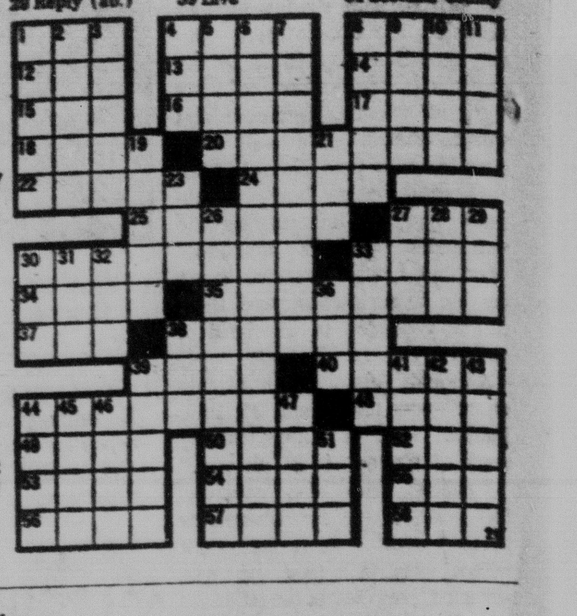
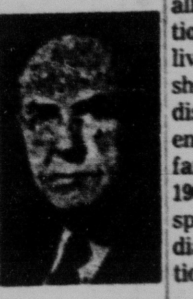
Answer to Previous Puzzle



It's Up to You

Little People Pay

By H. E. KERSHNER, L.H.D.



Not many American know that the people in the lowest income bracket — 20 per cent pay 86 per cent of the dollars Uncle Sam collects from the individual income tax. Sweden is often cited as a successful welfare state, but there the low income people pay about the same proportion of income tax money.

The low bracket of the individual income tax in Sweden is 10 per cent and from that bracket comes 70 per cent of the individual income tax revenue collected by the Swedish government. The next bracket, 10 per cent to 20 per cent supplies 15 per cent of the total. The progressively higher brackets of 25, 30, 36, 41 and up to 45 per cent produce an additional 13 per cent of the total, while the brackets over 45 per cent up to the top brackets in Sweden of 65 per cent produce only slightly over 1 per cent of the total individual income tax return. If all progressive brackets above 45 per cent were abolished, the loss in revenue would be only slightly over 1 per cent of the individual income tax revenue and only one-quarter of 1 per cent of the total revenue of the Swedish government from all sources.

Thus, it is true in Sweden as in America, that the higher income tax brackets drain off most of the money that otherwise would be available as risk capital for the financing of new business ventures. In other words, we are eating our seed corn and nobody will ever know how much new capital would supply jobs for millions of unemployed persons and raise the standard of living for us all if the progressive income tax did not dry up the source from which more jobs and greater prosperity otherwise would flow.

THE INDIANS

Do you know that the Bureau of Indian Affairs, staffed with 15 thousand employees, is spending annually $725 for every Indian man, woman, and child? Nevertheless, the formerly self-reliant, self - supporting Indians have been reduced by all this regimentation and direction which has so shackled their lives, to a pitiful condition of shocking poverty, ignorance, disease, and complete dependence. That is an example of welfarism fully developed. Since 1900, $3 billion dollars has been spent to reduce 380 thousand Indians to this wretched condition.

DEPRESSED

When the Area Redevelopment Administration was started, there were 103 so-called depressed areas. Now, after the expenditure of hundreds of millions on uneconomic enterprises that often duplicate and unfairly compete with the same types of industries elsewhere, there are 1,000 eligible areas and more are being created all the while. Keep this up long enough and the whole country will become a depressed area.

Question Box

Question No. 352: "Are there no exceptions to the assumption that it is always harmful, in the long run, individually or collectively to initiate force against another human being or group?"

Answer:

We can think of no exceptions. Therefore, we regard it as a moral principle.

One individual has raised a question that if a man had some property and the neighbors built close to him on both sides and they were keeping a firetrap, wouldn't he then have the right to have the city or the county protect him from this hazard?

It would seem that the rational answer to that would be that if his judgment was so poor that he got into such a mess, he shouldn't ask the men who were frugal and had foresight to help bail him out. If somebody is bailing you out of trouble all the time, you are not careful. If, however, you have to pay the cost of either paying more insurance or building a wall around your place to protect your property, or having to sell your property at a loss, you would then have a better chance to learn to be more careful in what and where you buy next. Undoubtedly, there would be much more harm resulting if the frugal people were required to bail you out of your trouble, then if you suffered the loss as an individual. It is the law of nature that men must reap what they sow. You sow trouble when you buy property with a narrow lot and build close to the line so someone else can build a firetrap on his land and endanger your property.

Of course, the usual answer is that it is the poor man that suffers. But he is poor because he didn't have the foresight or energy to produce, sacrifice and save. If the man without foresight is to be just as well off as the man with foresight, then there would not be much incentive for working, saving, and planning our own lives. Planning one's own life is the best way to develop it. Having official planners to protect you is the best way to destroy your life.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

A Memorial Against the U.N.

We can't begin to know whether or not the move will prove effective, but one is being made to cause the Colorado State Legislature to "investigate" the United Nations.

Former Major Arch E. Roberts has spearheaded an attack against the U.N. in this state and is calling for a memorial from the state legislative body by means of which Congress can be apprised of Colorado's rejection of the United Nations Charter, which, in certain respects, has superseded the Constitution of the United States.

At this moment, it is too early to know whether or not the legislature will pick up the gauntlet dropped at its feet. If it does, we surmise that Roberts will offer some fairly conclusive evidence to the effect that the U.N. is little more than a forerunner of a one-world government which would have the effect of reducing the sovereignty of this nation in some kind of a political global melting pot.

To bear out the former major's contentions we are quoting from the booklet, "Should We Strengthen the United Nations?" by Dr. V. Orval Watts:

"The Truman administration labeled the war in Korea a 'police action,' which it professed to undertake at the bidding of the U.N. and with authority conferred upon the President by the U.N. This pretense was to avoid getting the consent of Congress for a declaration of war as the United States Constitution provided. It was also easier to rally American support for the war in a faraway land by representing it as a fulfillment of our treaty obligations to an organization supposed to be 'mankind's best hope for peace.'

"This action by the President implies that the U.N. Charter has taken the place of the Constitution as 'the supreme law of the land' for the United States. If joining the U.N. did this . . . and many jurists and a number of court decisions say it did . . .the senators who voted to ratify the U.N. Charter in 1945 unknowingly violated their oath of office and subverted the Constitution. At any rate, President Truman spoke and acted as if it were true, not only in sending United States military forces into war without the consent of Congress, but later in seizing the steel mills. This and many similar instances of wartime erosion of the Constitution in 1861-65, in World War I and II, and in the Korean War show how war fosters the practices of unlimited government or 'democratic Caesarism.' These costs of American interventionism and U.N. membership cannot be measured in money terms, but they are real and very high. . .

"To legalize the council's action, therefore, and to remove the obstacle of the veto for the future, the U.N. Assembly in November, 1950, passed the 'Uniting for Peace Resolution.' This resolution stated that, if the Security Council fails to act in regard to a reported breach of the peace, the assembly could, by a two-thirds vote, take the necessary action (i.e., exercise the powers given the Security Council by the Charter.) To take charge of the troops in such a case the assembly set up a Collective Measures Committee corresponding in powers and duties to the Military Staff Committee in the Security Council (on which the Soviet Chief of Staff has a permanent place.) Finally, to give the U.N. Assembly the power as well as the authority of a world government, the United States delegation urged that the U.N. states provide troops to be kept ready for the orders of the assembly and the Collective Committee."

It will be a matter of considerable interest to see whether or not such a move as Roberts proposes will be accepted by the legislature and whether or not something comes of it.

There is no doubt in the minds of serious persons who have examined the Charter and the record of the U.N. that they pose a constant danger to the peace of the world.

It would be a most fascinating development if the state legislature of this state decided to do something about it.

To Defy

Freedom of speech doesn't mean that you have a right to speak up in agreement with popular view. Even in the most backward and regimented countries the sorriest slave can do that. Freedom of speech means your right to speak up against established opinion; to challenge that which has been long accepted; to defy even the authoritarian position with logic, reason and persuasion.

An 18 Per Cent Increase In Local Taxes

In a recent speech by Governor John Love of Colorado, he mentioned that there was a possibility of a tax revolt on the part of the people of this nation. He even suggested that if it came, it would make the "Boston Tea Party seem like a mild disagreement."

Perhaps the governor was in the "know" as to what was brewing here in Colorado Springs. Perhaps not. But certainly something is brewing in the halls of the mighty.

Without the formality of a prior public hearing, the county has just moved to increase the general mill levy for the purpose of building a new court house. Of course we have a new court house annex. But the old building won't do any more if we are to keep up with political ambitions. Also, since the city has a new jail, the county is going to have to have a new jail, too, isn't it? You wouldn't want the prisoners of the county to feel a lack of status, would you?

For some years this newspaper has pointed out the folly of succumbing at every point to each new tax demand. Others have chided us for our lack of civic pride; for our concern "only with dollars"; for our failure to be "forward looking."

The trouble is we have been forward looking. The situation which now looms over Colorado Springs and El Paso County taxpayers is one which we predicted many times.

So, hang onto your hats. And your billfolds. In fact, you can look lovingly at whatever remains in the latter, for it is about to depart.

The local government officials have decreed a tax increase for taxpayers in this city which will boost their taxes next year by 18.20 per cent. That is not a mill levy boost, that is a per cent figure. It means that local home owners are going to have to pay nearly one fifth more in taxes beginning almost at once.

Consider what this means. If your taxes last year were $100, you will pay, next year, $118.20. If your taxes last year were $300, you will be required to pay right at $354.60. If your taxes were $1,000, you will have to pay $1,180.

If you project the curve of recent increases, beginning say in 1950, you will find that by 1974 the curve will go right off the board. In fact, you won't have money enough left to buy food for yourself and your family.

We have warned and warned that all of this growth of local government would cost money. Some way, our opponents have lulled you into a sense of false security, causing you to believe that others than you would have to pay for it. But you will pay. And you will pay and pay.

The matter is not entirely decided. You will still have a chance to say no on some things, such as the new proposal being made regarding new parks and playgrounds and the projected expenses thereto. But you will have little to say about the new courthouse or the new county jail. That has almost been decided. So have a number of other items.

We were talking with a most knowledgeable man the other evening, a man who has the best interests of this community at heart. The "projected growth" of Colorado Springs came into the conversation, and our friend was not optimistic. He said, in effect, "Don't ask me to forecast what Colorado Springs will be like in another fifty years, you wouldn't like it." He tied his gloom to the question of water, and the fact that we cannot support a city larger than the water supply will reach. We'll join in his gloom but, instead, on the grounds that you can't build government larger than the people's dollars will permit.

GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

Most earnestly, I hope the readers of these newspapers will give this column their closest attention. The money involved is your own! I will quote exactly from an item appearing in the Santa Ana Register, and probably many other daily newspapers, in October 7, 1963 under this subheading: "Washington, (UPI)—Status of Major Legislation." You will find an item under "enacted" which covers two enacted items: military pay and silver.

Under the military pay item, kindly note that the information does not mention that a pay raise for non-military agencies was included. In this column on a previous occasion I called these to your attention.

Under "Silver," please give your close attention to the following quotation, as printed; "To combat shortages of silver for coins, Congress gave administration authority it requested to replace existing silver-backed $1.00 bills with gold-backed $1.00 bills."

IF a shortage of silver exists, in fact, it is simply because the government refuses to buy silver. Plenty of silver is available with which to manufacture coins or anything else and large purchases of silver from the mining industry would greatly stimulate mining but this is not the really important part of the news item.

The "existing silver backed $1.00 bills" bear this statement "IN SILVER PAYABLE TO THE BEARER ON DEMAND." This means that the silver-backed $1.00 bills are backed by $1.00 worth of silver; that the government guarantees to give you silver in the value of one dollar for the paper currency. There is no prohibition against the public ownership of silver, obviously, since you have coins which contain silver and the news item states there is a shortage of silver for coins.

Currency which is not backed by silver is backed by a gold reserve, legally, to the value of 25 per cent of the face value of the currency. Now, take a close look at what the government is doing to you with the consent of the Congress and at the request of the present administration which you elected to public office. The government, YOUR government, if you prefer to call it that, will substitute for $1.00 silver certificates, each of which is worth an amount of silver worth the value of $1.00 in silver, which it is legal for you to own, a certificate which will be redeemable only with another identical certificate, which will be backed, if the status quo persists, with a gold value of only 25 per cent of the face value of the paper certificate. But, that's just the beginning.

The new one dollar bills will not be redeemable in the value of even 25 cents in gold because you are prohibited from owning minted gold.

To put it another way; your $1.00 silver certificate, redeemable in silver in the value of one dollar, will be replaced by a piece of paper, redeemable in another piece of paper, backed by a reserve of 25 per cent in gold, which you are prohibited from owning. You will sacrifice one dollar in a precious metal you are permitted to own, for a piece of paper which will be backed by something you are prohibited from owning but if you were permitted to own it, the value would be only 25 cents.

More than three years ago, I warned readers of my columns to beware of what was going to happen to them, their savings, life insurance policies and investments and anything else of value, when government went to work on the silver certificates, at a fantastic cost to the people of this country. I knew I hit the jackpot when supposed "experts" from all over the country began to give me a very hard way to go on this subject. Since that time, the propaganda has been persistent and insidious. In one case a pair of "experts" told newspaper readers they had nothing to worry about, that their "old bills" would be redeemable in new bills at no cost to them. You bet they will be. Those "old bills" according to my figures are worth just four times as much, IF you could trade the new bills in for gold.

Now, as far as I am concerned, news of this kind is front-page stuff but with wire service treatment it gets lumped into something called "Status of Major Legislation" and gets less than one inch of space. But don't get me wrong; I am not being critical of the newspapers which carry my column. I can think of no way that such wire service items might be carefully checked except by specially trained interpreters of the cautiously innocuous material which comes out of Washington. The expense might be prohibitive.

I've followed the progress of this specific thievery for more than three years and have reported on it regularly. The Congress has carried the plan to its culmination and I'm mightly darned glad I have none of your representatives in your government on my conscience. As far as I am concerned, I am finished with this subject. There will be no post mortems, no continued conversation about a deal which should have been of pressing interest and concern to every economist in the country and to every citizen who believes he possesses even one dollar.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Cure for Unemployment

By HARRY BROWNE

Is it possible to have full employment — where everyone who wants to work can get a job?

Yes! This is what our traditional American free enterprise system offers us. In a free economy, there is always a need for someone who wants to work. For evidence of that, just look in the help wanted section of this newspaper.

You may not find the job you want most or the salary you dream of. Who does? But people don't starve to death in America because the capitalist system will always supply some kind of job at a livable wage.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

At the same time, the miraculous private enterprise system automatically takes into consideration the real needs and wants of the consumer. A premium is thereby placed on work that is really needed, while others see lowering wages as an inducement to give up work that is no longer in demand.

This natural supply-and-demand system keeps everyone at work — and keeps production geared to our needs and wants.

Why, then, is there so much unemployment today? What has thrown this great system out of balance?

WAGE FIXING

Basically, there are three main causes of our present unemployment. First, minimum wage laws keep some people — who are not worth the fixed minimum — out of work permanently. The man whose value is only $1 per hour is not going to be hired by a firm that is forced to pay $1.25 per hour.

Second, government unemployment - insurance systems force employers to contribute to a fund that tempts workers to remain unemployed. Why take a less-than-perfect job at $80 per week when you can draw $60 per week for not working?

If the system were voluntary — supported by the worker's own savings — there would be more incentive to work.

Third, the government has granted special privileges to labor union leaders to permit them to force wage rates up to unrealistic levels. As with minimum wage laws, this forces the employer to make up the difference by hiring fewer people.

CAPITALIST SYSTEM

Full employment will come when we reclaim the capitalist system that is our heritage. We should eliminate minimum wage laws, transfer unemployment insurance to a private, voluntary system, and require unions to compete on the basis of service, rather than political advantage.

Then there will be jobs available for all who want them. Production will be geared to the real desires of the people — and can help move our standard of living ever upward.

Freedom is the most beneficial commodity known to man. Why do we trade its blessings for inept political meddling?

SEAT-BELT BOOSTER

To the Editor:

Many thanks for publishing my letter on seat belts as of September 4.

It appears that only one reader was interested enough to present comments, which were solicited. Such apparent indifferentness to carnage and suffering seems deplorable. Having twenty years of professional flying experiences and several in aircraft accident investigation, ground safety, and vehicular safety and accident prevention, the lack of public interest or response reminds me of the fact that all we have to do to prevent accidents and injuries is to eliminate people who "are just no good." Only people cause accidents. (Sometimes, accidents cause people.)

However, many thanks to the one response from Mr. James E. Douglas of 2712 Tremont who at least took the time and effort as a good citizen to express his views. I, of course, and statistics, disagree with him in his answering letter to the editor on "driving hazards." I believe he completely missed the points of my letter, especially that the "inconvenience" or "discomfort" of seat belts is soon overcome if one disciplines himself or herself for a short time and thereafter will actually appreciate the security and comfort of usnig seat belts. "Don't get caught dead sitting on your saet belt," is for those who may have seat belts installed but don't use them.

Mr. Douglas's argument only indicated a certain lack of discipline or willingness to at least try seat belts.

I believe all will agree with Mr. Douglas's basic statement that a death toll drop in highway accidents would result if all drivers were continuously "on their toes." However, it may be that using "seat belts and other gimmicks" is actually a part of "being on one's toes."

Also, wherein Mr. Douglas states that ". . .safety will be found in drawing boards, driving attitudes, and engineering rather than gimmicks," where does he think safety belts and every other safety feature since a wheel first rolled over mankind came from? He might also have clarified "driving attitudes" as proper driving attitudes and safety will result from "proper attitudes" towards seat belts as well, instead of a negative attitude.

In closing, I sincerely hope (and pray, "Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do") that Mr. Douglas and his family, including his three young daughters, as well as other potential die-hards (and believe me, windshields and pavements are hard) and non-believers all get thru life and "prove" my arguments for seat belts (and statistics) wrong.

HELPFUL FIREMAN

To the Editor:

On Oct. 10, 1963, the engineer operating D&RGW Train No. 3, The Missouri Pacific Eagle, was taken seriously ill south of Littleton, Colo. The fireman (helper) administered such aid as possible (no doctor available) and assumed control of the train to Palmer Lake, Colorado. The operator at that point notified the D&RGW agent at Colorado Springs to have ambulance meet train; also, to call a relief engineer.

This is another example of the need and good service of firemen (helpers).

The fireman in this case could have stopped the train miles from communications and let it set for delay. The sick man would have been further jeopardized.

EVIDENCE

To the Editor:

The accumulating evidence is piling up and may no longer be ignored. Man's progenitors, the savage beasts, had laws (of the pack-majority rule); and government (a "pecking order" enforced by beak, fang and claw); but they had no market place for peaceful exchange of goods and ideas. THAT is a human invention!

The market place IS civilization! Those who would destroy it yearn for a return to the bloody chaos of the jungle from whence we came.

COUNTY TAXES

To the Editor:

Re: New court house —higher taxes — no hearing.

Does the El Paso County taxpayer mean to let the Democrats in the county go on running the operation, even tho YOU thought you voted for Republicans in their respective offices? The CONTROL is still in the hands of Democrats, thru the Chief Deputy Foote right back to the Democrat he works under (county clerk). His position allows him to handle personnel problems and you can bet he hires "good Democrats." Also, his office is in with the commissioner and he is allowed to make statements as he did in this article. Where are the commissioners?

I know that this might sound like a mad Republican. Well, I am a registered one. My family were old Gazette Telegraph family — and I know the situation in the county first-hand. I WAS ONE of the deputy county treasurers, working for a Republican but controlled by Democratic rule. Others in the county office know this truth. Why let it continue to exist — to cost the taxpayer? What else do they need to "wake up?"

'PEOPLE'S CHOICE'

To the Editor:

Governor Rockefeller recently stated that both he and Eisenhower did not understand Goldwater's position.

The American people thoroly understand and whole heartedly approve of Goldwater's policies. It's immaterial whether Ike or Rocky either understand or approve. The American people know what they want. They want a man with courage and principle, who sincerely believes in Constitutional government. We do not want the meddling interference of self-appointed "king makers." The people have made it plain they want to vote for their man this time.

Goldwater is the people's choice.

Ike and Rocky should listen and keep still.

COSTLY 'RESEARCH'

To the Editor:

These quotes might be of interest to your readers, on what taxpayers have spent for a myriad of projects. For instance, as reported in the Manion letter:

1) Evolution of tree frogs, $10,800.

2) Functional anatomy of the jaw apparatus in the Passerine birds, $32,700.

3; Study of native Australian rats, $45,800.

4) Chromosomes of the chipmunks, $12,600.

5) Study of finches and mockingbirds, $46,600.

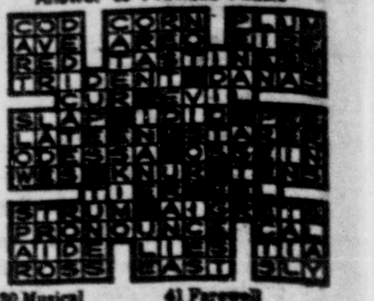
Answer to Previous Puzzle



It's Up to You

By H. E. KERSHNER, L.H.D.

Not many American know that the people in the lowest income bracket — 20 per cent pay 86 per cent of the dollars Uncle Sam collects from the individual income tax. Sweden is often cited as a successful welfare state, but there the low income people pay about the same proportion of income tax money.

The low bracket of the individual income tax in Sweden is 10 per cent and from that bracket comes 70 per cent of the individual income tax revenue collected by the Swedish government. The next bracket, 10 per cent to 20 per cent supplies 15 per cent of the total. The progressively higher brackets of 25, 30, 36, 41 and up to 45 per cent produce an additional 13 per cent of the total, while the brackets over 45 per cent up to the top brackets in Sweden of 65 per cent produce only slightly over 1 per cent of the total individual income tax return.

If all progressive brackets above 45 per cent were abolished, the loss in revenue would be only slightly over 1 per cent of the individual income tax revenue and only one-quarter of 1 per cent of the total revenue of the Swedish government from all sources.

Thus, it is true in Sweden as in America, that the higher income tax brackets drain off most of the money that otherwise would be available as risk capital for the financing of new business ventures. In other words, we are eating our seed corn and nobody will ever know how much new capital would supply jobs for millions of unemployed persons and raise the standard of living for us all if the progressive income tax did not dry up the source from which more jobs and greater prosperity otherwise would flow.

THE INDIANS

Do you know that the Bureau of Indian Affairs, staffed with 15 thousand employees, is spending annually $725 for every Indian man, woman, and child? Nevertheless, the formerly self-reliant, self - supporting Indians have been reduced by all this regimentation and direction which has so shackled their lives, to a pitiful condition of shocking poverty, ignorance, disease, and complete dependence. That is an example of welfarism fully developed. Since 1900, $3 billion dollars has been spent to reduce 380 thousand Indians to this wretched condition.

DEPRESSED

When the Area Redevelopment Administration was started, there were 163 so-called depressed areas. Now, after the expenditure of hundreds of millions on uneconomic enterprises that often duplicate and unfairly compete with the same types of industries elsewhere, there are 1,000 eligible areas and more are being created all the while. Keep this up long enough and the whole country will become a depressed area.

Question Box

Question No. 352: "Are there no exceptions to the assumption that it is always harmful, in the long run, individually or collectively to initiate force against another human being or group?"

Answer:

We can think of no exceptions. Therefore, we regard it as a moral principle.

One individual has raised a question that if a man had some property and the neighbors built close to him on both sides and they were keeping a firetrap, wouldn't he then have the right to have the city or the county protect him from this hazard?

It would seem that the rational answer to that would be that if his judgment was so poor that he got into such a mess, he shouldn't ask the men who were frugal and had foresight to help bail him out. If somebody is bailing you out of trouble all the time, you are not careful. If, however, you have to pay the cost of either paying more insurance or building a wall around your place to protect your property, or having to sell your property at a loss, you would then have a better chance to learn to be more careful in what and where you buy next. Undoubtedly, there would be much more harm resulting if the frugal people were required to bail you out of your trouble, then if you suffered the loss as an individual. It is the law of nature that men must reap what they sow. You sow trouble when you buy property with a narrow lot and build close to the line so someone else can build a firetrap on his land and endanger your property.

Of course, the usual answer is that it is the poor man that suffers. But he is poor because he didn't have the foresight or energy to produce, sacrifice and save. If the man without foresight is to be just as well off as the man with foresight, then there would not be much incentive for working, saving, and planning our own lives. Planning one's own life is the best way to develop it. Having official planners to protect you is the best way to destroy your life.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Looking At Hollywood

AN ENIGMA DISPUTED: JEAN ARTHUR NO RECLUSE

HOLLYWOOD — Jean Arthur has long been an enigma to Hollywood. Because she could write her own ticket in movies and didn't, all kinds of stories were circulated — she'd become a recluse, she was ill, she was this or that. I last interviewed her 15 years ago, when she told me she'd like nothing better than spending the rest of her life in school, I wrote: "The girl is serious. Don't be surprised if you don't see her name on any marquees in the future."

Now there's a possibility that if she finds a part she likes, Jean might return. Producer Bill Frye visited her in Carmel and left a copy of "Mother Climbed Trees" by Cynthia Lindsay. It's a comedy — she won't consider anything on the serious side. "Jean would be ideal," says Bill, "along with either Hayley Mills or Patty Duke."

And here's a bit on the personal side that puts the lie to those rumors that Jean has become an incurable recluse. She entertained 26 people for dinner in her lovely home and Japanese garden. Cooked it herself. Among her guests were the Boris Karloffs (Boris and Jean did "Peter Pan" on Broadway), a professor from University of California, a cartoonist from San Francisco, an artist a buyer, and friends from Carmel. She's gay, happy, and hasn't aged.

Jill St. John and Lance Reventlow agreed on the property settlement and she's waiting for a court date to start the divorce. I tried to pry out how much of a settlement she's getting.

"But I don't want to make that public," said Jill. "Lance didn't seem unhappy to give it to me."

"You'll have to wait a year before you marry," I said.

"The logistics of that hadn't occured to me," said Jill, who classifies Frank Sinatra as her boy friend—not a marriage possibility.

She spent several days in New York. Sinatra was there, too. Toots Shore pooh-poohs those stories that Frank pushed him when he fell and broke his wrist: "He's pal of mine. I was sitting on a chair and lost my balance. I broke two bones in my wrist which makes me a one-armed lover."

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

(© 1963: By the Chicago Tribune)

AN ENIGMA DISPUTED: JEAN ARTHUR NO RECLUSE

HOLLYWOOD — Jean Arthur has long been an enigma to Hollywood. Because she could write her own ticket in movies and didn't, all kinds of stories were circulated — she'd become a recluse, she was ill, she was this or that. I last interviewed her 15 years ago, when she told me she'd like nothing better than spending the rest of her life in school, I wrote: "The girl is serious. Don't be surprised if you don't see her name on any marquees in the future."

Now there's a possibility that if she finds a part she likes, Jean might return. Producer Bill Frye visited her in Carmel and left a copy of "Mother Climbed Trees" by Cynthia Lindsay. It's a comedy — she won't consider anything on the serious side. "Jean would be ideal," says Bill, "along with either Hayley Mills or Patty Duke."

And here's a bit on the personal side that puts the lie to those rumors that Jean has become an incurable recluse. She entertained 26 people for dinner in her lovely home and Japanese garden. Cooked it herself. Among her guests were the Boris Karloffs (Boris and Jean did "Peter Pan" on Broadway), a professor from University of California, a cartoonist from San Francisco, an artist a buyer, and friends from Carmel. She's gay, happy, and hasn't aged.

Jill St. John and Lance Reventlow agreed on the property settlement and she's waiting for a court date to start the divorce. I tried to pry out how much of a settlement she's getting.

"But I don't want to make that public," said Jill. "Lance didn't seem unhappy to give it to me."

"You'll have to wait a year before you marry," I said.

"The logistics of that hadn't occured to me," said Jill, who classifies Frank Sinatra as her boy friend—not a marriage possibility.

She spent several days in New York. Sinatra was there, too. Toots Shore pooh-poohs those stories that Frank pushed him when he fell and broke his wrist: "He's pal of mine. I was sitting on a chair and lost my balance. I broke two bones in my wrist which makes me a one-armed lover."

Household Hints

United Press International

Before buying a washer, make sure the home has adequate wiring and water pressure. Hot water — at least 140 degrees—is necessary to release the full cleaning power built into soap and detergent products.

Most silks are machine-washable in warm water depending on garment construction.

A thumb protector prevents cuts and infections and is good to use when preparing vegetables and fruits.

The fat around chops as well as that around steaks should be slashed at intervals before the meat is broiled to prevent the meat from curling.

Queen's Baby to Don Hand-Me-Down Togs

By MARGARET SAVILLE
United Press International

(LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth, expecting her fourth child in February or March, won't make a hermit out of herself while awaiting the baby.

Until close to delivery day she will continue to drive out to visit friends, go to art galleries, check on her racing stables, even may do a little shopping.

From the physical standpoint, the Queen appears to have few worries. Her doctors have pronounced her in excellent health and forsee no difficulties.

It's almost certain Elizabeth won't be shopping for maternity or baby clothes. This woman, one of probably the richest women in the world, makes do.

At Buckingham Palace, for example, the maternity wardrobe from her last pregnancy is being made ready for use again.

And practically everything that served baby number three, Prince Andrew, will come back into service in the nursery, including stacks of old but good nappies -- as the British call diapers.

The royal household, as other households in a similar situation, has the matter of names for baby under discussion.

Prior to Andrew's birth, it was believed that if the child had been a girl, the queen would have chosen Caroline as the first name. So if it's a girl this time, Caroline is a likely choice: Mary also is likely to be one of the names given a girl, after the queen's well - loved grandmother.

For a boy, James is believed a favorite choice and it has royal precedence. Rupert has been mentioned, as well.

Whatever the boy's name, he will not — at home or anywhere in the queen's presence — be called by nickname. "James" will never be "Jim" within the queen's hearing.

The sovereign disapproves of the popular habit of shrinking names. She has been known to become furious when her elder son, Prince Charles, has been called "Charlie."

She once remarked to a friend that one good thing about her daughter's name Anne, was that it could not be "spoiled." When the friend gave the laughing response — "What about Annie?" — her highness was furious.

Now that all her official engagements have been cancelled until after the child is born, the queen's daily activity falls pretty much into a quiet routine.

Her mornings are spent at her desk and in consultation with staff. Then before lunch usually will come a walk — in the gardens when she is at Windsor or Buckingham Palace; on the moors when she is in Scotland.

A rest period comes after lunch. Often this time is spent reading. Evenings at home are devoted to family talk, listening to radio or watching television.

When she's alone in the evenings, the queen likes to work an occasional jig-saw puzzle — the more complicated the better.

Foreign Language Conference to Be Held in Pueblo

The luncheon for the Foreign Language Conference of the Colorado Education Association will take place at 1 p.m. Thursday, at the Townhouse Hotel in Pueblo, with Mrs. Anna Taussig presiding. Mrs. Angela Biondi is vice chairman and Mrs. Monique Amerman is secretary of the conference.

The luncheon speaker is Dr. Harold S. Karr from Southern Colorado State College. A panel discussion will follow consisting of Mr. Daniel Martinez, Mrs. Darlene Johnson, and Mrs. Angela Biondi. They will present their views on teaching methods on the high school, junior high, and elementary levels, respectively. Miss Kathy Nunez will provide music entertainment during the luncheon.

A visit to the language department of the Southern Colorado State College is planned afterwards, with prepared student tapes ready for the use of individual teachers.

Books Bound To Please Most Palates

NEW YORK (UPI) — New publications of special interest to women:

"The Art of Regional Italian Cooking" by Maria Lo Pinto explores traditional dishes from Sicilian - style chicken cooked with oil, lemon juice, basil, oregano and garlic to goulash Friuli style, a Po Valley specialty made with nutmeg-seasoned beef in tomato and red wine sauce. Lots of pleasant surprises for those who think Italian cookery is largely pasta, veal and seafood.

"The Art of Greek Cookery" by the women of St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church, Hempstead, L.I., N.Y., is a rare find. It adapts the classic, ancient and ageless cookery of Greece to modern U.S. kitchens without sacrificing the flavors and textures of the originals.

"The Easy Way to Chinese Cooking" by Beverly Lee lives up to its title. Mrs. Lee, who teaches at China Institute, New York, devotes nearly one third of her book to the whys and hows of Chinese cookery, including useful sketches of ingredients and utensils.

"The Complete Book of Desserts" by Ann Seranne also gets a gold star for explaining clearly why certain techniques are necessary to the often difficult art of making desserts, especially baked goods in which preciseness is essential.

"The Chinese - Kosher Cookbook" by Ruth and Bob Grossman is — especially to one who understands Yiddish — entertainment as well as a cooking guide. The title is not necessarily a joke. Modern Kosher cooking consists of traditional Jewish food such as gefulte fish (fish balls) plus foods of many nations modified where necessary to conform to Jewish dietary laws.

Local Women Attend Catholic Meeting, Denver

Officials of the Catholic Daughters of America in Colorado held a two-day conference in Denver on Oct. 12 and 13. Attending from the Pikes Peak region were Mrs. Don Emrich, grand regent of Court Holy Family of Security; Mrs. A. Saidv, grand regent of Court St. Mary in Colorado Springs, Mrs. M. S. Maddock, state secretary; Mrs. Frank Smentowski, district deputy; Mrs. Anne Barrett, Mrs. Mary Bradley, Mrs. Anna Daily, Mrs. Florence Haas.

A banquet was held at the Albany Hotel Saturday evening. George E. Evans, chaplain of Court St., Rita of Denver, spoke on the relation of science and scriptures, and some of the anate from the Ecumenical Council now in session. After the dinner an informal meeting was held and many matters of immediate interest were discussed.

The women attended 8 o'clock mass at the Cathedral after which a brunch was served by members of Court St. Rita at their club house. A business meeting followed at which time many items were discussed and future plans formulated. Among the items of interest to all members was the decision by popular vote to hold the next biennial convention at Durango on April 18-19, 1964.

'SOG-PIP' Pack Helps Gran Show Off Tiny Tots

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NORWALK, Conn. (UPI) — You're expected to ask a question when a woman pulls a "sog-pip" pack on you — at lunch, on the bus, or at the card table.

She chuckles and tells you it stands for "silly old grandmother . . . pictures in purse." You chuckle and do the next most natural thing. You ask to see the pictures. You can't escape.

Producing the memory books makes work for more than 200 employes here — many of them women. Much of the work is done by hand. The titles include more than 60 in baby and wedding record books alone.

Sales, up 500 per cent since 1948, indicate that sentimental attitudes are on the upswing. But not just in the United States. The firm exports to 50 nations.

The wedding books started when the firm printed wedding certificates in 1872. Pages were added through the years to record other facts about the marriage.

The baby books commenced with the printing of baptismal certificates. Parents wanted to record other pertinent and sentimental information — so the books grew.

Eventually, diaries were added to the line. A typical title: "My Him Book." This record book gives young misses a place to sing the praises of young men in their lives.

"We tried a humorous wedding book once," Bowman said. "It was a real dog. People don't think marriage is funny."

A memory book for dogs is on the drawing board. It's something like a baby book — with places for locks of the dog's hair, paw prints, health record, a worming chart.

It will include a place for the owner to record famous firsts in his dog's life. Sample: "The first time I saw a cat, I . . ."

The firm hasn't given any thought to doing a memory book for cats. Demand doesn't seem to be as great.

Bowman said one of 10 brides used wedding books a decade ago. Now five of six use them. Ditto for the popularity of baby books.

Unlike the plain, half - dozen paged pioneer books before the turn of the century, contemporary versions have padded covers, gold imprints and many-colored sketches inside.

Some covers are studded with jewels. A few of the boxes contain music boxes that play love's old sweet songs when opened.

The spoofiest baby books were written by Helen Berry Moore of Portland, Ore.

The "I'm a Boy" and "I'm a Girl" books treat growing up a funny way. Sample: "From now on my Mom will be saying I ate everything. Here are the facts, Mom." There's space for likes and dislikes.

A "Happy Birthday book" gives the mother a chance to record the facts about pregnancy. She's allowed to put down her before and after weight in code, if she insists.

There's also a place to record all the costs—the cigars, candy, maternity clothes, baby scale, crib.

"This is just the beginning, Dad. Who says the best things in life are free?"

Bowman said one of the fastest sellers is "The Greatest of These is Love," now in its fifth printing. It was compiled by Mrs. Audrey McDaniel, of Arlington, Va., when she was bed-ridden.

The inspirational book contains familiar Bible passages and original poems and thoughts.

Sales of these are leaping ahead, too—a sign of the renewed interest in things spiritual.

Bowman said no books undergo as many changes through the years as do the baby books.

"Changes in medicine have made it necessary for us to consult with a pediatrician each time we revise," he said.

"The earlier books contained places to record sunlamp treatments and doses of cod liver oil.

"Now it's immunizations, growth charts and allergies."

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Mommies:

Halloween does roll around! For those who give parties at this time of the year I would like to pass on a few ideas I learned from some of my neighbors:

Buy some oranges and cut a small piece off the end of each one. Set aside these "tops" because you're going to need them later.

Take a sharp knife and cut out the inside of the oranges . . . then take a spoon and scrape out all of the remaining pulp.

These shells may be filled with scoops of ice cream, gelatin, or . . . if you are in a real party mood they may even be filled with tuna fish salad, or just about anything.

If you are going to use ice cream, put the orange shells into your refrigerator and chill them. After they are thoroughly cold . . . scoop some ice cream or sherbert into them and serve; or, you may add the "tops" you cut off. Makes it look like a hat on a clown.

Then take an ice pick and punch a hole in the top of these "caps". Put little birthday candles in each hole. Light the candles before serving and bring them in the dining room on a tray and just watch your guests gasp. . .

For dessert, about the yummiest thing I have found to put in these orange shells is orange sherbert. And, ladies, if you use orange sherbert do not scoop out too much of the pulp from the inside. This lends more flavor.

I also discovered, after making this dessert about five times, that if you cut off a "minute" slice from the bottom of the orange it will sit flat on the plate. However, these may be served in sherbert glasses, small bowls or on your dessert plates.

To make it really festive, sometimes I let the sherbert melt slightly and add the orange pieces (after cutting them into small bits) to the sherbert before re-freezing. I then put the orange sherbert back inside the shell. Wow! —

Happy eating. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have three children, two in grade school and one pre-schooler.

When school started my youngest child felt very lonesome and did not have much of an appetite after the others went off to schol with their lunch bags and books. Then I hit upon an idea. . .

When packing lunch for the two children who went to school, I pack a third lunch—yes, even down to the brown paper bag and napkin.

How very pleased my preschooler is, and how grown up he feels to have his own lunch . . . just like his older brother and sister!

Now he eagerly looks forward to lunch time when he gets his lunch bag from the refrigerator. —Mary Taillard

Dear Heloise:

Getting rid of leaves is easy if you collect them into piles and then rake them onto an old tarpaulin, plastic cloth or shower curtain. (This is much easier than using a basket and it saves picking up the leaves by hand. Also you can carry much more at once time.)

Then drag the cloth to the compost heap (or trash pile) and alternate a layer of leaves with a layer of good garden dirt. Next year you will have a supply of good rich soil. —Mrs. John Hager

Dear Heloise:

Cook's Tour

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bananas can be used in everything from cakes to cabinets and from sherberts to shelving.

The sweet yellow fruit has been a North American favorite for eating and cooking since 1870, when a New England schooner master brought the first commercial shipment from Jamaica. Lorenzo Dow Baker of Wellfleet, Mass., later became a founder of the United Fruit Co., now the world's largest producer and marketer of bananas.

A company spokesman says another Caribbean port was an important way - station on bananas' route to South and Central American tropics from its first known home in southern Asia. A Spanish priest, Father Tomas de Berlanga, took plants to Santo Domingo (now part of the Dominican Republic) from which other travelers carried them to Latin America.

Bananas had been reported in India as early as 327 B.C. by the armies of Alexander the Great. They were mentioned in Sanskrit and early Chinese literature, said the company.

An early antecedent of the banana split was described by an Arab poet in 927 A.D., as a honey, nut and oil - flavored banana confection sold in the bazaars of Cairo and Damascus.

A few bananas brought into this country during Puritan times were rejected by the stern sect, not because of the rich flavor, but because Puritan cooks boiled the unfamiliar fruit in its skin, a cooking method hardiy calculated to achieve peak flavor and texture.

Benjamin Disraeli, the novelist who later became a British prime minister, was more enthusiastic when he tasted the fruit during a visit to the Levant in 1839. He wrote his sister that it was "the most delicious thing in the world."

Meantime, Latin Americans had learned to bake, boil and fry both green and ripe bananas, to serve them as fruit or as a substitute for potatoes and other starchy vegetables. Central and South Americans use up to 15 different varieties of bananas, most of them unknown here, said the fruit company.

If those cans of vegetables and fruits didn't get used up last summer, serve them to your family right now. There's some loss of nutritive value when canned foods are held for a long period of time at a high temperature.

Before buying a washer, make sure the home has adequate wiring and water pressure. Hot water — at least 140 degrees—is necessary to release the full cleaning power built into soap and detergent products.

Most silks are machine-washable in warm water depending on garment construction.

A thumb protector prevents cuts and infections and is good to use when preparing vegetables and fruits.

The fat around chops as well as that around steaks should be slashed at intervals before the meat is broiled to prevent the meat from curling.

Queen's Baby to Don Hand-Me-Down Togs

By MARGARET SAVILLE
United Press International

(LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth, expecting her fourth child in February or March, won't make a hermit out of herself while awaiting the baby.

Until close to delivery day she will continue to drive out to visit friends, go to art galleries, check on her racing stables, even may do a little shopping.

From the physical standpoint, the Queen appears to have few worries. Her doctors have pronounced her in excellent health and forsee no difficulties.

It's almost certain Elizabeth won't be shopping for maternity or baby clothes. This woman, one of probably the richest women in the world, makes do.

At Buckingham Palace, for example, the maternity wardrobe from her last pregnancy is being made ready for use again.

And practically everything that served baby number three, Prince Andrew, will come back into service in the nursery, including stacks of old but good nappies -- as the British call diapers.

The royal household, as other households in a similar situation, has the matter of names for baby under discussion.

Prior to Andrew's birth, it was believed that if the child had been a girl, the queen would have chosen Caroline as the first name. So if it's a girl this time, Caroline is a likely choice: Mary also is likely to be one of the names given a girl, after the queen's well - loved grandmother.

For a boy, James is believed a favorite choice and it has royal precedence. Rupert has been mentioned, as well.

Whatever the boy's name, he will not — at home or anywhere in the queen's presence — be called by nickname. "James" will never be "Jim" within the queen's hearing.

The sovereign disapproves of the popular habit of shrinking names. She has been known to become furious when her elder son, Prince Charles, has been called "Charlie."

She once remarked to a friend that one good thing about her daughter's name Anne, was that it could not be "spoiled." When the friend gave the laughing response — "What about Annie?" — her highness was furious.

Now that all her official engagements have been cancelled until after the child is born, the queen's daily activity falls pretty much into a quiet routine.

Her mornings are spent at her desk and in consultation with staff. Then before lunch usually will come a walk — in the gardens when she is at Windsor or Buckingham Palace; on the moors when she is in Scotland.

A rest period comes after lunch. Often this time is spent reading. Evenings at home are devoted to family talk, listening to radio or watching television.

When she's alone in the evenings, the queen likes to work an occasional jig-saw puzzle — the more complicated the better.

Foreign Language Conference to Be Held in Pueblo

The luncheon for the Foreign Language Conference of the Colorado Education Association will take place at 1 p.m. Thursday, at the Townhouse Hotel in Pueblo, with Mrs. Anna Taussig presiding. Mrs. Angela Biondi is vice chairman and Mrs. Monique Amerman is secretary of the conference.

The luncheon speaker is Dr. Harold S. Karr from Southern Colorado State College. A panel discussion will follow consisting of Mr. Daniel Martinez, Mrs. Darlene Johnson, and Mrs. Angela Biondi. They will present their views on teaching methods on the high school, junior high, and elementary levels, respectively. Miss Kathy Nunez will provide music entertainment during the luncheon.

A visit to the language department of the Southern Colorado State College is planned afterwards, with prepared student tapes ready for the use of individual teachers.

Local Women Attend Catholic Meeting, Denver

Officials of the Catholic Daughters of America in Colorado held a two-day conference in Denver on Oct. 12 and 13. Attending from the Pikes Peak region were Mrs. Don Emrich, grand regent of Court Holy Family of Security; Mrs. A. Saidv, grand regent of Court St. Mary in Colorado Springs, Mrs. M. S. Maddock, state secretary; Mrs. Frank Smentowski, district deputy; Mrs. Anne Barrett, Mrs. Mary Bradley, Mrs. Anna Daily, Mrs. Florence Haas.

A banquet was held at the Albany Hotel Saturday evening. George E. Evans, chaplain of Court St., Rita of Denver, spoke on the relation of science and scriptures, and some of the anate from the Ecumenical Council now in session. After the dinner an informal meeting was held and many matters of immediate interest were discussed.

The women attended 8 o'clock mass at the Cathedral after which a brunch was served by members of Court St. Rita at their club house. A business meeting followed at which time many items were discussed and future plans formulated. Among the items of interest to all members was the decision by popular vote to hold the next biennial convention at Durango on April 18-19, 1964.

Books Bound To Please Most Palates

NEW YORK (UPI) — New publications of special interest to women:

"The Art of Regional Italian Cooking" by Maria Lo Pinto explores traditional dishes from Sicilian - style chicken cooked with oil, lemon juice, basil, oregano and garlic to goulash Friuli style, a Po Valley specialty made with nutmeg-seasoned beef in tomato and red wine sauce. Lots of pleasant surprises for those who think Italian cookery is largely pasta, veal and seafood.

"The Art of Greek Cookery" by the women of St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church, Hempstead, L.I., N.Y., is a rare find. It adapts the classic, ancient and ageless cookery of Greece to modern U.S. kitchens without sacrificing the flavors and textures of the originals.

"The Easy Way to Chinese Cooking" by Beverly Lee lives up to its title. Mrs. Lee, who teaches at China Institute, New York, devotes nearly one third of her book to the whys and hows of Chinese cookery, including useful sketches of ingredients and utensils.

"The Complete Book of Desserts" by Ann Seranne also gets a gold star for explaining clearly why certain techniques are necessary to the often difficult art of making desserts, especially baked goods in which preciseness is essential.

"The Chinese - Kosher Cookbook" by Ruth and Bob Grossman is — especially to one who understands Yiddish — entertainment as well as a cooking guide. The title is not necessarily a joke. Modern Kosher cooking consists of traditional Jewish food such as gefulte fish (fish balls) plus foods of many nations modified where necessary to conform to Jewish dietary laws.

Sweet Adelines to Attend International Convention

Three members of the Columbine Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. left this week to attend the 17th annual international convention of this barbershop singing organization, Oct. 23 to 26. The convention will be held in Oakland, Calif., and will be attended by quartets and delegates from all over the United States and Canada.

Those attending from Colorado Springs will be Mrs. Stanley Saevig, Columbine Chorus director, who is going as her chapter's official delegate, Mrs. Pete Tyree, who is finishing a two year term on the international board of directors, and Miss Doris Detweiler. More than 2000 Sweet Adelines are expected in attendance the convention. The 1964 convention will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., and the site of the 1965 convention will be determined this year in Oakland.

There will be craft sessions, educational meetings and parties, plus the annual meeting of the corporation where new International board members will be elected. Installation of new international officers will be held at a luncheon meeting on Saturday.

Quartet Competition Eliminations will be held on Friday, Oct. 25 and the ten finalist quartets will compete on Saturday evening. The top five will be presented with medals and the first place quartet will be crowned "Queens of Harmony" for the coming year. Following the competition the convention will wind up with a reception honoring the new Queens.

W. T. Eckhart To Address Democrats

The Democratic Woman's Club of El Paso County will hold its regular monthly meeting at 1 p.m. Saturday in in the Green Room of the Antlers Hotel. During the dessert-coffee portion of the afternoon, new members will be presented and welcomed.

The speaker for the meeting will be William T. Eckhart, former District Judge of the Fourth Judicial District, who will discuss "Impact of Judicial Reform under Ammendment Number One On El Paso County". Mr. Eckhart, who is now engaged in the private practice of law in Colorado Springs, is a member of the Colorado Bar Association's Committee on the Judiciary. This is the committee which has been conducting an intensive study of court reforms in cooperation with the Colorado Legislature. He is also a member of the Supreme Court's Commitee on Admissions to the Bar of Colorado. Mr Eckhart is a native of Colorado, and received his college and law degree from Washburn University.

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NORWALK, Conn. (UPI) — You're expected to ask a question when a woman pulls a "sog-pip" pack on you — at lunch, on the bus, or at the card table.

She chuckles and tells you it stands for "silly old grandmother . . . pictures in purse." You chuckle and do the next most natural thing. You ask to see the pictures. You can't escape.

George Bowman, president of the company which pioneered memory books, said the "sog-pip" picture caddy is a steady best seller in the C. R. Gibson's line of 700 sentimental and humorous record books.

Producing the memory books makes work for more than 200 employes here — many of them women. Much of the work is done by hand. The titles include more than 60 in baby and wedding record books alone.

Sales, up 500 per cent since 1948, indicate that sentimental attitudes are on the upswing. But not just in the United States. The firm exports to 50 nations.

The wedding books started when the firm printed wedding certificates in 1872. Pages were added through the years to record other facts about the marriage.

The baby books commenced with the printing of baptismal certificates. Parents wanted to record other pertinent and sentimental information — so the books grew.

Eventually, diaries were added to the line. A typical title: "My Him Book." This record book gives young misses a place to sing the praises of young men in their lives.

"We tried a humorous wedding book once," Bowman said. "It was a real dog. People don't think marriage is funny."

A memory book for dogs is on the drawing board. It's something like a baby book — with places for locks of the dog's hair, paw prints, health record, a worming chart.

It will include a place for the owner to record famous firsts in his dog's life. Sample: "The first time I saw a cat, I . . ."

The firm hasn't given any thought to doing a memory book for cats. Demand doesn't seem to be as great.

Bowman said one of 10 brides used wedding books a decade ago. Now five of six use them. Ditto for the popularity of baby books.

Unlike the plain, half - dozen paged pioneer books before the turn of the century, contemporary versions have padded covers, gold imprints and many-colored sketches inside.

Some covers are studded with jewels. A few of the boxes contain music boxes that play love's old sweet songs when opened.

The spoofiest baby books were written by Helen Berry Moore of Portland, Ore.

The "I'm a Boy" and "I'm a Girl" books treat growing up a funny way. Sample: "From now on my Mom will be saying I ate everything. Here are the facts, Mom." There's space for likes and dislikes.

A "Happy Birthday book" gives the mother a chance to record the facts about pregnancy. She's allowed to put down her before and after weight in code, if she insists.

There's also a place to record all the costs—the cigars, candy, maternity clothes, baby scale, crib.

"This is just the beginning, Dad. Who says the best things in life are free?"

Bowman said one of the fastest sellers is "The Greatest of These is Love," now in its fifth printing. It was compiled by Mrs. Audrey McDaniel, of Arlington, Va., when she was bedridden.

The inspirational book contains familiar Bible passages and original poems and thoughts.

Sales of these are leaping ahead, too—a sign of the renewed interest in things spiritual.

Bowman said no books undergo as many changes through the years as do the baby books.

"Changes in medicine have made it necessary for us to consult with a pediatrician each time we revise," he said.

"The earlier books contained places to record sunlamp treatments and doses of cod liver oil.

"Now it's immunizations, growth charts and allergies."

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Mommies:

Halloween does roll around! For those who give parties at this time of the year I would like to pass on a few ideas I learned from some of my neighbors:

Buy some oranges and cut a small piece off the end of each one. Set aside these "tops" because you're going to need them later.

Take a sharp knife and cut out the inside of the oranges . . . then take a spoon and scrape out all of the remaining pulp.

These shells may be filled with scoops of ice cream, gelatin, or . . . if you are in a real party mood they may even be filled with tuna fish salad, or just about anything.

If you are going to use ice cream, put the orange shells into your refrigerator and chill them. After they are thoroughly cold . . . scoop some ice cream or sherbert into them and serve; or, you may add the "tops" you cut off. Makes it look like a hat on a clown.

Then take an ice pick and punch a hole in the top of these "caps". Put little birthday candles in each hole. Light the candles before serving and bring them in the dining room on a tray and just watch your guests gasp. . .

For dessert, about the yummiest thing I have found to put in these orange shells is orange sherbert. And, ladies, if you use orange sherbert do not scoop out too much of the pulp from the inside. This lends more flavor.

I also discovered, after making this dessert about five times, that if you cut off a "minute" slice from the bottom of the orange it will sit flat on the plate. However, these may be served in sherbert glasses, small bowls or on your dessert plates.

To make it really festive, sometimes I let the sherbert melt slightly and add the orange pieces (after cutting them into small bits) to the sherbert before re-freezing. I then put the orange sherbert back inside the shell. Wow! —

Happy eating. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have three children, two in grade school and one pre-scholer.

When school started my youngest child felt very lonesome and did not have much of an appetite after the others went off to schol with their lunch bags and books. Then I hit upon an idea. . .

When packing lunch for the two children who went to school, I pack a third lunch—yes, even down to the brown paper bag and napkin.

How very pleased my pre-schooler is, and how grown up he feels to have his own lunch . . . just like his older brother and sister!

Now he eagerly looks forward to lunch time when he gets his lunch bag from the refrigerator. —Mary Taillard

Families Adopt Foreign Dishes

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — So-called "foreign" dishes rapidly are becoming American favorites.

A study by National Family Opinion, a consumer research organization, found that two thirds of the families queried nationally enjoyed Italian foods with some frequency, with spaghetti leading the popularity list.

It reported these averages of homes serving foreign foods: Italian, 66 per cent; Chinese, 36; Mexican, 22; Hungarian, 7; French, 5; German, 3; and Armenian, 2 per cent.

Ever add drained tuna to a cheese sauce? Serve the combination over toasted frankfurter buns. Add a green salad and you'll have a pleasant and easily prepared lunch. The cheese sauce can be made from condensed cheddar cheese soup.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Amateurs and Dentistry Don't Mix!

DEAR ABBY: My husband loves to make things. He's made ceramic ash trays and candy dishes as pretty as anything you can buy in the stores. And he can fix anything. He's only been through sixth grade but I know if he had a Do-It-Yourself dental kit he could fix teeth. (Just mine and the kids'—he wouldn't go into business or anything like that.) Are such kits available? I heard they were, but when I wrote to Sears they took it as a joke. —MRS. O. J. J.

DEAR MRS. O. J. J.: Skill in dentistry is acquired through years of study and practice. Do not be sore at Sears. There is no such "kit." Fortunately!

DEAR ABBY: "The noblest of them all" has always been, is now, and ever shall be, the girl who cares enough about her children-to-be to marry their father-to-be before her children are conceived. —"KNEW ONE"

DEAR "KNEW ONE": Touche!!

DEAR ABBY: My wife told me that she had been railroaded into the presidency of an organization at the second meeting she attended. She said she had not even paid her membership dues because she wasn't sure she wanted to join the club. She also said that when her name was brought up for president, she wasn't given a chance to say she didn't want it, but was voted in unanimously by a show of hands. I don't want her holding an office in any clubs as she has two preschool children and two in school, which keeps her busy enough at home. She says she's afraid if she tells them she can't accept the presidency, her name will be mud in the community—which is all right with me. What do you think? —MUD'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Tell your wife to write the organization a letter, explaining why she is unable to do justice to the office.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Unfinished Symphony": Face the music, maestro, it's finished. There is NO second ending.

Elegant Veal Paprikash

Whether it's a meat entree, casserole, pastry or salad, Hungary has for centuries been a land of elegant dishes. Unique flavor combinations, a blending of spices and frequent use of sour cream make their cooking acclaimed at home and abroad.

One national Dish, Veal Paprikash, deserves attention at a special meal. Meat expert Reba Staggs, reminds you that veal cubes, as well as steak and chops, require slow braising.

Veal Paprikash

½ pound fresh pork sausage
2 pounds boneless veal, cut in 1-inch cubes
3 tablespoons flour
1-3 cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green papper
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
¾ cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
3 cups cooked noodles
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon poppy seeds

Brown sausage lightly. Remove from frying pan. Dredge veal with flour. Sprinkle any remaining flour over meat. Brown in sausage drippings. Pour off drippings. Add sausage, onion, green pepper, salt, paprika and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1¼ hours, or until done. Add sour cream and heat thru. Mix together hot needles, butter or margarine and poppy seeds. Serve meat over noodles. 6 servings.

High Heels Patter Down Princeton Path

By ALEX J. MICHELINI
United Press International

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Calling all girls: the boy to girl ratio at Princeton University these days is 600 to 1.

The delightful imbalance—for girls—developed this fall when five coeds became the first female undergraduates in the 217-year history of the all male Ivy League institution. They entered under a cooperative language program that will allow a number of students from 32 colleges to spend one year at Old Nassau.

The change in enrollment has brought varying reaction from both the men and women students.

"It's like living in a goldfish bowl," Lenore Patow of the Bronx, N.Y., said.

"Every time I walk by a group of boys I hear them say: 'There she goes,' or 'Do you know who just went by?' "

For Barbara Alpern of Valley Stream, N.Y., attending college with 3,000 young men has made her self-conscious.

"It's very overwhelming to be the only girl in a class of 70 men, especially when you know that everyone's attention is riveted on you," she said.

Another of the pioneering five admitted that the first day was the hardest.

"In my first class," said Barbara Cohen of New York, NY., "I was afraid I was going to trip and attract more attention."

The reaction from the men of Princeton has ranged from outright indignation to calls for more and more girls.

"I don't object to five girls," said Marshall Smith, a sophomore, "but they are the break in the dike that will unleash a flood of feminism.

"One of the main reasons I came to Princeton was to study in an atmosphere free from distractions. I think there is a need to separate fun from study. The introduction of girls into the academic community destroys much of what Princeton has stood for in the past."

On the other hand, Lewis I. Dale, president of the senior class and chairman of the undergraduate council, looks favorably on the new type of Ivy Leaguer.

"This is one step in the right direction," he said, "namely, toward a more natural atmosphere."

But even Dale qualified his approval. He added that he would prefer to see a girls' college established within walking distance of Princeton.

What brought the girls to Princeton?

Without exception, the five said the challenge and opportunity of thé institution prompted them to seek admission. To one of them, it seemed that there were two special pre-requisites in addition to scholastic standing.

"We think we had to pass one of two requirements to get into the program," Miss Alpern joked. "We either had to be called Barbara or we had to be from City College."

Three of the girls are named Barbara — Miss Alpern, Miss Cohen and Barbara Shirk of Merchantville, N.J. Four are from City College of New York—Miss Alpern, Miss Patow, Miss Cohen and Thea Brodsky, of New York, N.Y.

Official feeling at Princeton is that the admission of the five girls does not necessarily mean that the institution is on the way to full co-education.

President Robert F. Goheen explained that the physical limitations of the college make it impossible.

"We feel that we should provide facilities for the girls once they were admitted," he said. "But we can't envisage the number of girls getting much larger and we certainly don't plan on building new dormitories or hiring a dean of women."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
By CHARLES H. GOREN

Q. 1—As South you hold:
Spades, A-8-6-4; Hearts, A-10-9-8-5; Diamonds, 10-9-3; Clubs, 4.

The bidding has proceded:

North	East	South	West
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Hrt.	Pass
2 Hrts.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand rates one more try, and the suggested call is three hearts. On a point count basis, the hand is valued at 11 points, eight in high cards and two for distribution. The additional point is to be added for the fifth heart when partner supports that suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
Spades, 9-4-2; Hearts, A-K; Diamonds A-K-Q-10; Clubs, A-K-7-2.

The bidding has procceded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass
2 Spds.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Since you are now assured that partner will respond to your next bid, there is no great necessity for jumping. A slam contract is definitely in the offing, and you should take it easy as the best means of ascertaining as to which denomination will prove most playable. Bid three clubs and await your partner's reply.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
Spades, Q-J-9-8-2 Hearts, A-5; Diamonds, 10-4-2; Clubs, A-Q-6.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	north	East	South
1 Spd.	Pass	2 Dia.	Pass
2 Spds.	Pass	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—While it may be tempting to double the two spade bid, we lean toward a pass. Despite your impressive holding, you must remember that your spades are unfavorably located under the declarer and, while it is likely you will defeat the contract, it is not apt to be a complete slaughter. There is the further consideration that your penalty double of two spades may induce East to run out to three diamonds, a contract which you are by no means prepared to hurt.

Q. 4—Partner opens with one heart and you hold:
Spades, Q-8-4-3-2; Hearts, A-10-4; Diamonds, K-9-5; Clubs, 8-3.

What is your response?

A.—Two hearts. A response of one spade should be avoided, for it might lead to complications. This hand is not strong enough to justify two forward moving bids. In support of hearts it is worth only nine points and therefore comes within the limit of a single raise.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
Spades, A-K-6; Hearts, A-J; Diamonds, 7-4; Clubs, K-Q-J-10-8-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. — Two notrump. This is preferable to the jump rebid of three clubs. Theoretically it is one point short, containing only 18 points, but the extra ten and a solid six card suit more than compensate for the technical deficiency.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
Spades, K-J-6; Hearts, A-K-Q-J-3; Diamonds, 4; Clubs, A-K-7.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 Hrts.	Pass	2 N.T.	3 Dia.

What do you bid now?

A. — Since the appropriate procedure at this point is not clear to you, a forcing pass is in order. Partner heard you open with a demand bid and cannot drop the bidding. He should be given this opportunity to clarify his original negative response.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
Spades, K-Q-J-2; Hearts, A; Diamonds, 8-5-2; Clubs, K-Q-8-5-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass
1 Spd.	Pass	3 Clbs.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. — This hand has distinct slam possibilities if partner has a reasonably good diamond suit, in which case you might hold your losses to just one trick. In order to learn more about the hand, it is suggested that a temporizing bid of three hearts be made at this point. This may put partner in a position to bid a slam.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:
Spades, 8-2; Hearts, 10-9-7; Diamonds, A-Q-J-10-6; Clubs, A-9-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Spd.	2 Hrts.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three hearts or even four hearts. It would be quite pointless to bid three diamonds which in this sequence is not forcing. Remember that partner did not open the bidding.

You now can "start" the day smelling like a bar — because of a new toothpaste on the market. The toothpaste comes flavored to taste like alcohol, although it has no alcoholic content. The tast is synthesized. Designed as a gift item for the man who has everything else, the whole package of pastes taste like a martini, brandy, orange curacao, rum and eggnog brandy. (Vintage "63," Pento, Inc., 509 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y.).

A "welcome mat" that will go into a washing machine is made of deep plush cut-pile carpeting bonded to go inside the entrance door. (Buxbaum Co., 1212 7th St., S.W., Canton, Ohio)

Musical spoons, redesigned and modernized by a dental surgeon, come with simplified directions for playing. "Ideal for the professional combo and those who just like to beat out a little rhythm," says the manufacturer. (Peripole, Inc., Dept 83, 51-17 Rockaway Beach Blvd., Far Rockaway, N.Y.)

With a new look: erector sets. Now with panels and girders for building such space age machines as planetary probers. (A. C. Gilbert C., New Haven, Conn.

It looks like random handset mosaic tile but is actually new vinyl wall covering that won't chip, crack or scar. (B. F. Goodrich, 800 Second Ave., New York, N.Y.)

If those rolls are a little dry, sprinkle them with a tablespoon or two of water and heat them in a covered double boiler over boiling water. Midway through the reheating, change the position of the rolls so that the bottom ones are placed at the top. This way all the rolls will heat evenly.

Families Adopt Foreign Dishes

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — So-called "foreign" dishes rapidly are becoming American favorites.

A study by National Family Opinion, a consumer research organization, found that two thirds of the families queried nationally enjoyed Italian foods with some frequency, with spaghetti leading the popularity list.

It reported these averages of homes serving foreign foods: Italian, 66 per cent; Chinese, 36; Mexican, 22; Hungarian, 7; French, 5; German, 3; and Armenian, 2 per cent.

Ever add drained tuna to a cheese sauce? Serve the combination over toasted frankfurter buns. Add a green salad and you'll have a pleasant and easily prepared lunch. The cheese sauce can be made from condensed cheddar cheese soup.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Amateurs and Dentistry Don't Mix!

DEAR ABBY: My husband loves to make things. He's made ceramic ash trays and candy dishes as pretty as anything you can buy in the stores. And he can fix anything. He's only been through sixth grade but I know if he had a Do-It-Yourself dental kit he could fix teeth. (Just mine and the kids'—he wouldn't go into business or anything like that.) Are such kits available? I heard they were, but when I wrote to Sears they took it as a joke. —MRS. O. J. J.

DEAR MRS. O. J. J.: Skill in dentistry is acquired through years of study and practice. Do not be sore at Sears. There is no such "kit." Fortunately!

DEAR ABBY: "The noblest of them all" has always been, is now, and ever shall be, the girl who cares enough about her children-to-be to marry their father-to-be before her children are conceived. —"KNEW ONE"

DEAR "KNEW ONE": Touche!!

DEAR ABBY: My wife told me that she had been railroaded into the presidency of an organization at the second meeting she attended. She said she had not even paid her membership dues because she wasn't sure she wanted to join the club. She also said that when her name was brought up for president, she wasn't given a chance to say she didn't want it, but was voted in unanimously by a show of hands. I don't want her holding an office in any clubs as she has two preschool children and two in school, which keeps her busy enough at home. She says she's afraid if she tells them she can't accept the presidency, her name will be mud in the community—which is all right with me. What do you think? —MUD'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Tell your wife to write the organization a letter, explaining why she is unable to do justice to the office.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Unfinished Symphony": Face the music, maestro, it's finished. There is NO second ending.

Elegant Veal Paprikash

Whether it's a meat entree, casserole, pastry or salad, Hungary has for centuries been a land of elegant dishes. Unique flavor combinations, a blending of spices and frequent use of sour cream make their cooking acclaimed at home and abroad.

One national Dish, Veal Paprikash, deserves attention at a special meal. Meat expert Reba Staggs, reminds you that veal cubes, as well as steak and chops, require slow braising.

Veal Paprikash

½ pound fresh pork sausage
2 pounds boneless veal, cut in 1-inch cubes
3 tablespoons flour
1-3 cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green papper
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
¾ cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
3 cups cooked noodles
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon poppy seeds

Brown sausage lightly. Remove from frying pan. Dredge veal with flour. Sprinkle any remaining flour over meat. Brown in sausage drippings. Pour off drippings. Add sausage, onion, green pepper, salt, paprika and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1¼ hours, or until done. Add sour cream and heat thru. Mix together hot needles, butter or margarine and poppy seeds. Serve meat over noodles. 6 servings.

High Heels Patter Down Princeton Path

By ALEX J. MICHELINI
United Press International

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Calling all girls: the boy to girl ratio at Princeton University these days is 600 to 1.

The delightful imbalance—for girls—developed this fall when five coeds became the first female undergraduates in the 217-year history of the all male Ivy League institution. They entered under a cooperative language program that will allow a number of students from 32 colleges to spend one year at Old Nassau.

The change in enrollment has brought varying reaction from both the men and women students.

"It's like living in a goldfish bowl," Lenore Patow of the Bronx, N.Y., said.

"Every time I walk by a group of boys I hear them say: 'There she goes,' or 'Do you know who just went by?' "

For Barbara Alpern of Valley Stream, N.Y., attending college with 3,000 young men has made her self-conscious.

"It's very overwhelming to be the only girl in a class of 70 men, especially when you know that everyone's attention is riveted on you," she said.

Another of the pioneering five admitted that the first day was the hardest.

"In my first class," said Barbara Cohen of New York, NY., "I was afraid I was going to trip and attract more attention."

The reaction from the men of Princeton has ranged from outright indignation to calls for more and more girls.

"I don't object to five girls," said Marshall Smith, a sophomore, "but they are the break in the dike that will unleash a flood of feminism.

"One of the main reasons I came to Princeton was to study in an atmosphere free from distractions. I think there is a need to separate fun from study. The introduction of girls into the academic community destroys much of what Princeton has stood for in the past."

On the other hand, Lewis I. Dale, president of the senior class and chairman of the undergraduate council, looks favorably on the new type of Ivy Leaguer.

But even Dale qualified his approval. He added that he would prefer to see a girls' college established within walking distance of Princeton.

What brought the girls to Princeton?

Without exception, the five said the challenge and opportunity of thé institution prompted them to seek admission. To one of them, it seemed that there were two special pre-requisites in addition to scholastic standing.

"We think we had to pass one of two requirements to get into the program," Miss Alpern joked. "We either had to be called Barbara or we had to be from City College."

Three of the girls are named Barbara — Miss Alpern, Miss Cohen and Barbara Shirk of Merchantville, N.J. Four are from City College of New York—Miss Alpern, Miss Patow, Miss Cohen and Thea Brodsky, of New York, N.Y.

Official feeling at Princeton is that the admission of the five girls does not necessarily mean that the institution is on the way to full co-education.

President Robert F. Goheen explained that the physical limitations of the college make it impossible.

"We feel that we should provide facilities for the girls once they were admitted," he said. "But we can't envisage the number of girls getting much larger and we certainly don't plan on building new dormitories or hiring a dean of women."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
By CHARLES H. GOREN

Q. 1—As South you hold: Spades, A-8-6-4; Hearts, A-10-9-8-5; Diamonds, 10-9-3; Clubs, 4.

The bidding has proceded:

North	East	South	West
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Hrt.	Pass
2 Hrts.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand rates one more try, and the suggested call is three hearts. On a point count basis, the hand is valued at 11 points, eight in high cards and two for distribution. The additional point is to be added for the fifth heart when partner supports that suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold: Spades, 9-4-2; Hearts, A-K; Diamonds A-K-Q-10; Clubs, A-K-7-2.

The bidding has procceded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass
2 Spds.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Since you are now assured that partner will respond to your next bid, there is no great necessity for jumping. A slam contract is definitely in the offing, and you should take it easy as the best means of ascertaining as to which denomination will prove most playable. Bid three clubs and await your partner's reply.

Q. 3—As South you hold: Spades, Q-J-9-8-2 Hearts, A-5; Diamonds, 10-4-2; Clubs, A-Q-6.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	north	East	South
1 Spd.	Pass	2 Dia.	Pass
2 Spds.	Pass	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—While it may be tempting to double the two spade bid, we lean toward a pass. Despite your impressive holding, you must remember that your spades are unfavorably located under the declarer and, while it is likely you will defeat the contract, it is not apt to be a complete slaughter. There is the further consideration that your penalty double of two spades may induce East to run out to three diamonds, a contract which you are by no means prepared to hurt.

Q. 4—Partner opens with one heart and you hold: Spades, Q-8-4-3-2; Hearts, A-10-4; Diamonds, K-9-5; Clubs, 8-3.

What is your response?

A.—Two hearts. A response of one spade should be avoided, for it might lead to complications. This hand is not strong enough to justify two forward moving bids. In support of hearts it is worth only nine points and therefore comes within the limit of a single raise.

Q. 5—As South you hold: Spades, A-K-6; Hearts, A-J; Diamonds, 7-4; Clubs, K-Q-J-10-8-3.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. — Two notrump. This is preferable to the jump rebid of three clubs. Theoretically it is one point short, containing only 18 points, but the extra ten and a solid six card suit more than compensate for the technical deficiency.

Q. 6—As South you hold: Spades, K-J-6; Hearts, A-K-Q-J-3; Diamonds, 4; Clubs, A-K-7.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 Hrts.	Pass	2 N.T.	3 Dia.

What do you bid now?

A. — Since the appropriate procedure at this point is not clear to you, a forcing pass is in order. Partner heard you open with a demand bid and cannot drop the bidding. He should be given this opportunity to clarify his original negative response.

Q. 7—As South you hold: Spades, K-Q-J-2; Hearts, A; Diamonds, 8-5-2; Clubs, K-Q-8-5-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 Clb.	Pass	1 Dia.	Pass
1 Spd.	Pass	3 Clbs.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. — This hand has distinct slam possibilities if partner has a reasonably good diamond suit, in which case you might hold your losses to just one trick. In order to learn more about the hand, it is suggested that a temporizing bid of three hearts be made at this point. This may put partner in a position to bid a slam.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable and as South you hold: Spades, 8-2; Hearts, 10-9-7; Diamonds, A-Q-J-10-6; Clubs, A-9-4.

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 Spd.	2 Hrts.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three hearts or even four hearts. It would be quite pointless to bid three diamonds which in this sequence is not forcing. Remember that partner did not open the bidding.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Commercial and speculative buying firmed most grain futures contracts today after unsettled early transactions on the Board of Trade, but wheat remained slightly easier in the early afternoon.

Corn moved up a cent or more in spots on demand credited to exporters.

Japan bought another large quantity of soybeans.

Rainfall over the weekend in the Southwest imparted weakness to wheat.

Market Nudges To High Ground With Blue Chips

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nudged into new high ground early this afternoon as selected blue chips pushed the averages ahead.

The advance was somewhat spotty. It was accounted for by gains in pivotal steels, motors, chemicals, electrical equipments, tobaccos and some others.

Trading was heavy but it was not all on the buy side. A number of leading issues took losses of a point or more.

Plus signs were in the majority, however, and sentiment in Wall Street was generally optimistic. Steel producers reported fresh gains in orders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 281.7 with industrials up 1.7, rails up .3 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.75 at 752.35.

If these indicators were to keep their gains until the market close they would register historic highs.

Lorillard and Liggett & Myers gained around a point each.

Gains exceeding a point were scored by Du Pont and Westinghouse Electric. Radio Corp. rose more than 2, Merck and Jones & Laughlin about a point each.

Xerox ran up 10 points to a new high. IBM gained about 4, Control Data more than a point. Polaroid slipped about 2 and U.S. Smelting more than a point.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eliot Janeway says to take advantage of the period of good business and of the grain traffic bulge ahead to consider the "non-merger" rails. "Their relatively high yields are generally safe, he says. "Don't speculate on projected mergers and don't take the Russian wheat deal as a guaranteed earnings bonanza. But the non-merger rails, which are in a position to benefit from the grain traffic, look cheap to us — all the more so because these are not securities that the public is or will be in or that are vulnerable to selling pressure from the institutions," Janeway adds.

International Statistical Bureau, Inc. believes operations of the nation's soft drink companies will make a "most favorable showing" during the current year. "Results for the first half of 1963 were at record levels, and sales during the summer months maintained this uptrend," it says.

The Value Line Investment Survey says that "savings and loan stocks are an excellent vehicle for capital gains at this time although prices are volatile insofar as these securities are new and unseasoned."

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Commercial and speculative buying firmed most grain futures contracts today after unsettled early transactions on the Board of Trade, but wheat remained slightly easier in the early afternoon.

Corn moved up a cent or more in spots on demand credited to exporters.

Japan bought another large quantity of soybeans.

Rainfall over the weekend in the Southwest imparted weakness to wheat.

Market Nudges To High Ground With Blue Chips

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nudged into new high ground early this afternoon as selected blue chips pushed the averages ahead.

The advance was somewhat spotty. It was accounted for by gains in pivotal steels, motors, chemicals, electrical equipments, tobaccos and some others.

Trading was heavy but it was not all on the buy side. A number of leading issues took losses of a point or more.

Plus signs were in the majority, however, and sentiment in Wall Street was generally optimistic. Steel producers reported fresh gains in orders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 281.7 with industrials up 1.7, rails up .3 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.75 at 752.35.

If these indicators were to keep their gains until the market close they would register historic highs.

Lorillard and Liggett & Myers gained around a point each.

Gains exceeding a point were scored by Du Pont and Westinghouse Electric. Radio Corp. rose more than 2, Merck and Jones & Laughlin about a point each.

Xerox ran up 10 points to a new high. IBM gained about 4, Control Data more than a point. Polaroid slipped about 2 and U.S. Smelting more than a point.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eliot Janeway says to take advantage of the period of good business and of the grain traffic bulge ahead to consider the "non-merger" rails. "Their relatively high yields are generally safe, he says. "Don't speculate on projected mergers and don't take the Russian wheat deal as a guaranteed earnings bonanza. But the non-merger rails, which are in a position to benefit from the grain traffic, look cheap to us — all the more so because these are not securities that the public is or will be in or that are vulnerable to selling pressure from the institutions," Janeway adds.

International Statistical Bureau, Inc. believes operations of the nation's soft drink companies will make a "most favorable showing" during the current year. "Results for the first half of 1963 were at record levels, and sales during the summer months maintained this uptrend," it says.

The Value Line Investment Survey says that "savings and loan stocks are an excellent vehicle for capital gains at this time although prices are volatile insofar as these securities are new and unseasoned."

Boy Injured As Car Hits Bike Sunday

A 15-year old boy was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital with bruises after his bicycle was hit and knocked 23 feet by a car at Loraine Street and Kinnikinnik Drive Sunday afternoon.

A State Patrol report said that Donald E. Randall of 1516 Loraine St. was riding west on Kinnikinnik when he cut in front of a car being driven north on Loraine by John B. Wallace, 21, of 1625 Marquita Ave.

The Wallace car skidded 57 feet and then hit the side of the bicycle, according to State Patrolman Paul Cornell, who investigated the accident.

General Assembly Rejects New Red China Seat Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly rejected by a substantial margin today a new bid to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The vote on the Albanian-Cambodian proposal was 41 in favor, 57 against and 12 abstaining. Ethiopia was absent. The result last year was 42 in favor, 56 against with 12 abstentions.

It was the 14th successive year in which the China issue had been sidetracked or in which the assembly had voted outright to keep the Peking regime out.

The vote came after a week-long debate which placed the spotlight on the ideological rift between the Kremlin and the Chinese Communists.

The Soviet bloc voted solidly for the seating of the Peking government, but left it to little Albania—follower of the Peking line—to carry the ball.

As usual, the United States led the fight against handing over Nationalist China's seat to the Communists.

Woman Shoots Self With Rifle Sunday

Nancy Ballard, 1064 Florence Ave., shot herself in the abdomen with a .22 caliber rifle Sunday morning, the sheriff's office reported. She was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital where she was listed in good condition.

Her husband, George Ballard, told Deputy Sheriff Franklin Ripley that he and his wife had an argument Sunday morning.

He was in the kitchen when he heard a shot from the bedroom and went to investigate, Ballard said.

Upon discovering that his wife had shot herself, he took her to the hospital.

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to step more squarely into the battle of the sexes with an executive order carrying out his promise to do something about discrimination against women.

Kennedy's order reportedly will set up a citizens committee and name Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to work with it in trying to get women a better competitive break with men in jobs, education and other areas.

The President's order could come within a week or two, reliable sources said today.

But the real fight, said one Labor Department source, will come later when women seek a stronger presidential order to discourage discrimination against them by employers with federal contracts.

Rocky, Barry Answer 'Identical Questions'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater disagree on some vital issues but they are in accord in advocating a two-front attack on President Kennedy in 1964.

In answers to a series of identical questions submitted to them separately by The Associated Press, the two potential contenders for the GOP presidential nomination disclosed a deep division over civil rights.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator voiced opposing views on how to provide medical care for the elderly, the need for right-to-work laws and whether there should be an immediate tax cut.

In the international field they stood together in opposition to any American pull-out from Viet Nam. Both cautioned against being lulled by Soviet overtures for peaceful coexistence. Their answers about what to do about the Cuba problem were relatively similar. They differed in degree over the limited nuclear test-ban treaty's effect.

Rockefeller served notice he did not regard answers to the questions as a substitute for a face-to-face debate with Goldwater over party policies. Goldwater said he was willing to debate "the weaknesses of the Kennedy administration" but saw little value in Republicans debating Republicans.

Both men picked foreign policy and the state of the domestic economy as prime two-pronged issues against Kennedy in 1964.

The governor and the senator were asked if they felt a Republican could defeat Kennedy without strong electoral support from the South, where Goldwater reportedly has much more strength than Rockefeller.

Goldwater said that to defeat Kennedy, would require "substantial electoral support from all sections of the country, not just any particular one."

Rockefeller said he believes "that the Republican nominee, running on a forward-looking platform which really meets the nation's needs, will receive substantial support in every section of the country."

The differences between Goldwater and Rockefeller were sharpest in response to a question as to what, if any, civil rights legislation Congress should pass.

The senator said his "basic feeling is that legislation will not solve the civil rights problem." The governor contended that "the federal government has a deep moral and constitutional responsibility to guarantee equal rights for every American citizen."

Goldwater said: "I completely oppose the public accommodations section (to enforce integration on business firms serving the public) as being unconstitutional and uncalled for."

Rockefeller said a civil rights bill should "contain provisions for stronger voting guarantees, initiative by the attorney general in enforcing civil rights, equal opportunity for employment, non-discriminatory access to public accommodations, and for helping insure public education on a desegregated basis, in compliance with the law of the land."

Goldwater said he believes "there are adequate laws on the books to take care of voting abuses and all that is required is action by the attorney general."

He called a provision of the administration's bill to permit the President to withhold federal grants from states which did not comply with desegregation orders interesting. But he said that as it is written "I doubt that it is either constitutionally or morally correct."

The senator said he would support a provision to permit the attorney general to sue in school integration cases if it were tightly drawn so that it could not be used "to invade other fields."

On some other issues, their views could be summarized this way:

Health care for the elderly:

Goldwater — Said care was provided through Kerr-Mills Act. Proposed tax credits or deductions "for any monies paid for the purpose of taking care of the aged."

Rockefeller — Advocated "a broadly based system of health insurance for those over 65, financed by the fiscally sound, contributory payroll tax but offering freedom of individual choice to select voluntary health plan coverage."

Federal right to work law:

Goldwater — Said the federal government should not usurp the rights of states to pass such laws. Sponsors legislation to call for an open shop in all states but with provision which would permit states to declare for a union shop.

Rockefeller — intends to make an "effort to assure that the national Republican party maintains the position it took in its 1960 platform against federal right-to-work legislation."

Tax reduction while there is a deficit:

Goldwater — "The answer to this would rest primarily on the rapidity of growth of the domestic economy."

Rockefeller—Said an immediate tax cut "designed to stimulate private investment and savings" and to increase consumers' after-tax income should be combined with "a strict policy of holding the line on federal government spending."

Balancing the budget annually:

Goldwater — "The federal budget can and should be balanced during each fiscal year, except during periods of war or other extreme national emergencies."

Farm price supports:

Goldwater—"The 30 per cent of our agriculture now under the present support program should be slowly withdrawn from it, so that at the end of a reasonable period of time the law of supply and demand will determine the prices the farmers receive."

Rockefeller — Said present price supports do not help the farmers who need help most. He added: "For the low-income farmers we need an approach that is entirely separate from subsidies. For the other farmers, we must gradually adopt a new system of supports which will provide true stabilization of prices but not create an artificially high market price in normal times."

Woodland Park Man Dies At Gunnison

GUNNISON (AP) — Authorities today sought the cause of the death of Edwin J. Over, 58, Woodland Park mineralogist, whose body was found in his panel truck Saturday.

Coroner Alex Campbell said Over apparently had been dead for a week when hunters found him. The body showed no wounds that might have caused death.

The truck was parked near the old Lot Mine in the Nine Mile Hill area, south of Gunnison. Over apparently had driven there to hunt for ore specimens.

Promotions Upped for Carson Units

Ten times as many promotions as normal have been authorized for units at Ft. Carson, it was announced today by Maj. Donald J. Tracy, assistant adjuntant general. On top of the pay boost, the promotions will bring substantial pay raises to 1,118 men.

Promotion boards meeting this week will select one sergeant major and 10 first sergeants or master sergeants.

Major unit commanders are authorized to promote in the following pay grades: 64 E7s, 60 E5s, 330 E5s and 653 E4s.

E7s are normally selected by promotion boards but, because of the large allocation received in October, commanders have been authorized to name their own boards for promotion of men to the E7 pay grade.

Four Companies Fight Fire at Storage Company

Prompt work by four companies of the Colorado Springs Fire Department Sunday put out quickly what might have been a very destructive fire. Considerable damage was done as it was.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started in some shipping boxes of the Weicker Transfer and Storage Company that were piled against an outside wall of its garage at 207 W. Las Animas St. The flames did not get into the garage, but spread to the garage of the Telephone Co., at 822 Sierra Madre St., which backs up to the Weicker Garage. This building was considerably damaged inside and out. Four windows were broken out and four trucks that were inside of the garage were damaged.

A fire alarm was turned in at 3:11 p.m. and Companies 1, 3, 4 and the Aerial responded. Assistant Chief Herman Richter was in charge.

Rock Island Seeks Support of Merger With Union Pacific

Tulson said the Rock Island management and every member of the road's board of directors recommend stockholder approval of a Union Pacific merger, and he is working to get the holders of at least two-thirds of Rock Island's stock to vote for the merger. A two-thirds majority of the stock is needed to gain stockholder approval at a special meeting in Chicago on Nov. 15.

A vote on the merger may be the most important action stockholders will ever take to protect their investment in the Rock Island, according to the Rock Island representative.

"The Rock Island should merge with a strong railroad serving the Pacific coast," he said.

"The Union Pacific fills the bill as a merger partner because it connects with the Rock Island at a number of locations and delivers substantial tonnage to the Rock Island for shipment. The U. P. common stock is a prime railroad equity investment with a 63-year record of uninterrupted dividend payments. The Union Pacific has one of the most profitable railroad operations in the country and derives substantial income from its vast resources of land, oil, and minerals. Continuation of these conditions should protect Rock Island stockholders' investment.

"The Union Pacific — Rock Island merger exchange ratio is favorable to Rock Island stockholders. Each share of Rock Island stock will be converted into .718 share of UP common stock. On April 30, 1963, the date the exchange ratio was set, market prices of the two stocks showed that .718 share of Union Pacific stock sold for 25½ per cent more than the price of a share of Rock Island stock."

The Chicago and North Western is opposing the U. P. merger, and has stated its intention ultimately to unify the Rock Island and C&NW.

In an effort to secure control of the Rock Island, the North Western has made an offer of cash and North Western securities to Rock Island stockholders.

"I'm pointing out to our stockholders why they should ignore the North Western's control offer and vote in favor of the proposed Rock Island-Union Pacific merger," Tulson said. "The exact worth of the bond the North Western is offering should be reduced for taxes which the stockholder may have to pay. The addition of the proposed bond issue to North Western's already heavy debt structure could present difficult in obtaining Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the exchange."

The Rock Island representative said that eventual unification of the Rock Island and North Western would not be desirable for the Rock Island. The North Western would not be able to offer the strong financial support of the Union Pacific nor the advantages of access to the Pacific Coast.

Bids Opened For Purchase of South Park Ranch

Bids for purchase of the 6,080-acre ranch in South Park owned by the Colorado Springs Department of Public Utilities will be opened on Nov. 14, according to Utilities Director Ray D. Nixon.

The ranch property, seven miles south of Fairplay on U.S. Highway 285, was purchased by the Utilities Department in 1951 as a possible water source in Colorado Springs' long-range development program.

Nixon pointed out the ranch carries "excellent water rights" but ensuing developments in the Western Slope water programs, including the Blue River and Homestake diversions, made use of the ranch water rights as a domestic water source uneconomical.

The ranch, known as "The Marcott Ranch" or "The Shoun Ranch" includes a 39.49 cubic feet per second water right on Four Mile Creek with No. 1 priority, dated June 15, 1861. This priority, plus other excellent water rights, have contributed to successful operation of the ranch for many years as a hay producer and cattle operation. Since the department acquired the property, it has been leased to various individuals.

Since acquisition of the ranch, the Utilities Department's leases have also utilized 2,257 acres of grazing lands on federal and state lands.

The Utilities Department is relinquishing all its interests in the grazing lands at such time as the property is sold.

Brochures which describe the property and the procedures in bidding on the property may be obtained from Water Superintendent Jack McCullough, Department of Public Utilities, Colorado Springs.

Boy Injured As Car Hits Bike Sunday

A 15-year old boy was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital with bruises after his bicycle was hit and knocked 23 feet by a car at Loraine Street and Kinnikinnik Drive Sunday afternoon.

A State Patrol report said that Donald E. Randall of 1516 Loraine St. was riding west on Kinnikinnik when he cut in front of a car being driven north on Loraine by John B. Wallace, 21, of 1625 Marquita Ave.

The Wallace car skidded 57 feet and then hit the side of the bicycle, according to State Patrolman Paul Cornell, who investigated the accident.

General Assembly Rejects New Red China Seat Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly rejected by a substantial margin today a new bid to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The vote on the Albanian-Cambodian proposal was 41 in favor, 57 against and 12 abstaining. Ethiopia was absent. The result last year was 42 in favor, 56 against with 12 abstentions.

It was the 14th successive year in which the China issue had been sidetracked or in which the assembly had voted outright to keep the Peking regime out.

The vote came after a week-long debate which placed the spotlight on the ideological rift between the Kremlin and the Chinese Communists.

The Soviet bloc voted solidly for the seating of the Peking government, but left it to little Albania—follower of the Peking line—to carry the ball.

As usual, the United States led the fight against handing over Nationalist China's seat to the Communists.

Woman Shoots Self With Rifle Sunday

Nancy Ballard, 1064 Florence Ave., shot herself in the abdomen with a .22 caliber rifle Sunday morning, the sheriff's office reported. She was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital where she was listed in good condition.

Her husband, George Ballard, told Deputy Sheriff Franklin Ripley that he and his wife had an argument Sunday morning.

He was in the kitchen when he heard a shot from the bedroom and went to investigate, Ballard said.

Upon discovering that his wife had shot herself, he took her to the hospital.

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to step more squarely into the battle of the sexes with an executive order carrying out his promise to do something about discrimination against women.

Kennedy's order reportedly will set up a citizens committee and name Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to work with it in trying to get women a better competitive break with men in jobs, education and other areas.

The President's order could come within a week or two, reliable sources said today.

But the real fight, said one Labor Department source, will come later when women seek a stronger presidential order to discourage discrimination against them by employers with federal contracts.

Rocky, Barry Answer 'Identical Questions'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater disagree on some vital issues but they are in accord in advocating a two-front attack on President Kennedy in 1964.

In answers to a series of identical questions submitted to them separately by The Associated Press, the two potential contenders for the GOP presidential nomination disclosed a deep division over civil rights.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator voiced opposing views on how to provide medical care for the elderly, the need for right-to-work laws and whether there should be an immediate tax cut.

In the international field they stood together in opposition to any American pull-out from Viet Nam. Both cautioned against being lulled by Soviet overtures for peaceful coexistence. Their answers about what to do about the Cuba problem were relatively similar. They differed in degree over the limited nuclear test-ban treaty's effect.

Rockefeller served notice he did not regard answers to the questions as a substitute for a face-to-face debate with Goldwater over party policies. Goldwater said he was willing to debate "the weaknesses of the Kennedy administration" but saw little value in Republicans debating Republicans.

Both men picked foreign policy and the state of the domestic economy as prime two-pronged issues against Kennedy in 1964.

The governor and the senator were asked if they felt a Republican could defeat Kennedy without strong electoral support from the South, where Goldwater reportedly has much more strength than Rockefeller.

Goldwater said that to defeat Kennedy, would require "substantial electoral support from all sections of the country, not just any particular one."

Rockefeller said he believes "that the Republican nominee, running on a forward-looking platform which really meets the nation's needs, will receive substantial support in every section of the country."

The differences between Goldwater and Rockefeller were sharpest in response to a question as to what, if any, civil rights legislation Congress should pass.

The senator said his "basic feeling is that legislation will not solve the civil rights problem." The governor contended that "the federal government has a deep moral and constitutional responsibility to guarantee equal rights for every American citizen."

Goldwater said: "I completely oppose the public accommodations section (to enforce integration on business firms serving the public) as being unconstitutional and uncalled for."

Rockefeller said a civil rights bill should "contain provisions for stronger voting guarantees, initiative by the attorney general in enforcing civil rights, equal opportunity for employment, non-discriminatory access to public accommodations, and for helping insure public education on a desegregated basis, in compliance with the law of the land."

Goldwater said he believes "there are adequate laws on the books to take care of voting abuses and all that is required is action by the attorney general."

He called a provision of the administration's bill to permit the President to withhold federal grants from states which did not comply with desegregation orders interesting. But he said that as it is written "I doubt that it is either constitutionally or morally correct."

The senator said he would support a provision to permit the attorney general to sue in school integration cases if it were tightly drawn so that it could not be used "to invade other fields."

On some other issues, their views could be summarized this way:

Health care for the elderly:

Goldwater — Said care was provided through Kerr-Mills Act. Proposed tax credits or deductions "for any monies paid for the purpose of taking care of the aged."

Rockefeller — Advocated "a broadly based system of health insurance for those over 65, financed by the fiscally sound, contributory payroll tax but offering freedom of individual choice to select voluntary health plan coverage."

Federal right to work law:

Goldwater — Said the federal government should not usurp the rights of states to pass such laws. Sponsors legislation to call for an open shop in all states but with provision which would permit states to declare for a union shop.

Rockefeller — intends to make an "effort to assure that the national Republican party maintains the position it took in its 1960 platform against federal right-to-work legislation."

Tax reduction while there is a deficit:

Goldwater — "The answer to this would rest primarily on the rapidity of growth of the domestic economy."

Rockefeller—Said an immediate tax cut "designed to stimulate private investment and savings" and to increase consumers' after-tax income should be combined with "a strict policy of holding the line on federal government spending."

Balancing the budget annually:

Goldwater — "The federal budget can and should be balanced during each fiscal year, except during periods of war or other extreme national emergencies."

Farm price supports:

Goldwater—"The 30 per cent of our agriculture now under the present support program should be slowly withdrawn from it, so that at the end of a reasonable period of time the law of supply and demand will determine the prices the farmers receive."

Rockefeller — Said present price supports do not help the farmers who need help most. He added: "For the low-income farmers we need an approach that is entirely separate from subsidies. For the other farmers, we must gradually adopt a new system of supports which will provide true stabilization of prices but not create an artificially high market price in normal times."

Woodland Park Man Dies At Gunnison

GUNNISON (AP) — Authorities today sought the cause of the death of Edwin J. Over, 58, Woodland Park mineralogist, whose body was found in his panel truck Saturday.

Coroner Alex Campbell said Over apparently had been dead for a week when hunters found him. The body showed no wounds that might have caused death.

The truck was parked near the old Lot Mine in the Nine Mile Hill area, south of Gunnison. Over apparently had driven there to hunt for ore specimens.

Promotions Upped for Carson Units

Ten times as many promotions as normal have been authorized for units at Ft. Carson, it was announced today by Maj. Donald J. Tracy, assistant adjuntant general. On top of the pay boost, the promotions will bring substantial pay raises to 1,118 men.

Promotion boards meeting this week will select one sergeant major and 10 first sergeants or master sergeants.

Major unit commanders are authorized to promote in the following pay grades: 64 E7s, 60 E5s, 330 E5s and 653 E4s.

E7s are normally selected by promotion boards but, because of the large allocation received in October, commanders have been authorized to name their own boards for promotion of men to the E7 pay grade.

Four Companies Fight Fire at Storage Company

Prompt work by four companies of the Colorado Springs Fire Department Sunday put out quickly what might have been a very destructive fire. Considerable damage was done as it was.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started in some shipping boxes of the Weicker Transfer and Storage Company that were piled against an outside wall of its garage at 207 W. Las Animas St. The flames did not get into the garage, but spread to the garage of the Telephone Co., at 822 Sierra Madre St., which backs up to the Weicker Garage. This building was considerably damaged inside and out. Four windows were broken out and four trucks that were inside of the garage were damaged.

A fire alarm was turned in at 3:11 p.m. and Companies 1, 3, 4 and the Aerial responded. Assistant Chief Herman Richter was in charge.

Rock Island Seeks Support of Merger With Union Pacific

Tulson said the Rock Island management and every member of the road's board of directors recommend stockholder approval of a Union Pacific merger, and he is working to get the holders of at least two-thirds of Rock Island's stock to vote for the merger. A two-thirds majority of the stock is needed to gain stockholder approval at a special meeting in Chicago on Nov. 15.

A vote on the merger may be the most important action stockholders will ever take to protect their investment in the Rock Island, according to the Rock Island representative.

"The Rock Island should merge with a strong railroad serving the Pacific coast," he said.

"The Union Pacific fills the bill as a merger partner because it connects with the Rock Island at a number of locations and delivers substantial tonnage to the Rock Island for shipment. The U. P. common stock is a prime railroad equity investment with a 63-year record of uninterrupted dividend payments. The Union Pacific has one of the most profitable railroad operations in the country and derives substantial income from its vast resources of land, oil, and minerals. Continuation of these conditions should protect Rock Island stockholders' investment.

"The Union Pacific — Rock Island merger exchange ratio is favorable to Rock Island stockholders. Each share of Rock Island stock will be converted into .718 share of UP common stock. On April 30, 1963, the date the exchange ratio was set, market prices of the two stocks showed that .718 share of Union Pacific stock sold for 25½ per cent more than the price of a share of Rock Island stock."

The Chicago and North Western is opposing the U. P. merger, and has stated its intention ultimately to unify the Rock Island and C&NW.

In an effort to secure control of the Rock Island, the North Western has made an offer of cash and North Western securities to Rock Island stockholders.

"I'm pointing out to our stockholders why they should ignore the North Western's control offer and vote in favor of the proposed Rock Island-Union Pacific merger," Tulson said. "The exact worth of the bond the North Western is offering should be reduced for taxes which the stockholder may have to pay. The addition of the proposed bond issue to North Western's already heavy debt structure could present difficult in obtaining Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the exchange."

The Rock Island representative said that eventual unification of the Rock Island and North Western would not be desirable for the Rock Island. The North Western would not be able to offer the strong financial support of the Union Pacific nor the advantages of access to the Pacific Coast.

Bids Opened For Purchase of South Park Ranch

Bids for purchase of the 6,080-acre ranch in South Park owned by the Colorado Springs Department of Public Utilities will be opened on Nov. 14, according to Utilities Director Ray D. Nixon.

The ranch property, seven miles south of Fairplay on U.S. Highway 285, was purchased by the Utilities Department in 1951 as a possible water source in Colorado Springs' long-range development program.

Nixon pointed out the ranch carries "excellent water rights" but ensuing developments in the Western Slope water programs, including the Blue River and Homestake diversions, made use of the ranch water rights as a domestic water source uneconomical.

The ranch, known as "The Marcott Ranch" or "The Shoun Ranch" includes a 39.49 cubic feet per second water right on Four Mile Creek with No. 1 priority, dated June 15, 1861. This priority, plus other excellent water rights, have contributed to successful operation of the ranch for many years as a hay producer and cattle operation. Since the department acquired the property, it has been leased to various individuals.

Since acquisition of the ranch, the Utilities Department's leases have also utilized 2,257 acres of grazing lands on federal and state lands.

The Utilities Department is relinquishing all its interests in the grazing lands at such time as the property is sold.

Brochures which describe the property and the procedures in bidding on the property may be obtained from Water Superintendent Jack McCullough, Department of Public Utilities, Colorado Springs.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON —Richard M. Nixon must be getting a real lift out of the way he is now figuring in speculation about President Kennedy's 1964 presidential opponent.

This is morale-boosting stuff, and Nixon would be less than human if he didn't like it and thrive on it.

All of a sudden he is being talked about nationally again. What he says on any given subject is once more of national interest.

Sen. Barry Goldwater does his bit in bringing the Nixon image back into political life by mentioning the former vice president as the man to watch if there is a GOP convention deadlock.

RICHARD M. NIXON

This is all heady stuff for a man like Nixon, who just a few months ago was generally considered a political has-been and whose own acts helped measurably to firm up that opinion.

Those who know Nixon best think this is the heart of his reaction to the surprising surge of talk about him and the 1964 nomination.

They feel that he is too savvy a politician to expect that lightning will strike his way again. But it is pleasing to the ego to have your name mentioned now seriously and by a considerable number of Republicans who formerly had been blaming the White House loss in 1960 on the kind of campaign you had waged.

This does not mean that Nixon is going to move into the presidential nomination race by heading up a stop - Goldwater movement. He emphatically means it when he says he is not a candidate.

FOR SAKE OF PARTY, HE'll BE AVAILABLE

Neither is he going to move a hand to propel a bandwagon movement in his behalf. But if any such movement should develop neither is he necessarily going to put on the brakes. If for the sake of party unity the convention should turn to him to avoid a schism, he will be available.

Nixon's strong feeling of pride in what is developing in connection with a possible Nixon draft comes because it perked up spontaneously with no effort on his part.

Actually, the pehnomenon had never been anticipated, even if it was the stuff that, deep down inside, his political dreams were made of.

His political goose had appeared cooked when he was beaten by Gov. Pat Brown in the 1962 California governorship contest. Nixon himself acted as if this were so, beyond any doubt, when he moved to New York last spring to join a big law firm and carve out a new legal career in new surroundings.

At that time he announced that he intended to speak out from time to time on public issues. In that manner he hoped to help shape Republican Party policy, looking toward the 1964 election. All this was on the basis that the party would then have a new standardbearer.

ROLE OF 50-YEAR-OLD ELDER STATESMAN

Nixon made it clear that he felt that was his future role — a sort of 50-year-old elder statesman who had once received the party's highest honor but who had no further personal political ambitions along that line.

Because he had no personal ax to graind, Nixon felt that what he said about party policy and issues and about the need of party unity would carry more weight.

His sole vital interest still is in what is good for the party. But unfortunately whatever speeches he now makes or interviews he grants are being interpreted as a deliberate effort on Nixon's part to get back into the presidential limelight.

He may get bitten by the presidential bug one of these days, but as of today he is definitely not. He is more than willing, however, to have events beyond his control permit him to have a kingmaker role at next July's convention. And it is close to certain that if he is convinced then that a clash between Goldwater forces and anti-Goldwater delegates threatens to split the party wide open, he would accept the nomination for the sake of party unity.

Those who have discussed the present rise of Goldwater sentiment with the former vice president feel that Nixon does not think the conservative senator is anywhere near a shoo-in.

GOLDWATER HAS TOUGH PROBLEMS

If the convention were held today, it would be Goldwater easily. But between now and the March primary in New Hampshire the Arizona senator faces a difficult posture job. In order to get the convention support of party leaders like Gen. Eisenhower, Goldwater, the view is, must tone down those forceful and blunt opinions which have made him "the darling of the right wing." In the process, he cannot afford to lose his zealous conservative-wing support without diminishing his hero status and hurting his delegate drive to boot.

So Nixon, it is said, considers the test of increased public scrutiny this winter the key to the senator's political fortunes. Personally, he is neutral, not for or against any candidate, and so told Gov. Rockefeller when the latter sought his backing after Nixon's return in September for his European trip.

But Nixon has done Goldwater at least one favor.

He has supported Goldwater's proposal that the party issue a brief "statement of principles" instead of writing a verbose, detailed platform at the 1964 convention. This would prevent knockdown factional fights over civil rights and welfare state issues.

Every move that Nixon has made has been in one direction — to display his readiness to support and campaign for any candidate chosen by the convention. In the process, he has avoided making enemies in any camp, should the lightning strike him.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
COLORADO SPRINGS—MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1963

Distinction Noted Between Organizations

Confusion has occurred thruout Colorado regarding two entirely different organizations; one a State Institution, the other a commercial organization. The confusion is the result of a similarity of names: The State Historical Society of Colorado; and The Colorado Historical Association, society officials have said.

The State Historical Society of Colorado is one of the State's educational institutions. It is the agency responsible for the collection, preservation and interpretation of the history of Colorado in all its forms.

Among its activities are: A comprehensive research library of photographs, maps, books, documents, diaries, newspapers and all manner of historical data; the collection of objects related to Colorado history; interpretation of our history through free public exhibits in the Colorado State Museum in Denver and in regional museums throughout the state; interpretation of Colorado history through publications; presentation of free public lectures; free loan to Colorado schools of exhibits, films, and other audio-visual aids related to Colorado history; marking historic sites; providing research data; and through all available means the encouragement and promotion of Colorado's history.

The Colorado Historical Association is a commercial enterprize primarily concerned with publishing. Solicitations are made in Colorado communities regarding these publications and it is during the solicitation that confusion occurs.

The State Historical Society of Colorado would like it clearly understood that there is absolutely no connection between the two organizations; that the Society in no way indorses the activities of The Colorado Historical Association and does not benefit from any money taken in by the association nor from its publications.

Army Pfc. Delbert E. Henry, whose wife, Evelyn, and parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Henry, live in Genoa, recently was awarded The Good Conduct medal while serving with the 83d Artillery in Germany, in early October.

Henry was awarded the medal for exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity as a soldier in active service.

The 25-year-old soldier, a cannoneer in Battery A of the artillery's 2d Howitzer Battalion near Budingen, Germany, entered the Army in October 1961 and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

His a 1957 graduate of Genoa High School and was engaged in farming before entering the army.

MAJ. GEN. D. JOHNSON

Former AF Commander Died Sunday

Maj. Gen. Davenport Johnson, USAF (Ret), former commander of the Second Air Force headquartered in Colorado Springs, died this morning, at Fitzsimons Hospital in Denver. He was 73 years old. He and his wife, Manon, who survives him, had lived at 14 Lake Ave., Broadmoor, since 1943.

A West Point graduate, Maj. Gen. Johnson was a bombing expert who was responsible in making Colorado Springs a key point in a vast heavy bombardment training organization during World War II.

He took command here in June, 1943, when Second Air Force headquarters was transferred from Ft. George Wright in Spokane, Wash.

Johnson was born in 1890 in Tyler, Texas. After his graduation from the military academy, he was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry in June, 1912. As an infantry lieutenant, he was stationed at many Texas border points and was on the expedition to Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914.

Interested in aviation, Gen. Johnson took special courses and, with the outset of World War I, transferred to the Army Air Corps. In the early months of 1917, he was ordered to France as a military observer with the French Army and later rejoined the American expeditionary forces as an aircraft instructor. Later he participated in the Meuse-Argonne offensive and, for this action, was cited in the French Ordre de L'Escadre.

During the years between World Wars I and II, he was assistant to the chief of Air Corps in 1940 in Washington, D. C.

Among his ribbons were the silver star with citation for gallantry in action Nov. 5, 1918 near Forest de Woevre, France; the Purple Heart; a Gen. John J. Pershing citation for meritorious services; the Croix de Guerre with bronze star of France; and the Order of the Crown of Italy.

The funeral will be at 11 a. m. Thursday at Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Driver Injured As Truck Goes Into Ditch

Herman Patrick Maests, 16, of 931 S. Royer St., was reported in satisfactory condition at Penrose Hospital this morning after the pickup truck he was driving went out of control and hurtled into a ditch in the 1600 block of N. Cooper St.

According to a police report, the truck was south bound early this morning when it skidded into the 30-foot deep ditch, left the ditch and flew thru the air for 45 feet, and then hit a side of the ditch and rolled to the bottom, coming to rest on its right side.

Lloyd R. Miller, Bus Driver, Dies

Lloyd Richmond Miller, 60, of 1831 N. Chestnut St., a bus driver for the Colorado Springs Transit Co., died at his home Sunday morning of a probable heart attack.

Mr. Miller was born in Virginia. He had been a resident of Colorado Springs 31 years and was a member of El Paso Lodge No. 13, AF and AM. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Viola Miller and a son and daughter.

Funeral services will be held at the Law Drawing Room at 3 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Leroy Arend will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Manhart Died at Carson Hospital Sunday

Mrs. Edna Jean Manhart, mother of Maj. Gen. Ashton H. Manhart, first native Colorado commander at Ft. Carson, died at 84 at the Ft. Carson Hospital Sunday evening. She had been ill two years ago, but her death was unexpected.

Mrs. Manhart, wife of Albert M. Manhart, who survives her, had been a resident of Douglas County for 60 years. She was born in Blackburn, Mo., March 28, 1879, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doyle. She came to Larkspur, Colo., in 1904 as a teacher. She was married to Albert Manhart at Sedalia, June 12, 1907. She taught school in Sedalia for eight years, at the Oakland School in Douglas County for 11 years and 12 years in Missouri. She was an active parishioner of St. Phillips in the Field Episcopal Church in Douglas County and was a member of the Eastern Star in Douglas County.

Besides her husband and son, Gen. Manhart, now of Alexandria, Va., she is survived by another son, Thomas A. Manhart, of Tulsa, Okla., five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Phillips Church in the Field, west of Sedalia on the Perry Park Road. Burial will be in St. Phillips Cemetery.

Mothers Asked To Start Now on Halloween Attire

Mothers who wait until the last minute to outfit their youngsters in trick-or-treat costumes were warned today that they just might be inviting auto-pedestrain accidents on Halloween. The safety department of the Rocky Mountain AAA club pointed out that trick-or-treaters in ill-fitting, dark costumes might not be able to see oncoming cars and might not be seen by the drivers of such cars.

In urging mothers to put advance thought into the selection and preparation of Halloween costumes, the AAA club offered the following suggestions:

1. Masks should fit properly so that the child can see well.
2. Loose fitting hoods that completely cover the face should be avoided.
3. The costume should include some white or light colored cloth or, better yet, strips of reflective material.
4. The costume should not be so long that it might trip the child during street crossings.
5. Younger children should be escorted by parents or older brothers and sisters—especially across streets.

Added the auto club: Most mothers are aware of the added accident hazards connected with Halloween, but too many mothers wait until it's too late to work up safe costumes.

CU Offers New Correspondence Courses

"Engineering Graphics II," a two-hour credit course for undergraduates, is now being offered by correspondence study by the University of Colorado College of Engineering through the Extension Division.

The course is an introduction to the practices of shape and size description, and to nomography, empirical equations, graphical algebra and graphical calculus. Prerequisites are Engineering Graphics 101 or Descriptive Geometry.

Entertainment Planned to Boost UF Fund

Both the Officers and NCO Clubs are planning gala evenings of entertainment on the 25th with proceeds going to help boost the Academy's contribution to the 1964 United Fund over the top.

At the Officers Club, a special buffet will be held and a 55-minute variety show presented by staff members from the 7625th USAF Hospital, Dean of Faculty, Commandant of Cadets, Department of Athletics and other units.

Special events and prices are planned for the NCO Club and the Club will also turn over 50 per cent of all proceeds for the next two Wednesday nights.

The Academy United Fund scoreboard now shows five organizations have reached 100 per cent participation. They include Cadet Registrar, Command staff, Department of Athletics, Staff Judge Advocate, and the 7625th USAF Hospital. A total of 297 hospital staff members and employes contributed to bring their unit to the 100 per cent mark.

Two organizations, Prep School and Deputy Chief of Staff-Compuroller, have reached 97 per cent participation.

The Academy has now reached an overall participation rate of 78 per cent with a total of $6,844.25 collected.

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON (Special to Gazette Telegraph) — worried over an undesirable drop in morale, the Pentagon changed its decision on proficiency pay and announced that 31,600 Army enlisted men who were scheduled to lose this as of October 1 will continue to receive it until the conclusion of the 12-month period for which they qualified for it.

The Air Force has not changed its proficiency pay program. Only the Army and Marines are using the "superior performance" payment of $30 rather than $25 monthly, which is applicable to those qualified for proficiency pay.

Originally it had looked like some 20,000 enlisted men of the Army would not lose money under the new pay act but when this paricular group received $40 monthly raises, it was decided that they would lose $60 monthly in proficiency pay, which some estimated to be a monthly loss of $20. Others among the enlisted group will lose an additional overseas pay of $20 monthly. As originally planned the total net loss would have been $40 monthly.

On paper it appeared that many enlisted men would gain a 25.7 per cent increase in pay but in reality the net loss would have come to 5.7 per cent or higher.

Of course, the basic increase in pay will increase the amount of future retired pay but this does not pay current bills nor does it do anything for current morale. Hence the decision to restore the proficiency pay on a limited basis.

In the past, Congress has always contained a clause in any pay act that prevents the eligibles from receiving less pay than they did prior to the new pay act. This was not done in the 1963 pay act.

As we previously pointed out, repeal of the dual compensation act as it related to Federal civilian employment of retired officers would only continue the status quo, meaning: leaving retired regular officers discriminated against. Last week we reported that in an unexpected switch Congress had decided to come out with a new amendment to the act in which retired Reservists and retired enlisted men would continue to be exempted, and retired regular officers will receive full civilian salary plus the first $2,500 of retired pay and 50 per cent of the balance of their retired pay.

Several years ago the Army encountered fierce opposition from the powerful Reserve bloc, in the form of the Reserve Officers Assn., and was forced to drop its policy of permitting retired Reserve officers to seek assignment in Reserve units, and thus draw training pay and eventually increase their retired pay. The Air Force Reserve Forces Policy Committee will consider the same proposal at its 21-24 October meeting for Air Force retired Reservists. Topside Air Force is divided on the merits of the proposal. Officially, it has same policy position in opposition, as adopted by Army.

If the Pentagon approves the new proposal in MATS will eliminate some of the "paper work" involved in air travel. Under the new proposal, travel orders of individuals traveling on MATS aircraft would not have to be shown.

While the Air Force has yet to make public its December quota for promotion to technical and master sergeant, word is that there will be smaller promotion approvals than in past.

Lt. Col. Russell C. Clarke, 43-year old commander of MATS 76th ATS, Charleston AFB, has been named commander of the Air Force Task Unit for Operation Deep Freeze 1964.

Air National Guard units in many communities are overstrength, so the suggestion has been made that some of the surplus in manpower be transferred to the Army National Guard.

The Army's new baseball-type utility cap will be made available for sale in overseas clothing stores November 1. This changes original plan to first issue the cap to recruits. The current cap is authorized for wear until June 30, 1964.

Well known Army brat Maj. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commanding VI Corps at Battle Creek, to take command of 1st Infantry Division, Fort Riley, in January 1964.

The tenth annual conference of the Armed Forces Management Association is scheduled for October 29 in San Antonio. All three services are jointly sponsoring the affair which is expected to see Army Assistant Secretary Paul R. Ignatius as presiding official present.

Army retired Maj. Gen. I. Sewell Morris has been elected President of the National Defense Transportation Association.

The Army is making a study at its CONARC headquarters of a plan to shorten the recruit training program from eight to six weeks. Maj. Gen. Richard J. Meyer heads the study group. Tests of the proposed revised training program have been made at Forts Dix and Jackson. In new approach emphasis would be on physical fitness, marksmanship and individual training.

The Air Force wants all of its personnel to be in top physical condition so the Surgeon General has called for relief from active duty of all Air Force so-called "limited duty" people.

The Air Force plans to give preference in on-base housing to its members with large families. This will give this category a higher priority over those with less number of dependents. The Army has nothing on this at this time.

Active duty Air Reserve officers, nearing 20 years for retirement, especially pilots, may be asked to stay on rather than retire. Those not acceptable for more than 20 years will remain eligible for secondary zone promotion.

Class 64-A, consisting of 10 pilots, all Captains, will enter the Aerospace Research Pilot School, Edwards AFB, January 6. They are: E. F. Hasselbrink, David W. Livingston, R. E. Strickland, George J. Marett and Robert E. Whelan from ADC; James W. Hurt and David W. Thomas from Air Training Command; and Ronald V. Franzen and G. Tonini from SAC.

The Marine Corps has changed the name of its Cold Weather Training Center, Bridgeport, Conn. to that of Mountain Warfare Training Center.

Marines to add two new MOS's authorized for Limited Duty Officers, and warrant officers, which are Aviation Supply Officer 3060, and Warehousing Officer 3095. At same time six MOS's will be phased out of the LDO category. They are Utilities Officer 1320, Radar Officer 2710, Radio Officer 2715, Traffic Management Officer 3102, Financial Management Officer 3406, and Informational Services Officer 4302.

Where the LDO MOS is to be phased out, the number of warrant officers authorized for that field will be increased a like number.

The changes will in no way have an adverse affect on the careers of LDO's and WO's serving in MOS's to be phased out.

Academy Life Insurance Co., based at Colorado Springs, will probably be absorbed by Security Life and Accident Co. of Denver, with Army retired four-star General Albert C. Wedemeyer, chairman of Academy Life are expected to remain with the new setup.

If the Congress and the Pentagon held the belief that retired personnel had been wronged morally by the 1958 pay act in that they should have had their retired pay recomputed then rather than October 1, 1963, why should Congress not have made the effective date July 1958? A group of prominent retired officers in Washington, are planning to find out why?

Talk at a recent meeting here considered taking the hassle to the Court of Claims. One legal view held was that one session of Congress is not responsible for acts of a previous Congress. If this is so then no one on active duty has a legal guarantee of future retired pay; if this is so then the situation is pretty serious. The other view expressed is that Congress "broke" a perfectly legal "contract" existing between the Government and the retirees, and that the Court of Claims should consider this. Taking the whole as being of maximum interest to both active duty and retired personnel, it was generally agreed that such a legal move would prove rather expensive. On the other hand a dollar or so contributed by all concerned would insure sufficient funds for the necessary legal work.

Your reporter invites the views of his readers on this. Address your letter to me care of this paper.

On the eve of entering Bethesda, Md. USN hospital, Navy Secretary Fred Korth tendered his resignation to the President effective November 1. His successor will be Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs Paul H. Nitze. The latter is expected to be replaced by his deputy, William P. Bundy.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric's date of resignation is now expected during the latter part of December. Selection of Nitze to succeed Korth changes "Washington speculations on the musical chair game," since the former had been "picked" to succeed Gilpatric. So the game must start all over again.

Carson Division To Support 'Big Lift'

Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division is supporting Operation "BIG LIFT" with 11 officers and warrant officers and 51 enlisted men from sergeant-major rank down.

They are assigned temporarily to the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex. This division will have 14,500 troops airlifted by Military Air Transport Service from Hood, Virginia and North Carolina to Germany starting Oct. 22.

Exercise aircraft will cross the Atlantic for three days to deliver the troops in 250 sorties. At the same time, a 1,500-man Composite Air Strike Force, the tactical air element of Excercise "Big Lift," will leave from Maine airfields and land in France.

Army and Air Force combat units taking part in the exercise will come from U. S. Strike Command components.

Second Division troops will debark at German fields and move to depots containing stored equipment and supplies. As soon as supplies are drawn and the division closed in, the armored will take to the field with United States troops now stationed in Germany.

They will engage in a NATO exercise with the 3rd Armored Division which is stationed in Germany for a week. Most troops will return between Nov. 9 and 25. Rear echelon forces will return Dec. 21.

"Big Lift" will demonstrate ground reinforcement capability within the Department of Defense.

Pikes Peak Gets Snow Mantle

Less than an inch of snow fell at higher elevations Sunday afternoon and evening, but it was enough to leave a white mantle atop Pikes Peak.

The snow melted about as fast as it hit the ground, according to Pikes Peak highway superintendent, Jack Sullivan. No extra equipment was needed to sweep the snow off the highway, he said.

This weekend the toll gate counters clicked for 500 persons. A total of 248,700 persons have driven up the Pikes Peak highway this year, Sullivan said. This is 8,100 more than a year ago.

Distinction Noted Between Organizations

Confusion has occurred thruout Colorado regarding two entirely different organizations; one a State Institution, the other a commercial organization. The confusion is the result of a similarity of names: The State Historical Society of Colorado; and The Colorado Historical Association, society officials have said.

The State Historical Society of Colorado is one of the State's educational institutions. It is the agency responsible for the collection, preservation and interpretation of the history of Colorado in all its forms.

Among its activities are: A comprehensive research library of photographs, maps, books, documents, diaries, newspapers and all manner of historical data; the collection of objects related to Colorado history; interpretation of our history through free public exhibits in the Colorado State Museum in Denver and in regional museums throughout the state; interpretation of Colorado history through publications; presentation of free public lectures; free loan to Colorado schools of exhibits, films, and other audio-visual aids related to Colorado history; marking historic sites; providing research data; and through all available means the encouragement and promotion of Colorado's history.

The Colorado Historical Association is a commercial enterprize primarily concerned with publishing. Solicitations are made in Colorado communities regarding these publications and it is during the solicitation that confusion occurs.

The State Historical Society of Colorado would like it clearly understood that there is absolutely no connection between the two organizations; that the Society in no way indorses the activities of The Colorado Historical Association and does not benefit from any money taken in by the association nor from its publications.

Delbert Henry Given Good Conduct Medal

Army Pfc. Delbert E. Henry, whose wife, Evelyn, and parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Henry, live in Genoa, recently was awarded The Good Conduct medal while serving with the 83d Artillery in Germany, in early October.

Henry was awarded the medal for exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity as a soldier in active service.

The 25-year-old soldier, a cannoneer in Battery A of the artillery's 2d Howitzer Battalion near Budingen, Germany, entered the Army in October 1961 and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

His a 1957 graduate of Genoa High School and was engaged in farming before entering the army.

Former AF Commander Died Sunday

Maj. Gen. Davenport Johnson, USAF (Ret), former commander of the Second Air Force headquartered in Colorado Springs, died this morning, at Fitzsimons Hospital in Denver. He was 73 years old. He and his wife, Manon, who survives him, had lived at 14 Lake Ave., Broadmoor, since 1943.

A West Point graduate, Maj. Gen. Johnson was a bombing expert who was responsible in making Colorado Springs a key point in a vast heavy bombardment training organization during World War II.

He took command here in June, 1943, when Second Air Force headquarters was transferred from Ft. George Wright in Spokane, Wash.

Johnson was born in 1890 in Tyler, Texas. After his graduation from the military academy, he was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry in June, 1912. As an infantry lieutenant, he was stationed at many Texas border points and was on the expedition to Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914.

Interested in aviation, Gen. Johnson took special courses and, with the outset of World War I, transferred to the Army Air Corps. In the early months of 1917, he was ordered to France as a military observer with the French Army and later rejoined the American expeditionary forces as an aircraft instructor. Later he participated in the Meuse-Argonne offensive and, for this action, was cited in the French Ordre de L'Escadre.

During the years between World Wars I and II, he was assistant to the chief of Air Corps in 1940 in Washington, D. C.

Among his ribbons were the silver star with citation for gallantry in action Nov. 5, 1918 near Forest de Woevre, France; the Purple Heart; a Gen. John J. Pershing citation for meritorious services; the Croix de Guerre with bronze star of France; and the Order of the Crown of Italy.

The funeral will be at 11 a. m. Thursday at Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Driver Injured As Truck Goes Into Ditch

Herman Patrick Maests, 16, of 931 S. Royer St., was reported in satisfactory condition at Penrose Hospital this morning after the pickup truck he was driving went out of control and hurtled into a ditch in the 1600 block of N. Cooper St.

According to a police report, the truck was south bound early this morning when it skidded into the 30-foot deep ditch, left the ditch and flew thru the air for 45 feet, and then hit a side of the ditch and rolled to the bottom, coming to rest on its right side.

Lloyd R. Miller, Bus Driver, Dies

Lloyd Richmond Miller, 60, of 1831 N. Chestnut St., a bus driver for the Colorado Springs Transit Co., died at his home Sunday morning of a probable heart attack.

Mr. Miller was born in Virginia. He had been a resident of Colorado Springs 31 years and was a member of El Paso Lodge No. 13, AF and AM. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Viola Miller and a son and daughter.

Funeral services will be held at the Law Drawing Room at 3 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Leroy Arend will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Manhart Died at Carson Hospital Sunday

Mrs. Edna Jean Manhart, mother of Maj. Gen. Ashton H. Manhart, first native Colorado commander at Ft. Carson, died at 84 at the Ft. Carson Hospital Sunday evening. She had been ill two years ago, but her death was unexpected.

Mrs. Manhart, wife of Albert M. Manhart, who survives her, had been a resident of Douglas County for 60 years. She was born in Blackburn, Mo., March 28, 1879, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doyle. She came to Larkspur, Colo., in 1904 as a teacher. She was married to Albert Manhart at Sedalia, June 12, 1907. She taught school in Sedalia for eight years, at the Oakland School in Douglas County for 11 years and 12 years in Missouri. She was an active parishioner of St. Phillips in the Field Episcopal Church in Douglas County and was a member of the Eastern Star in Douglas County.

Besides her husband and son, Gen. Manhart, now of Alexandria, Va., she is survived by another son, Thomas A. Manhart, of Tulsa, Okla., five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Phillips Church in the Field, west of Sedalia on the Perry Park Road. Burial will be in St. Phillips Cemetery.

Mothers Asked To Start Now on Halloween Attire

Mothers who wait until the last minute to outfit their youngsters in trick-or-treat costumes were warned today that they just might be inviting auto-pedestrain accidents on Halloween. Several years ago the Army encountered fierce opposition from the powerful Reserve bloc, in the form of the Reserve Officers Assn., and was forced to drop its policy of permitting retired Reserve officers to seek assignment in Reserve units, and thus draw training pay and eventually increase their retired pay. The Air Force Reserve Forces Policy Committee will consider the same proposal at its 21-24 October meeting for Air Force retired Reservists. Topside Air Force is divided on the merits of the proposal. Officially, it has same policy position in opposition, as adopted by Army.

If the Pentagon approves the new proposal in MATS will eliminate some of the "paper work" involved in air travel. Under the new proposal, travel orders of individuals traveling on MATS aircraft would not have to be shown.

While the Air Force has yet to make public its December quota for promotion to technical and master sergeant, word is that there will be smaller promotion approvals than in past.

Lt. Col. Russell C. Clarke, 43-year old commander of MATS 76th ATS, Charleston AFB, has been named commander of the Air Force Task Unit for Operation Deep Freeze 1964.

Air National Guard units in many communities are overstrength, so the suggestion has been made that some of the surplus in manpower be transferred to the Army National Guard.

The Army's new baseball-type utility cap will be made available for sale in overseas clothing stores November 1. This changes original plan to first issue the cap to recruits. The current cap is authorized for wear until June 30, 1964.

Well known Army brat Maj. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commanding VI Corps at Battle Creek, to take command of 1st Infantry Division, Fort Riley, in January 1964.

The tenth annual conference of the Armed Forces Management Association is scheduled for October 29 in San Antonio. All three services are jointly sponsoring the affair which is expected to see Army Assistant Secretary Paul R. Ignatius as presiding official present.

Army retired Maj. Gen. I. Sewell Morris has been elected President of the National Defense Transportation Association.

The Army is making a study at its CONARC headquarters of a plan to shorten the recruit training program from eight to six weeks. Maj. Gen. Richard J. Meyer heads the study group. Tests of the proposed revised training program have been made at Forts Dix and Jackson. In new approach emphasis would be on physical fitness, marksmanship and individual training.

The Air Force wants all of its personnel to be in top physical condition so the Surgeon General has called for relief from active duty of all Air Force so-called "limited duty" people.

The Air Force plans to give preference in on-base housing to its members with large families. This will give this category a higher priority over those with less number of dependents. The Army has nothing on this at this time.

Active duty Air Reserve officers, nearing 20 years for retirement, especially pilots, may be asked to stay on rather than retire. Those not acceptable for more than 20 years will remain eligible for secondary zone promotion.

Class 64-A, consisting of 10 pilots, all Captains, will enter the Aerospace Research Pilot School, Edwards AFB, January 6. They are: E. F. Hasselbrink, David W. Livingston, R. E. Strickland, George J. Marett and Robert E. Whelan from ADC; James W. Hurt and David W. Thomas from Air Training Command; and Ronald V. Franzen and G. Tonini from SAC.

The Marine Corps has changed the name of its Cold Weather Training Center, Bridgeport, Conn. to that of Mountain Warfare Training Center.

Marines to add two new MOS's authorized for Limited Duty Officers, and warrant officers, which are Aviation Supply Officer 3060, and Warehousing Officer 3095. At same time six MOS's will be phased out of the LDO category. They are Utilities Officer 1320, Radar Officer 2710, Radio Officer 2715, Traffic Management Officer 3102, Financial Management Officer 3406, and Informational Services Officer 4302.

Where the LDO MOS is to be phased out, the number of warrant officers authorized for that field will be increased a like number.

The changes will in no way have an adverse affect on the careers of LDO's and WO's serving in MOS's to be phased out.

Academy Life Insurance Co. based at Colorado Springs, will probably be absorbed by Security Life and Accident Co. of Denver, with Army retired four-star General Albert C. Wedemeyer, chairman of Academy Life are expected to remain with the new setup.

If the Congress and the Pentagon held the belief that retired personnel had been wronged morally by the 1958 pay act in that they should have had their retired pay recomputed then rather than October 1, 1963, why should Congress not have made the effective date July 1958? A group of prominent retired officers in Washington, are planning to find out why?

Talk at a recent meeting here considered taking the hassle to the Court of Claims. One legal view held was that one session of Congress is not responsible for acts of a previous Congress. If this is so then no one on active duty has a legal guarantee of future retired pay; if this is so then the situation is pretty serious. The other view expressed is that Congress "broke" a perfectly legal "contract" existing between the Government and the retirees, and that the Court of Claims should consider this. Taking the whole as being of maximum interest to both active duty and retired personnel, it was generally agreed that such a legal move would prove rather expensive. On the other hand a dollar or so contributed by all concerned would insure sufficient funds for the necessary legal work.

On the eve of entering Bethesda, Md. USN hospital, Navy Secretary Fred Korth tendered his resignation to the President effective November 1. His successor will be Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs Paul H. Nitze. The latter is expected to be replaced by his deputy, William P. Bundy.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric's date of resignation is now expected during the latter part of December. Selection of Nitze to succeed Korth changes "Washington speculations on the musical chair game," since the former had been "picked" to succeed Gilpatric. So the game must start all over again.

Carson Division To Support 'Big Lift'

Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division is supporting Operation "BIG LIFT" with 11 officers and warrant officers and 51 enlisted men from sergeant-major rank down.

They are assigned temporarily to the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex. This division will have 14,500 troops airlifted by Military Air Transport Service from Hood, Virginia and North Carolina to Germany starting Oct. 22.

Exercise aircraft will cross the Atlantic for three days to deliver the troops in 250 sorties. At the same time, a 1,500-man Composite Air Strike Force, the tactical air element of Excercise "Big Lift," will leave from Maine airfields and land in France.

Army and Air Force combat units taking part in the exercise will come from U. S. Strike Command components.

Second Division troops will debark at German fields and move to depots containing stored equipment and supplies. As soon as supplies are drawn and the division closed in, the armored will take to the field with United States troops now stationed in Germany.

They will engage in a NATO exercise with the 3rd Armored Division which is stationed in Germany for a week. Most troops will return between Nov. 9 and 25. Rear echelon forces will return Dec. 21.

"Big Lift" will demonstrate ground reinforcement capability within the Department of Defense.

Pikes Peak Gets Snow Mantle

Less than an inch of snow fell at higher elevations Sunday afternoon and evening, but it was enough to leave a white mantle atop Pikes Peak.

The snow melted about as fast as it hit the ground, according to Pikes Peak highway superintendent, Jack Sullivan. No extra equipment was needed to sweep the snow off the highway, he said.

This weekend the toll gate counters clicked for 500 persons. A total of 248,700 persons have driven up the Pikes Peak highway this year, Sullivan said. This is 8,100 more than a year ago.

Bears' Loss Leaves Tie in West

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lamar McHan, a discard who has been tossed away so often he began to feel as useful as a three of spades in a pinochle deck, has turned a hot hand into the No. 1 upset of the National Football League season.

A 30-year-old journeyman quarterback who wound up at San Francisco three weeks ago in a quick shuffle, McHan completed 10 of 20 passes for 141 yards and one touchdown while guiding the 49ers to their first victory Sunday—20-14 over the previously unbeaten Chicago Bears.

McHan, a Heisman Trophy winner during his college career at Arkansas, turned up at Baltimore last year as the substitute dealer for Johnny Unitas after stops with the Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers. He was cut loose by the Colts this season and considered retiring.

The 49ers, shopping for a quarterback to replace injured John Brodie, first traded for New York's Ralph Guglielmi. Guglielmi declined to report, and the 49ers finally turned to McHan, who mounted San Francisco's most productive offense since opening day.

The upset by the 49ers, whose total scoring output in two previous games consisted of a pair of field goals, threw the Western Conference race into a wide open battle and overshadowed two other developments—Jimmy Brown's career rushing record and Bart Starr's hand injury.

Brown carried 25 times for 144 yards and scored one touchdown on a pass, breaking Joe Perry's rushing record by bringing his total to 8,390 yards as Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 37-7 and became the league's last undefeated team.

Starr, the No. 1 quarterback for Green Bay's defending league champions, suffered a severe injury to his passing hand in a fist-swinging battle with St. Louis' Jimmy Hill during the third period at the Packers' 30-7 romp over the Cardinals.

The Packers' triumph, coupled with the Bears' loss, left Green Bay and Chicago tied for the Western lead with 5-1 records. Cleveland, 6-0, leads the East by two games over St. Louis and New York, both 4-2.

Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns in the Giants' 37-21 victory over Dallas. Pittsburgh came from behind for a 38-27 triumph over Washington. Baltimore edged Detroit 25-21 and Los Angeles downed Minnesota 27-24 for its first victory.

In the American League, San Diego crushed Kansas City 38-17, Houston whipped Buffalo 28-14 and Oakland routed New York 49-26.

McHan led the 49ers on a touchdown drive the first time they had the ball, Jim Vollenweider plunging a yard for the score. Then after Tommy Davis kicked the first of his two field goals, McHan fired a seven-yard TD pass to another former Packer, Gary Knafelc, for a 17-0 lead. The Bears never caught up as San Francisco ended a seven-game losing streak.

Frank Ryan was the big man for the Browns with four touchdown passes, a 10-yarder to Brown and a trio to Gary Collins covering 35, 17 and 14 yards. That brought his TD total to a league-leading 16. Brown eclipsed the career rushing mark of 8,296 yards set by Perry over a 14-year span. Brown is in his seventh season.

Jim Taylor scored twice and Tom Moore once on yard smashes and Jerry Kramer kicked three goals for the Packers. Meanwhile, the Cardinals found their league-leading offense stalled. Starr left after the scuffle with Hill, had his hand packed in ice and is scheduled for X rays to determine the extent of the injuries.

Tittle was cut around the left eye in a second-period skirmish, but wound up firing two TD strikes to Phil King and one each to Joe Walton and Del Shofner. Dick Lynch joined the Giants' scorers on an 82-yard run with an interception of a Cowboys' pass.

The Steelers, trailing 27-24, moved ahead to stay in the fourth quarter as Dick Haley intercepted a pass by Redskins' quarterback Norm Snead and rambled 24 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. A fumble led to an additional Pittsburgh TD, a four-yard pass from Ed Brown to Buddy Dial.

The Colts also won on an interception. Andy Nelson picked off a fourth-quarter pass by Milt Plum — the only one attempted by the Lions' quarterback and lugged it 26 yards for the clinching score.

The Rams, who had lost eight in a row, won their first for Coach Harland Svare when Danny Villanueva kicked two 27-yard field goals in the final period against the Vikings.

An Ominous Omen

The egg-shaped football is molded to take funny bounces—and no coach knows this better than Ben Martin of the Air Force Academy.

"This season has had its extremes in emotional experiences for the team. We've been at both the high and low points—and the season's only half over," Martin said as his Falcons this week tried to bounce back after being upset by Maryland last Saturday in the Terrapins' first victory in five starts, 21-14.

"We've been on top of the world in games against Washington and Nebraska. And last Saturday was our low point. The season's half over and we've upset favorites twice, we've been upset twice (also at Southern Methodist) and beaten one team we were supposed to (Colorado State U.)," Martin said.

"It's been an exciting year to watch the Falcons, tho, if you don't care who wins the game. If the second half of the season is anything like the first it will really be something. I just hope we can cut down on some of those upsets on the minus side," he continued.

The Falcons, of course, were handed their second defeat in five games when Marland scored on the final play of Saturday's game, with just two seconds left on the clock when the play began. Quarterback Dick Shiner, who had been chided by his own teammates at halftime for not hitting the target, connected to speedy flanker Darryl Hill on a 37-yard pass for the winning touchdown.

The Maryland team had openly asked Coach Tom Nugent for another quarterback in the second half, but Shiner responded with a brilliant performance to bring the Terps from behind a 14-0 halftime deficit. They scored two touchdowns in the final four minutes.

"Now we can appreciate the upsets we have had this season," the Falcons' mentor said. "We know how it feels — and it isn't good."

This next Saturday the Caddets return to Falcon Stadium after three weeks on the road, and they are hoping for a little luck to go with their ability.

With Shiner's passing still burning in their memory, however, it looks like it might be another troublesome afternoon. Boston College comes to the AFA with one of the nation's finest passers, Jack Concannon, who ranked sixth in the country last year as a junior.

The Falcons undoubtedly will be favored — but that could be an ominous omen. The Air Force has gone by the odds only once in five games!

LOY HOLMAN

It may be the year of the quarterback in collegiate circles across the country but in Colorado Springs high school ranks it's shaping up as a fullback's fall.

Local fullbacks are so dangerous that even when they're supposed to be sidelined with injuries, they're destroying the opposition. Over the weekend, Wasson, Palmer, and St. Mary's all had their leading ground gainers (fullbacks) out of action — at least at the start of their respective contests.

Mike Teague, the Thunderbird bulldozer who has been hindered by a badly bruised leg since early in the campaign, was held out of contact work all last week and even as late as Thursday Coach Gib Funk could see little hope of his running star being available for Friday night's game at Grand Junction.

Saturday morning the Tigers must have been wondering what Teague looks like at full speed. Pressed into action in the important contest, the Wasson senior gained 111 yards and scored the only touchdown in the T-Birds' 7-0 victory.

Sunday, Sam Zavatti of St. Mary's, who has been troubled by an injured hand, was an impatient spectator as his team kicked off to Denver Annunciation in a DPL contest at Wasson Stadium.

The vacation was short, however. As the Pirates' attack sputtered in the first period, Zavatti was hustled onto the field and by early in the third period he had gained 101 yards in 13 carries, scored two touchdowns, and recovered a fumble that set up a third.

Over at Palmer, Ray Cool, who suffered a knee injury in the Terrors' loss to Centennial the week before, was the only one of the three who didn't add to his team's rushing lead.

There's no holding these fullbacks down, however. While the football team was winning, 7-6, Cool was pressed into action at halftime where, as student body president, he was called on to buss the Homecoming queen.

One might say that he really scored!

Nicklaus Adds $$$ In Vegas

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, having grabbed most of the golfing silver in the silver state of Nevada, headed for Paris today and something less tangible—prestige.

This remarkable young man, only 23, the Master's and PGA and former National Open champion will team with Arnold Palmer to represent the United States in the Canada Cup matches.

Admittedly, any francs he wins in France will not disturb Nicklaus' income tax status much in this country.

Nicklaus won the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament Sunday with a come-from-behind 69 for a 72-hole score of 276. He did it with his second big rally in four days.

Nicklaus trailed the 26-year-old Californian by two strokes going into the final nine holes. Then Nicklaus poured it on, and Geiberger had to settle for a tie with Gay Brewer, each with a 70 for 277.

Nicklaus collected $13,000, the same sum he earned in winning the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions last spring. He also won a $4,000 automobile.

It boosted his official PGA earnings for the year to $98,990.

Nicklaus said he would kind of like to hit the 100 grand figure before the year is out. He'll play in Australia and then try to reach the goal in the Cajun Classic in Lafayette, La.—home of the golfing Hebert brothers, Jay and Lionel—next month.

ST. MARY'S TRACK MEET???—Dave Adamson (70) makes like a hurdler for the St. Mary's Pirates as he clears the Annunciation line on his way to a sizeable gain in the Buc's 27-6 Homecoming victory at Wasson Stadium Sunday afternoon. Altho the game was football, the Pirates nearly turned it into a track meet in the first half when they gained most of their 256 yards of rushing. Other Pirate players identifiable are Dave Smith (54), Marty Booth (80), and Fred Bauman (60). (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

St. Mary's Pounds Annunciation With Strong First Half, 27-6

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

St. Mary's, its business with the Denver Parochial League's upper-echelon concluded, resumed its hum-drum march thru the conference's second division clubs Sunday, pounding Denver Annunciation 27-6 before 1,500 Homecoming fans at Wasson Stadium.

The Pirates, fresh from last week's sparkling 14-0 victory over touted Mullen, caused their fans little anxiety Sunday. The St. Mary's line tossed Annunciation's forwards around like empty flour sacks as the Bucs romped to four first half touchdowns and then retired to the sidelines as Coach Chuck Haering took advantage of the opportunity to give his reserves as much experience as possible.

With the St. Mary's second and third stringers across the line, Annunciation finally unpacked a bit of offense during the final two quarters and actually controlled the ball for much of the time. The issue, however, was never in doubt as Haering still had his first unit available as "shock troops" in case the Cardinals became too frisky.

Concerning the first half story, it was a tale of woe for the visitors. They managed a net of four yards rushing and had failed to complete a pass until Stan Gora and Richard Castro combined on a 49 yard aerial against the reserves one play before the second quarter ended. That provided the Cards with their initial first down.

The Pirates, meanwhile, had flitted thru the scrambled Annunciation defenses at will. Fullback Sam Zavatti, who is hindered by an injured hand and did not start, joined the backfield after several minutes had elapsed and immediately picked up a St. Mary's attack which had lagged temporarily on the first Buc drive. Zavatti, proving that the hand injury had no effect on his legs, pounded the Cardinals for 101 yards in just 13 carries and scored two touchdowns.

The Bucs blew an early chance to move across the goal. After backpedaling a couple of yards on their first offensive series, the Cards' sent Gora back to punt from his own 19 and the ball, booted into a strong wind, came almost straight down at the 23. The Pirates quickly whipped to a first down at the 13 but on third and three from the six, quarterback Jerry Knauf elected to pass and had it picked off by a cardinal defender in the end zone.

Gora punted to the St. Mary's 41 three downs later and the Pirates, with Zavatti wheeling for 13 yards on his first carry, moved quickly to the 10 before Eddie Thomas came up with a Buc fumble at the seven.

These setbacks were merely temporary, however. The Cards got one yard in three downs this time before Gora lost another battle with the wind, dropping a seven yard punt at the 15. After a holding penalty moved the Pirates back to the 30, Knauf hit Dave Grantz with a pass at the seven and Zavatti plunged over two plays later. LeRoy Eckhoff following with the first of his three extra points.

Zavatti recovered a fumble at the Annunciation 19 on the first play after the kickoff and Knauf, allowing the shaken Cards no chance to recover, fired a touchdown pass to Bruce Mangerich on the following down.

Early in the second period Zavatti reeled off a 44 yard run from his own 25 to the Cards' 31 to set up the third score which the Bucs punched over six plays later. Chris White carried it in from the five. An interception by Eckhoff and return to the Annunciation 26 opened the way for the fourth tally which Zavatti, with a fine second effort, cashed in from the three with 3:46 left in the half.

Haering, with characteristic mercy, called off his horses at that point and increased the Cardinals' enjoyment of the contest about ten-fold. In fact, the Cards surprised even themselves with a quick 81 yard spurt for their third quarter touchdown in just four plays. Bob Frederico did the main damage with a 42 yard gallop to the Pirates' 39 and another for 22 to the 17. Thomas carried it in from that point.

Ski Film Kicks Off Season

The ski season in the Pikes Peak Region gets its kick-off—snow or no snow — Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Broadmoor International Center when Warren Miller shows his latest ski movie.

Personally narrated by the world-famous skier-cameraman, "Sound of Skiing" represent the ninth annual appearance here by Miller. The 90-minute color spectacular is open to the public with tickets on sale at the door.

Of special interest to local skiers will be the first appearance of Ski Broadmoor and many local skiers in the movie. Included will be a scene of Gen. John Gerhart, NORAD commander-in-chief, in a "duel" with a snow-making machine.

In addition to the usual hilarious scenes all over the world, this year's "Sound of Skiing" will feature shots of the Olympic areas and preparation of trails at Innsbruck for the 1964 Olympics.

All ski clubs in the region will be on hand with officials to tell of the 1963-64 plans locally.

Mountaineers Next Stop For Tigers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado College, cheered by a 13-0 upset defeat of Concordia, Neb. Teachers will try Saturday to stop the drive of Western State to the football championship of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

The Tigers, who are 0-1 in conference play and 3-3 overall, journey to Gunnison to tangle with the tough Mountaineers, now undefeated in five games this season.

Colorado College showed a stubborn defense inside its own 10-yard line in breaking Concordia's winning streak of five straight.

T.V. Elaine Slated to Run

George Murphey's T. V. Elaine is scheduled in the featured 10th race at Rocky Mountain Kennel Club tonight as a reward of her win in the seventh race last Thursday.

In her last effort, T. V. Elaine broke from the four box and held the lead all the way to finish two and a half lengths ahead of Jannie Rae, followed by His Time and Sweet Maude.

Six times in the money out of eight efforts will find a lot of fans backing Alderson and Lentz's Belle Hi in the same race tonight as Joe Mamino's Raise Havoc, G. A. Alderson's Traveler Joe, C. W. Wilson's John Kay, Inky Black from the Paul Sutherland Kennel, the Gold Coast Kennel's Perfect Chief and Westy Royald from the Shamrock Kennels complete the eight greyhound field of the feature.

It's another of the 11th race awards at RMKC tonight with two grade A events and three of the races — the fourth, seventh and eleventh— being run over the Springs Course of 2080 feet.

Bears' Loss Leaves Tie in West

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lamar McHan, a discard who has been tossed away so often he began to feel as useful as a three of spades in a pinochle deck, has turned a hot hand into the No. 1 upset of the National Football League season.

A 30-year-old journeyman quarterback who wound up at San Francisco three weeks ago in a quick shuffle, McHan completed 10 of 20 passes for 141 yards and one touchdown while guiding the 49ers to their first victory Sunday—20-14 over the previously unbeaten Chicago Bears.

McHan, a Heisman Trophy winner during his college career at Arkansas, turned up at Baltimore last year as the substitute dealer for Johnny Unitas after stops with the Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers. He was cut loose by the Colts this season and considered retiring.

The 49ers, shopping for a quarterback to replace injured John Brodie, first traded for New York's Ralph Guglielmi. Guglielmi declined to report, and the 49ers finally turned to McHan, who mounted San Francisco's most productive offense since opening day.

The upset by the 49ers, whose total scoring output in two previous games consisted of a pair of field goals, threw the Western Conference race into a wide open battle and overshadowed two other developments—Jimmy Brown's career rushing record and Bart Starr's hand injury.

Brown carried 25 times for 144 yards and scored one touchdown on a pass, breaking Joe Perry's rushing record by bringing his total to 8,390 yards as Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 37-7 and became the league's last undefeated team.

Starr, the No. 1 quarterback for Green Bay's defending league champions, suffered a severe injury to his passing hand in a fist-swinging battle with St. Louis' Jimmy Hill during the third period at the Packers' 30-7 romp over the Cardinals.

The Packers' triumph, coupled with the Bears' loss, left Green Bay and Chicago tied for the Western lead with 5-1 records. Cleveland, 6-0, leads the East by two games over St. Louis and New York, both 4-2.

Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns in the Giants' 37-21 victory over Dallas. Pittsburgh came from behind for a 38-27 triumph over Washington. Baltimore edged Detroit 25-21 and Los Angeles downed Minnesota 27-24 for its first victory.

In the American League, San Diego crushed Kansas City 38-17, Houston whipped Buffalo 28-14 and Oakland routed New York 49-26.

McHan led the 49ers on a touchdown drive the first time they had the ball, Jim Vollenweider plunging a yard for the score. Then after Tommy Davis kicked the first of his two field goals, McHan fired a seven-yard TD pass to another former Packer, Gary Knafelc, for a 17-0 lead. The Bears never caught up as San Francisco ended a seven-game losing streak.

Frank Ryan was the big man for the Browns with four touchdown passes, a 10-yarder to Brown and a trio to Gary Collins covering 35, 17 and 14 yards. That brought his TD total to a league - leading 16. Brown eclipsed the career rushing mark of 8,296 yards set by Perry over a 14-year span. Brown is in his seventh season.

Jim Taylor scored twice and Tom Moore once on yard smashes and Jerry Kramer kicked three goals for the Packers. Meanwhile, the Cardinals found their league-leading offense stalled. Starr left after the scuffle with Hill, had his hand packed in ice and is scheduled for X rays to determine the extent of the injuries.

Tittle was cut around the left eye in a second-period skirmish, but wound up firing two TD strikes to Phil King and one each to Joe Walton and Del Shofner. Dick Lynch joined the Giants' scorers on an 82-yard run with an interception of a Cowboys' pass.

The Steelers, trailing 27-24, moved ahead to stay in the fourth quarter as Dick Haley intercepted a pass by Redskins' quarterback Norm Snead and rambled 24 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. A fumble led to an additional Pittsburgh TD, a four-yard pass from Ed Brown to Buddy Dial.

The Colts also won on an interception. Andy Nelson picked off a fourth-quarter pass by Milt Plum — the only one attempted by the Lions' quarterback and lugged it 26 yards for the clinching score.

The Rams, who had lost eight in a row, won their first for Coach Harland Svare when Danny Villanueva kicked two 27-yard field goals in the final period against the Vikings.

Nicklaus Adds $$$ In Vegas

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, having grabbed most of the golfing silver in the silver state of Nevada, headed for Paris today and something less tangible—prestige.

This remarkable young man, only 23, the Master's and PGA and former National Open champion will team with Arnold Palmer to represent the United States in the Canada Cup matches.

Admittedly, any francs he wins in France will not disturb Nicklaus' income tax status much in this country.

Nicklaus won the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament Sunday with a come-from-behind 69 for a 72-hole score of 276. He did it with his second big rally in four days.

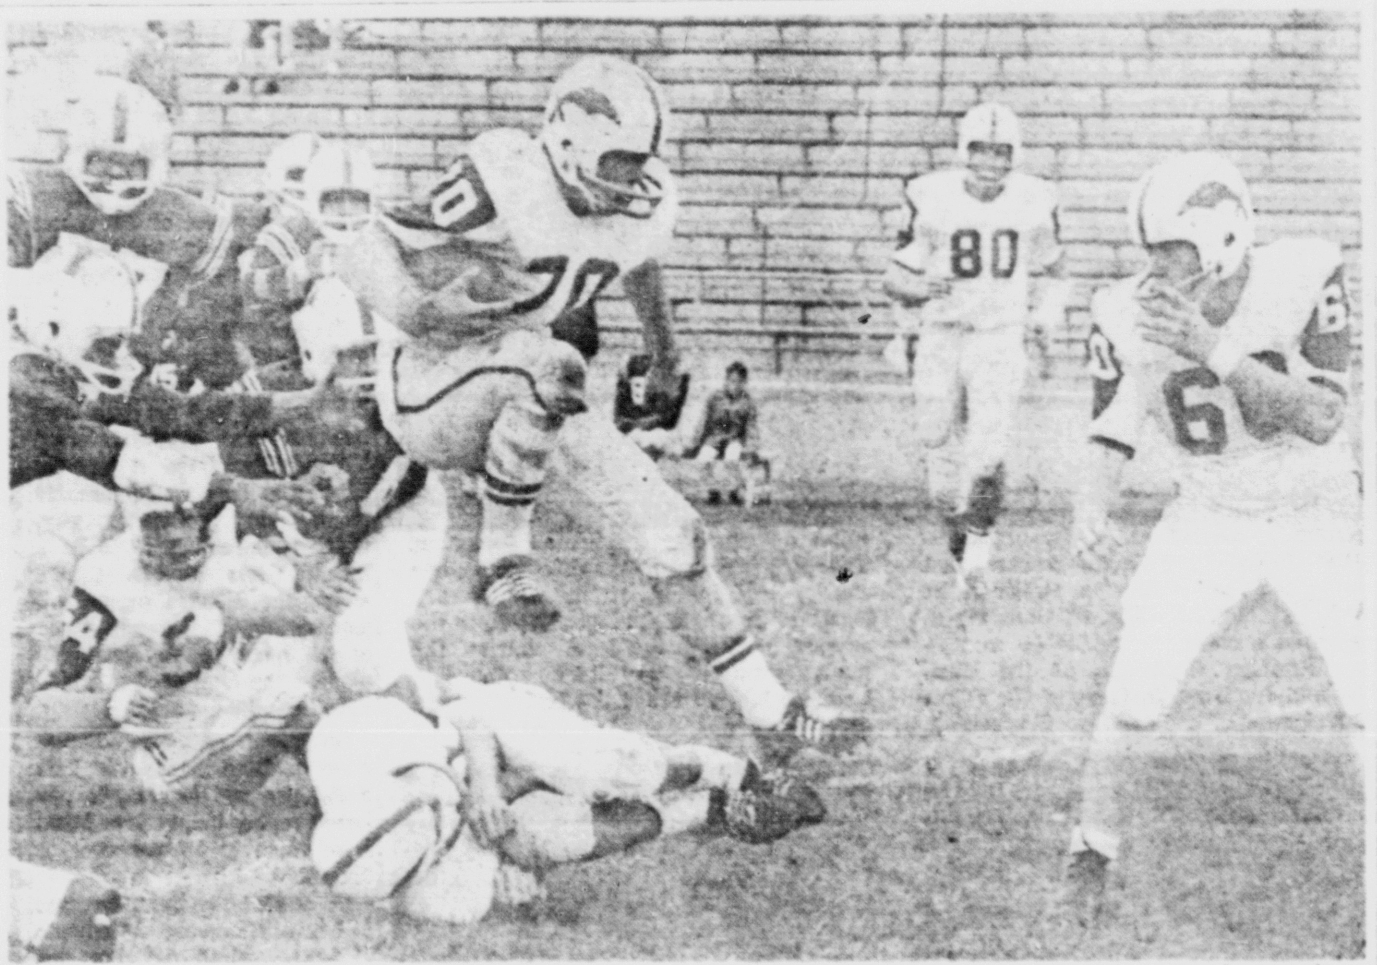
Nicklaus trailed the 26-year-old Californian by two strokes going into the final nine holes. Then Nicklaus poured it on, and Geiberger had to settle for a tie with Gay Brewer, each with a 70 for 277.

Nicklaus collected $13,000, the same sum he earned in winning the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions last spring. He also won a $4,000 automobile.

It boosted his official PGA earnings for the year to $98,990.

Nicklaus said he would kind of like to hit the 100 grand figure before the year is out. He'll play in Australia and then try to reach the goal in the Cajun Classic in Lafayette, La.—home of the golfing Hebert brothers, Jay and Lionel—next month.



ST. MARY'S TRACK MEET???—Dave Adamson (70) makes like a hurdler for the St. Mary's Pirates as he clears the Annunciation line on his way to a sizeable gain in the Buc's 27-6 Homecoming victory at Wasson Stadium Sunday afternoon. Altho the game was football, the Pirates nearly turned it into a track meet in the first half when they gained most of their 256 yards of rushing. Other Pirate players identifiable are Dave Smith (54), Marty Booth (80), and Fred Bauman (60). (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

St. Mary's Pounds Annunciation With Strong First Half, 27-6

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

St. Mary's, its business with the Denver Parochial League's upper-echelon concluded, resumed its hum-drum march thru the conference's second division clubs Sunday, pounding Denver Annunciation 27-6 before 1,500 Homecoming fans at Wasson Stadium.

The Pirates, fresh from last week's sparkling 14-0 victory over touted Mullen, caused their fans little anxiety Sunday. The St. Mary's line tossed Annunciation's forwards around like empty flour sacks as the Bucs romped to four first half touchdowns and then retired to the sidelines as Coach Chuck Haering took advantage of the opportunity to give his reserves as much experience as possible.

With the St. Mary's second and third stringers across the line, Annunciation finally unpacked a bit of offense during the final two quarters and actually controlled the ball for much of the time. The issue, however, was never in doubt as Haering still had his first unit available as "shock troops" in case the Cardinals became too frisky.

Concerning the first half story, it was a tale of woe for the visitors. They managed a net of four yards rushing and had failed to complete a pass until Stan Gora and Richard Castro combined on a 49 yard aerial against the reserves one play before the second quarter ended. That provided the Cards with their initial first down.

The Pirates, meanwhile, had flitted thru the scrambled Annunciation defenses at will. Fullback Sam Zavatti, who is hindered by an injured hand and did not start, joined the backfield after several minutes had elapsed and immediately picked up a St. Mary's attack which had lagged temporarily on the first Buc drive. Zavatti, proving that the hand injury had no effect on his legs, pounded the Cardinals for 101 yards in just 13 carries and scored two touchdowns.

The Bucs blew an early chance to move across the goal. After backpedaling a couple of yards on their first offensive series, the Cards' sent Gora back to punt from his own 19 and the ball, booted into a strong wind, came almost straight down at the 23. The Pirates quickly whipped to a first down at the 13 but on third and three from the six, quarterback Jerry Knauf elected to pass and had it picked off by a cardinal defender in the end zone.

Gora punted to the St. Mary's 41 three downs later and the Pirates, with Zavatti wheeling for 13 yards on his first carry, moved quickly to the 10 before Eddie Thomas came up with a Buc fumble at the seven.

These setbacks were merely temporary, however. The Cards got one yard in three downs this time before Gora lost another battle with the wind, dropping a seven yard punt at the 15. After a holding penalty moved the Pirates back to the 30, Knauf hit Dave Grantz with a pass at the seven and Zavatti plunged over two plays later. LeRoy Eckhoff following with the first of his three extra points.

Zavatti recovered a fumble at the Annunciation 19 on the first play after the kickoff and Knauf, allowing the shaken Cards no chance to recover, fired a touchdown pass to Bruce Mangerich on the following down.

Early in the second period Zavatti reeled off a 44 yard run from his own 25 to the Cards' 31 to set up the third score which the Bucs punched over six plays later. Chris White carried it in from the five. An interception by Eckhoff and return to the Annunciation 26 opened the way for the fourth tally which Zavatti, with a fine second effort, cashed in from the three with 3:46 left in the half.

Haering, with characteristic mercy, called off his horses at that point and increased the Cardinals' enjoyment of the contest about ten-fold. In fact, the Cards surprised even themselves with a quick 81 yard spurt for their third quarter touchdown in just four plays. Bob Frederico did the main damage with a 42 yard gallop to the Pirates' 39 and another for 22 to the 17. Thomas carried it in from that point.

T.V. Elaine Slated to Run

George Murphey's T. V. Elaine is scheduled in the featured 10th race at Rocky Mountain Kennel Club tonight as a reward of her win in the seventh race last Thursday.

In her last effort, T. V. Elaine broke from the four box and held the lead all the way to finish two and a half lengths ahead of Jannie Rae, followed by His Time and Sweet Maude.

Six times in the money out of eight efforts will find a lot of fans backing Alderson and Lentz's Belle Hi in the same race tonight as Joe Mamino's Raise Havoc, G. A. Alderson's Traveler Joe, C. W. Wilson's John Kay, Inky Black from the Paul Sutherland Kennel, the Gold Coast Kennel's Perfect Chief and Westy Royald from the Shamrock Kennels complete the eight greyhound field of the feature.

It's another of the 11th race awards at RMKC tonight with two grade A events and three of the races — the fourth, seventh and eleventh— being run over the Springs Course of 2080 feet.

Ski Film Kicks Off Season

The ski season in the Pikes Peak Region gets its kick-off—snow or no snow — Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Broadmoor International Center when Warren Miller shows his latest ski movie.

Personally narrated by the world-famous skier-camerman, "Sound of Skiing" represent the ninth annual appearance here by Miller. The 90-minute color spectacular is open to the public with tickets on sale at the door.

Of special interest to local skiers will be the first appearance of Ski Broadmoor and many local skiers in the movie. Included will be a scene of Gen. John Gerhart, NORAD commander-in-chief, in a "duel" with a snow-making machine.

In addition to the usual hilarious scenes all over the world, this year's "Sound of Skiing" will feature shots of the Olympic areas and preparation of trails at Innsbruck for the 1964 Olympics.

All ski clubs in the region will be on hand with officials to tell of the 1963-64 plans locally.

An Ominous Omen

"This season has had its extremes in emotional experiences for the team. We've been at both the high and low points—and the season's only half over," Martin said as his Falcons this week tried to bounce back after being upset by Maryland last Saturday in the Terrapins' first victory in five starts, 21-14.

"We've been on top of the world in games against Washington and Nebraska. And last Saturday was our low point. The season's half over and we've upset favorites twice, we've been upset twice (also at Southern Methodist) and beaten one team we were supposed to (Colorado State U.)," Martin said.

"It's been an exciting year to watch the Falcons, tho, if you don't care who wins the game. If the second half of the season is anything like the first it will really be something. I just hope we can cut down on some of those upsets on the minus side," he continued.

The Falcons, of course, were handed their second defeat in five games when Marland scored on the final play of Saturday's game, with just two seconds left on the clock when the play began. Quarterback Dick Shiner, who had been chided by his own teammates at halftime for not hitting the target, connected to speedy flanker Darryl Hill on a 37-yard pass for the winning touchdown.

The Maryland team had openly asked Coach Tom Nugent for another quarterback in the second half, but Shiner responded with a brilliant performance to bring the Terps from behind a 14-0 halftime deficit. They scored two touchdowns in the final four minutes.

"Now we can appreciate the upsets we have had this season," the Falcons' mentor said. "We know how it feels — and it isn't good."

This next Saturday the Caddets return to Falcon Stadium after three weeks on the road, and they are hoping for a little luck to go with their ability.

With Shiner's passing still burning in their memory, however, it looks like it might be another troublesome afternoon. Boston College comes to the AFA with one of the nation's finest passers, Jack Concannon, who ranked sixth in the country last year as a junior.

The Falcons undoubtedly will be favored — but that could be an ominous omen. The Air Force has gone by the odds only once in five games!

LOY HOLMAN

It may be the year of the quarterback in collegiate circles across the country but in Colorado Springs high school ranks it's shaping up as a fullback's fall.

Local fullbacks are so dangerous that even when they're supposed to be sidelined with injuries, they're destroying the opposition. Over the weekend, Wasson, Palmer, and St. Mary's all had their leading ground gainers (fullbacks) out of action — at least at the start of their respective contests.

Mike Teague, the Thunderbird bulldozer who has been hindered by a badly bruised leg since early in the campaign, was held out of contact work all last week and even as late as Thursday Coach Gib Funk could see little hope of his running star being available for Friday night's game at Grand Junction.

Saturday morning the Tigers must have been wondering what Teague looks like at full speed. Pressed into action in the important contest, the Wasson senior gained 111 yards and scored the only touchdown in the T-Birds' 7-0 victory.

Sunday, Sam Zavatti of St. Mary's, who has been troubled by an injured hand, was an impatient spectator as his team kicked off to Denver Annunciation in a DPL contest at Wasson Stadium.

The vacation was short, however. As the Pirates' attack sputtered in the first period, Zavatti was hustled onto the field, and by early in the third period he had gained 101 yards in 13 carries, scored two touchdowns, and recovered a fumble that set up a third.

Over at Palmer, Ray Cool, who suffered a knee injury in the Terrors' loss to Centennial the week before, was the only one of the three who didn't add to his team's rushing lead.

There's no holding these fullbacks down, however. While the football team was winning, 7-6, Cool was pressed into action at halftime where, as student body president, he was called on to buss the Homecoming queen.

One might say that he really scored!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado College, cheered by a 13-0 upset defeat of Concordia, Neb. Teachers will try Saturday to stop the drive of Western State to the football championship of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

The Tigers, who are 0-1 in conference play and 3-3 overall, journey to Gunnison to tangle with the tough Mountaineers, now undefeated in five games this season.

Colorado College showed a stubborn defense inside its own 10-yard line in breaking Concordia's winning streak of five straight.

Halloween Scare Early For Top College Teams

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas, Wisconsin and Pitt, ranked 1-2-3 in The Associated Press poll, each preserved their unbeaten and untied slates, but just barely. The same went for Dartmouth, which extended to 15 the nation's longest winning streak for major teams. It had to uncork a hipper-dipper play in the closing minutes to beat Holy Cross, 13-8.

Texas took an early lead against Arkansas, then hung on desperately to pull out a 17-13 victory over the Porkers. Tony Crosby, the shoeless kicker, booted a key field goal for the Longhorns.

Iowa gave Wisconsin fits, but the Badgers eked out a 10-7 victory on Dave Fronek's 20-yard field goal. And Pitt had to come from behind to beat West Virginia 13-10 on a 46-yard sprint by Paul Martha in the last quarter.

Texas, the Southwest Conference leader, now has a 5-0-0 record. Wisconsin, tops in the Big Ten, is 4-0-0 as is Pitt, an independent rated the best in the East. This week Texas plays Rice, Wisconsin meets Ohio State and Pitt tangles with Navy.

Ohio State, No. 4 in last week's AP poll, took a 32-3 shellacking from Southern California, last year's national champions, while Navy No. 10, rounded from its Southern Methodist defeat, to whip Virginia Military 21-12.

Unbeaten and untied Auburn and Jimmy Sidle got into the national picture by walloping Georgia Tech, No. 8, 29-21. Mississippi, No. 5 blanked Tulane 21-0, but Oklahoma, No. 6, had to go all out to beat Kansas 21-18. So did seventh-ranked Illinois, which capitalized on fumbles to beat Minnesota 16-6. Alabama, No. 9, with Joe Namath passing for three TD's, crushed Tennessee 35-0 and Northwestern, tied for No. 10 with Navy, romped against Miami of Ohio 37-6.

In games this week Mississippi plays Vanderbilt, Oklahoma takes on Kansas State, Illinois meets UCLA, Georgia Tech meets Tulane; Alabama encounters Houston and Northwestern battles Michigan State.

Unbeaten but tied Duke defeated Clemson 35-30 and remained tied with North Carolina for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Leaders in the, other major conferences are Virginia Tech in Southern Conference; Washington and UCLA tied in the Big Six; Utah in the Western Athletic; Auburn in the Southeastern; Nebraska and Missouri in the Big Eight; Cincinnati and Wichita in the Missouri Valley and Massachusetts in the Yankee.

Pitt tops the major independents.

Oklahoma Gets Victory To Start Title Defense

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Red of Oklahoma overcame an all-out effort by Kansas for a winning start in defense of its Big Eight football championship. The outlook now is for a tight three-team race between Oklahoma, Missouri and Nebraska, with Kansas and Iowa State in the role of spoilers.

Iowa State spoiled Kansas' title hopes and put the damper on Colorado's first division aim, 19-7, but it's doubtful the ambitious Cyclones can handle potent Missouri at Ames Saturday. It's the top game on a four game conference schedule. Missou is 2-0, Iowa State 2-1 in league play.

Oklahoma, 1-0, should easily cruise past Kansas State, 0-3, at Manhattan; Kansas, 0-2, figures to get its first conference victory against Oklahoma State, 0-2, at Lawrence; and Nebraska, 2-0 should stay high in the title picture by beating Colorado, 2-1, at Lincoln.

Missouri's power running game guided by quarterback Gary Lane and its stingy defense led by George Seals were too much for Oklahoma State, 28-6, at Stillwater. Monroe Phelps gives Missou and outside threat and Lane seldom misses the passes he needs most.

Iowa State stopped Colorado cold at Boulder except for a 78-yard scoring run by Bill Harris, and converted two fumbles and a blocked quick kick into points. A 41-yard field goal by Dick Limerick put the Cyclones ahead to stay.

Kansas surprised Oklahoma with an unbalanced line and ripped the Sooners for 269 yards rushing, most against an Oklahoma team in 20 games since Colorado's league champs gained 291 on Oct. 28, 1961. Gale Sayers had 110 yards in 16 trips, including a 61-yard scoring run, and caught a 7-yard touchdown pass. But Oklahoma found a hole in the Kansas pass defense and made the big plays it needed.

Norman Smith, a surprise starter at quarterback, and fullback Jim Grisham were the top OU players. Down 10-7, the Big Red moved in front to stay on a 17-yard scoring pass, Bobby Page to Rick McCurdy. Kansas stormed back with a 66-yard drive, only to lose a fumble at the Sooner 9.

Grisham had 74 of Oklahoma's 216 yards on the ground.

Kansas had a 312-296 edge in runn-pass yardage but its air game was thwarted by two key interceptions.

Interceptions also proved K-State's downfall against Nebraska, 28-6, at Manhattan. Cornhusker linemen Ron Michka and Larry Tomlinson got the second and third touchdowns on stolen passes. But K-State's air game led by passer Larry Corrigan and receiver Ralph McFillen made it interesting. Sophomore Fred Duda., subbing for injured quarterback Dennis Claridge, did a good job.

A sellout throng of 61,826 at Norman turned out to watch Bud Wilkinson's club successfully regroup after their Texas defeat and the dismissal of Joe Don Looney. This helped lift Big Eight total home attendance to 597,426.

Rote Leads Chargers' Win Over Defending AFL Champs

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Tobin Rote, a quarterback who loves to throw "the big bomb," fired a couple Sunday that made the Western Division of the American Football League a "disaster area."

At the same time the 14-year-veteran of pro football all but clinched an AFL playoff berth for the San Diego Chargers and made Sid Gillman a strong candidate for coach of the year honors.

The 35-year-old Rote, a former star with the Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions in the National Football League and the Toronto Argonauts in the Canadian Football League, completed 16 of 22 passes for 266 yards and two touchdowns Sunday to lead the Chargers to a 38-17 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs. The win gave the Chargers a 5-1 season record and a 2½-game stranglehold on first place at the halfway mark of the schedule.

The Eastern Division race was thrown into a turmoil, meanwhile, when the Houston Oilers defeated the Buffalo Bills, 28-14, and the Oakland Raiders whipped the New York Jets, 49-26.

The Oilers are now tied for first place with the Boston Patriots, who beat the Denver Broncos, 40-21, Friday night, with the Jets a half-game behind them. Houston and Boston are 4-3 each and New York is 3-3.

George Blanda threw touchdown passes of 8, 20 and 80 yards for the Oilers, who struck for three touchdowns in the second period after a scoreless first session. Jack Kemp produced both Buffalo scores on passes of four yards to Bill Miller and 55 to Ernie Warwick.

Hawks Land Richie Guerin In Trade With New York

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richie Guerin now knows how Steve Hamilton felt when he was traded by the Washington Senators to the perennial champion New York Yankees.

The 31-year-old backcourt player, top sharpshooter in the history of the New York Knicks, was dealt to the St. Louis Hawks Sunday for a reported $50,000 and a second round draft choice in 1964.

While the Knicks usually bring up the rear of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, the Hawks generally get into the pro league's playoffs.

The Knicks, still in last place, announced the sale of Guerin and the acquisition of Len Chappell, a 22-year-old, 6-foot-8 forward-center, for an undisclosed amount of cash from the Philadelphia 76ers Sunday. The Knicks are on a youth kick in an effort to stir themselves out of the cellar.

In St. Louis, Hawks owner Ben Kerner said the $50,000 price for Guerin may be the largest sum ever paid for a player in the NBA's history.

It gives the Hawks an additional playmaker and a stellar shotmaker who has a 20.1 points per game average for his seven years in the pros. Guerin, a 6-foot-4 New York native, was voted to six NBA East-West All-Star games and to the 1962 All-League team.

The deals were the big news today. There were no games played Sunday and none are scheduled for tonight.

In Saturday's games, St. Louis whipped Los Angeles 117-108; Cincinnati thumped the Knicks 121-97; San Francisco nipped Baltimore 103-102, and Detroit edged Philadelphia 124-121.

The Tuesday schedule has Los Angeles at New York and San Francisco at Cincinnati.

Outlaws Keep League Lead At Carson

Two fumble recoveries, an intercepted pass and a long kickoff return set up all four Outlaw touchdowns as Special Troops continued its dominance in Ft. Carson Football League action by whipping the 3rd Brigade Chiefs, 27-6 Saturday night.

Sparked by the return of quarterback Ron Andrus, the Division Artillery Red Raiders came from behind to beat the Support Command Gladiators, 26-10, Sunday.

Clifton Grove returned the opening kickoff 85 yards to pave the way for the first Outlaw score. Monents later, Jack Massey recovered a Chief bobble on the 3rd Brigade 32 yard line. Nine plays later, Jesse Johnson scored his second touchdown of the evening.

Chief halfback Grady Lowe returned the ensuing kickoff 89 yards for the only Chief talley, but in the second quarter, Pat Revis intercepted a Chief pass and Herb Halliwell threw to Bobby Gray for a 28-yard touchdown on the next play. Steve Stephens scored the final touchdown in the last quarter after a fumble was recovered on the Chief four-yard line.

Altogether, the Chiefs lost the ball 10 times on fumbles or pass interceptions. The Outlaws had a rushing advantage of 223-16 on the ground, but were outgained thru the air, 101-94.

The Gladiaotrs, behind the running of Earl Carson and Bob Hunt, dominated the first half altho leading by only three points before Andrus rallied the Raiders to victory.

Wyoming, Utah Meet In Key WAC Contest

By DICK STUART
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three quarterbacks probably will decide the Western Athletic Conference football championship this fall.

They are Wyoming's Tom Wilkinson, Utah's Gary Hertzfeldt and Arizona State University's John Jacobs.

Wilkinson and Hertzfeldt face each other Saturday when Utah and Wyoming get together at Salt Lake City. Jacobs, who recently won back his starting role, encounters both later this season.

The three were instrumental in victories last Saturday.

Wyoming bopped Brigham Young University 41-14 as Wilkinson passed for two touchdowns and scored a third. For the Cougars (1-4), it was their third straight conference loss.

Hertzfeldt had two scoring strikes in Utah's 48-14 victory over hapless Colorado State University. It was the Rams' 30th defeat in 31 games and their 17th straight loss to WAC teams.

Jacobs, meanwhile, passed for one score and tallied a second as A-State buried Texas Western 27-0. He got a big assist from fullback Tony Lorick, who gained 176 yards in 21 carries.

Wyoming and A-State are now 4-1 for the season and Utah—atop the WAC with a 2-0 record—is 3-2 overall. The Sun Devils can't win the WAC championship because they don't play a minimum of four conference games.

The Lobos (1-3) went down 13-12 to arch-rival New Mexico State, while Arizona (2-3) was outgunned by Oregon 28-12 in a regionally televised game.

The Lobos lost when Aggie freshman Louis Dimartino kicked an extra point after quarterback Armando Alba's 18-yard pass to end Fred Smith tied the contest 12-12.

Arizona, which is having offensive troubles, did nothing right against Oregon until down 28-0 late in the fourth period. The Ducks relied mainly on the passing of junior quarterback Bob Berry, who hit 13 of 18 passes for 190 yards and a touchdown.

Halloween Scare Early For Top College Teams

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't a black Saturday like the previous week for the nation's top-ranking college football teams, just a scary one.

Texas, Wisconsin and Pitt, ranked 1-2-3 in The Associated Press poll, each preserved their unbeaten and untied slates, but just barely. The same went for Dartmouth, which extended to 15 the nation's longest winning streak for major teams. It had to uncork a hipper-dipper play in the closing minutes to beat Holy Cross, 13-8.

Texas took an early lead against Arkansas, then hung on desperately to pull out a 17-13 victory over the Porkers. Tony Crosby, the shoeless kicker, booted a key field goal for the Longhorns.

Iowa gave Wisconsin fits, but the Badgers eked out a 10-7 victory on Dave Fronek's 20-yard field goal. And Pitt had to come from behind to beat West Virginia 13-10 on a 46-yard sprint by Paul Martha in the last quarter.

Texas, the Southwest Conference leader, now has a 5-0-0 record. Wisconsin, tops in the Big Ten, is 4-0-0 as is Pitt, an independent rated the best in the East. This week Texas plays Rice, Wisconsin meets Ohio State and Pitt tangles with Navy.

Ohio State, No. 4 in last week's AP poll, took a 32-3 shellacking from Southern California, last year's national champions, while Navy No. 10, rounded from its Southern Methodist defeat, to whip Virginia Military 21-12.

Unbeaten and untied Auburn and Jimmy Sidle got into the national picture by walloping Georgia Tech, No. 8, 29-21. Mississippi, No. 5 blanked Tulane 21-0, but Oklahoma, No. 6, had to go all out to beat Kansas 21-18. So did seventh-ranked Illinois, which capitalized on fumbles to beat Minnesota 16-6. Alabama, No. 9, with Joe Namath passing for three TD's, crushed Tennessee 35-0 and Northwestern, tied for No. 10 with Navy, romped against Miami of Ohio 37-6.

In games this week Mississippi plays Vanderbilt, Oklahoma takes on Kansas State, Illinois meets UCLA, Georgia Tech meets Tulane; Alabama encounters Houston and Northwestern battles Michigan State.

Unbeaten but tied Duke defeated Clemson 35-30 and remained tied with North Carolina for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Leaders in the other major conferences are Virginia Tech in Southern Conference; Washington and UCLA tied in the Big Six; Utah in the Western Athletic; Auburn in the Southeastern; Nebraska and Missouri in the Big Eight; Cincinnati and Wichita in the Missouri Valley and Massachusetts in the Yankee.

Pitt tops the major independents.

Oklahoma Gets Victory To Start Title Defense

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Red of Oklahoma overcame an all-out effort by Kansas for a winning start in defense of its Big Eight football championship. The outlook now is for a tight three-team race between Oklahoma, Missouri and Nebraska, with Kansas and Iowa State in the role of spoilers.

Iowa State spoiled Kansas' title hopes and put the damper on Colorado's first division aim, 19-7, but it's doubtful the ambitious Cyclones can handle potent Missouri at Ames Saturday. It's the top game on a four game conference schedule. Missou is 2-0, Iowa State 2-1 in league play.

Oklahoma, 1-0, should easily cruise past Kansas State, 0-3, at Manhattan; Kansas, 0-2, figures to get its first conference victory against Oklahoma State, 0-2, at Lawrence; and Nebraska, 2-0 should stay high in the title picture by beating Colorado, 2-1, at Lincoln.

Missouri's power running game guided by quarterback Gary Lane and its stingy defense led by George Seals were too much for Oklahoma State, 28-6, at Stillwater. Monroe Phelps gives Missou and outside threat and Lane seldom misses the passes he needs most.

Iowa State stopped Colorado cold at Boulder except for a 78-yard scoring run by Bill Harris, and converted two fumbles and a blocked quick kick into points. A 41-yard field goal by Dick Limerick put the Cyclones ahead to stay.

Kansas surprised Oklahoma with an unbalanced line and ripped the Sooners for 269 yards rushing, most against an Oklahoma team in 20 games since Colorado's league champs gained 291 on Oct. 28, 1961. Gale Sayers had 110 yards in 16 trips, including a 61-yard scoring run, and caught a 7-yard touchdown pass. But Oklahoma found a hole in the Kansas pass defense and made the big plays it needed.

Norman Smith, a surprise starter at quarterback, and fullback Jim Grisham were the top OU players. Down 10-7, the Big Red moved in front to stay on a 17-yard scoring pass, Bobby Page to Rick McCurdy. Kansas stormed back with a 66-yard drive, only to lose a fumble at the Sooner 9.

Grisham had 74 of Oklahoma's 216 yards on the ground.

Kansas had a 312-296 edge in runn-pass yardage but its air game was thwarted by two key interceptions.

Interceptions also proved K-State's downfall against Nebraska, 28-6, at Manhattan. Cornhusker linemen Ron Michka and Larry Tomlinson got the second and third touchdowns on stolen passes. But K-State's air game led by passer Larry Corrigan and receiver Ralph McFillen made it interesting. Sophomore Fred Duda., subbing for injured quarterback Dennis Claridge, did a good job.

A sellout throng of 61,826 at Norman turned out to watch Bud Wilkinson's club successfully regroup after their Texas defeat and the dismissal of Joe Don Looney. This helped lift Big Eight total home attendance to 597,426.

Sparked by the return of quarterback Ron Andrus, the Division Artillery Red Raiders came from behind to beat the Support Command Gladiators, 26-10, Sunday.

Clifton Grove returned the opening kickoff 85 yards to pave the way for the first Outlaw score. Monents later, Jack Massey recovered a Chief bobble on the 3rd Brigade 32 yard line. Nine plays later, Jesse Johnson scored his second touchdown of the evening.

Chief halfback Grady Lowe returned the ensuing kickoff 89 yards for the only Chief talley, but in the second quarter, Pat Revis intercepted a Chief pass and Herb Halliwell threw to Bobby Gray for a 28-yard touchdown on the next play. Steve Stephens scored the final touchdown in the last quarter after a fumble was recovered on the Chief four-yard line.

Altogether, the Chiefs lost the ball 10 times on fumbles or pass interceptions. The Outlaws had a rushing advantage of 223-16 on the ground, but were outgained thru the air, 101-94.

The Gladiaotrs, behind the running of Earl Carson and Bob Hunt, dominated the first half altho leading by only three points before Andrus rallied the Raiders to victory.

Wyoming, Utah Meet In Key WAC Contest

By DICK STUART
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three quarterbacks probably will decide the Western Athletic Conference football championship this fall.

They are Wyoming's Tom Wilkinson, Utah's Gary Hertzfeldt and Arizona State University's John Jacobs.

Wilkinson and Hertzfeldt face each other Saturday when Utah and Wyoming get together at Salt Lake City. Jacobs, who recently won back his starting role, encounters both later this season.

The three were instrumental in victories last Saturday.

Wyoming bopped Brigham Young University 41-14 as Wilkinson passed for two touchdowns and scored a third. For the Cougars (1-4), it was their third straight conference loss.

Hertzfeldt had two scoring strikes in Utah's 48-14 victory over hapless Colorado State University. It was the Rams' 30th defeat in 31 games and their 17th straight loss to WAC teams.

Jacobs, meanwhile, passed for one score and tallied a second as A-State buried Texas Western 27-0. He got a big assist from fullback Tony Lorick, who gained 176 yards in 21 carries.

Wyoming and A-State are now 4-1 for the season and Utah—atop the WAC with a 2-0 record—is 3-2 overall. The Sun Devils can't win the WAC championship because they don't play a minimum of four conference games.

The Lobos (1-3) went down 13-12 to arch-rival New Mexico State, while Arizona (2-3) was outgunned by Oregon 28-12 in a regionally televised game.

The Lobos lost when Aggie freshman Louis Dimartino kicked an extra point after quarterback Armando Alba's 18-yard pass to end Fred Smith tied the contest 12-12.

Arizona, which is having offensive troubles, did nothing right against Oregon until down 28-0 late in the fourth period. The Ducks relied mainly on the passing of junior quarterback Bob Berry, who hit 13 of 18 passes for 190 yards and a touchdown.

The 4-H meetings are to be the first Monday night of each month instead of the first Friday night. Refreshments were served after each meeting.

Cub Scout Pack No. 30 kicked off a new season of cubbing with Wilbur Wolf, cubmaster, conducting the meeting on Sept 23.

Opening ceremonies were by Den 7, with Katie Lanam as den mother.

Introduction of committeemen and den mothers was followed by a report of the past year, and summer activities, by Al Barela, assistant cubmaster.

Mr. Wolf explained cub dues and a scout insurance for boys.

Awards were presented to Steven Ramon, Bobcat; Wayne Chavez, David Schot and Eric Sorenson, Wolf Badge; Gary Wetzel, and Paul Preece, Bear Badge; Jamie Woodrum, Larry Pulse and R. J. Wolf, Lion Badge; Jamie Woodrum, Daryl Ganyo and Dale Chavez, Gold Arrows. Bobcat applications were passed out to new boys entering cub scouts.

Closing ceremonies were by Den 7.

The Miriam Circle of the First Methdost Church met at the home of Ruby Wetzel Wednesday. Presented, was a very interesting program on "Missions in India."

The hostesses served refreshments to Ruth McGahan, Gladys Jackson, Clara Schallock, Mary Bystrom, Miriam Kerr, Viva Colbert, Ruby Wetzel, and Doris Gilbert, president of the WSCS.

The Ruth Circle held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Litia Shiner Oct. 9, with Mrs. Ruth Lacey as hostess. Doris Goodsell presented the program and devotions.

The twelve members present were: Bertha Harns, Doris Goodsell, Letitia Shiner, Leona McDaniel, Nettie Ream, Paula Chancellor, Nina McAuliffe, Mira Gaunt, Ruth Lacey, Daisy Torbit, Marilyn Ellis and Gladys Ury.

The Mary Martha Circle met Oct. 4 at 9 a.m. in the church basement with 11 members and 6 guests present.

Iris Chastain presented the program.

Edna Lee was elected treasurer of the Circle and also was appointed as Spiritual Life committeewoman.

Marjorie Fleischauer and Loretta McDonald were hostesses.

Members present were Iris Chastain, Audrey Fox, Doris Gilbert, Marilyn Ellis, Mildred Ross, Edna Lee, Erdine Gooch, Marjorie Fleischauer, Loretta McDonald, Sharon Gill. Guests were: Barbara Musgrave, Virginia Neikerk, Doris Sabo, Linda Burns, Jerri Blazek and Sally Foster.

The Fountain Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Alice Coulter in October with Clara Schallock as co-hostess.

Eight members from the Homemakers Club were hostesses at the District No. 6 meeting at Carpenter Hall in Colorado Springs Oct. 6. There were 237 members of the clubs in District 6 attending the meeting. The Ent Air Force Base Choir entertained the clubs in the afternoon.

A demonstration was given by Ruth McGahan on "How to Recognize Specific Diseases." Medical Alert handbooks may be obtained through the club, and films may be obtained from Ruth Applethun, County Extension Agent.

Officers elected for the coming year were Emma Wells, president; Nellie Perriman, vice-president; Minnie Reed, secretary; Gladys Ury, treasurer; Christina Pullara, historian; Juana Noble, parliamentarian.

The mystery box, furnished by Nellie Perriman, was won by Clara Schallock.

The next meeting will be at the home of Gladys Ury Nov. 6, at which time there will be a demonstration on holiday decorations.

Arts and Crafts Day is to be held at the Auditorium in Colorado Springs, Oct. 29.

Lever sang in a variety of languages ranging from Hebrew to Chinese. He sings in 21 languages and speaks seven fluently.

The Fountain High School chorus, under the direction of Mr. William Beatty, made its first appearance before the student body. They sang two selections, "Say it With Music," and the "Banana Boat Song."

Linda Cline and Larry McGuire from the Annual staff, and Janice Blevins and Diane Kraus from the newspaper staff attended the High School Publications Conference in Boulder Oct. 4. Mrs. Anita Seyler and Mr. Paul Chastain sponsored the group.

The Junior Carnival proved entertainment to the public and profit to the junior class. A variety of booths and games entertained young and old throughout the evening.

Mrs. Betty Crist, class sponsor, was also presented with a bouquet for her efforts in promoting the carnival.

Richard Gilbreath and Bob Weber will attend the State Student Council meeting in Fort Collins Nov. 4 and 5.

The Sock and Buskin Thespian Chapter met Wednesday. Officers were chosen as follows: Diane Kraus, president; Freddie Romero, vice-president; and Cindy Farr, secretary-treasurer.

RECOUNTS JONES' DEEDS

NEW YORK (AP) — The Bob Jones era really began at the Inwood Country Club on Long Island 40 years ago when he won the USGA Open title, his first of 13 national championships.

The anniversary prompted Lester Rice to write about ones' deeds of the 1920s in the September issue of the USGA Golf Journal.

Within eight years Jones finished first or second in seven of eight US Opens and won three British Opens. Four years before his 1930 Grand Slam, Jones won both the 1926 US and British Opens, reached the sixth round of the British Amateur and in the US Amateur at Baltusrol, Springfield, N.J., he was beaten at the 35th green in the final by George Von Elm.

Young Republicans Warned About Demos

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The national head of the Young Republicans says that if the GOP loses in 1964 "we will have lost control of the country for the rest of our lives."

Donald E. Lukens, 31, told a training seminar of 150 young Republicans Saturday that "one man's family is in control of the White House."

BABY BROTHER

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Larry Farmer gave her three children, who all celebrated birthdays Sunday, a not unexpected gift—a baby brother.

The birth of a 5-pound 13-ounce boy to Mr. and Mrs. Farmer made it official. Now each of the Fauquier County couple's four children have been born on the same day, Oct. 20. The three other children are Debra Sue 7, Larry Wardell Jr. 4, and Timothy John 2.

Punch Starts Trouble String For Fugitive

DENVER (UII) — Richard Bortner threw a punch at a gasoline truck driver after a minor accident 18 months ago and still is troubled by the results.

The 32-year-old fugitive from an Alabama chain gang now is free on $5,000 bond, and awaiting the outcome of a legal battle over attempts to extradite him back to the prison, where he says he will "probably get shot" for escaping.

Bortner, an oil field worker, left Meeteetse, Wyo., in February, 1962 with his wife and son for a visit with relatives in South Carolina. On the way, the family passed through Birmingham, Ala., where the accident occurred.

Last May 21 Bortner was convicted of an assault and battery charge stemming from the accident, and sentenced to six months in jail. But the county court judge also sentenced him to 458 extra days on the chain gang to pay a $500 fine and $981 in court costs, according to Bortner's Denver lawyer, Richard Burns.

Bortner escaped July 8, and later returned to Denver, where he was arrested Sept. 26.

Bortner's case has gone as far as Gov. John Love, who promised here to "take a long, hard look" at the case before action is taken.

Burns says his client was asleep in the back seat of his car with his son Ricky and his wife, Naomi, was driving when the truck was backed into the family car.

"Bortner was awakened from a sound sleep, cut and bruised, and in this confused state threw one punch at the driver," Burns said.

The lawyer, who said Bortner has no felony record, was chaged with the misdemeanor and placed on $300 bail pending trial. He said Bortner could not find a job in Birmingham, and jumped bail.

He was returned to Alabama after being picked up in Baker, Mont. Burns said he then was sentenced on the assault charge, and sent to the county jail.

Alabama has until Nov. 6 to forward extradition papers to Love, according to an order issued by Denver Dist. Judge Neil Horan. Dist. Judge Don D. Bowman Friday reset a hearing on Bortner's petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the same date.

Shape of Civil Rights Measure To Be Sought

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the week that should determine what shape civil rights legislation is going to take in Congress.

Starting Tuesday, the House Judiciary Committee will take up proposals to weaken the civil rights bill now under consideration. Before the week ends, votes are expected on at least some of the revisions.

The committee sessions will be the chief activity in the House.

The Senate has scheduled a vote today on a $1.7-billion program of aid to higher education, but after that the spotlight will also shift to a committee room, where hearings on the administration tax bill continue.

The Senate brought the college bill to the verge of passage last week but put off the final vote to accommodate Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had to be out of town the latter part of the week.

The bill would authorize a five-year program of grants and loans for construction of academic facilities. It differs in two major respects from a House-passed bill and there may be difficulties in reconciling the two. Such difficulties proved insurmountable last year and similar bills died.

In the House Judiciary Committee two veterans of civil rights legislative battles will try to rally support for a more moderate bill than that produced by one of its subcommittees.

Chairman Emanuel Celler D-N.Y., who helped shape the stronger bill, has heeded the plea of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to try to tone it down so it can command broader support.

Celler has lined up most of the Northern Democrats on the committee to support him, but needs the ranking minority member, Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, to go along if a strong bipartisan base is to be fashioned.

McCulloch has indicated a willingness to achieve a compromise, but faces problems in getting his fellow Republicans to go along. Some prefer the stronger subcommittee version, and others want to cut it drastically.

Punch Starts Trouble String For Fugitive

DENVER (UPI) — Richard Bortner threw a punch at a gasoline truck driver after a minor accident 18 months ago and still is troubled by the results.

The 32-year-old fugitive from an Alabama chain gang now is free on $5,000 bond, and awaiting the outcome of a legal battle over attempts to extradite him back to the prison, where he says he will "probably get shot" for escaping.

Bortner, an oil field worker, left Meeteetse, Wyo., in February, 1962 with his wife and son for a visit with relatives in South Carolina. On the way, the family passed through Birmingham, Ala., where the accident occurred.

Last May 21 Bortner was convicted of an assault and battery charge stemming from the accident, and sentenced to six months in jail. But the county court judge also sentenced him to 458 extra days on the chain gang to pay a $500 fine and $981 in court costs, according to Bortner's Denver lawyer, Richard Burns.

Bortner escaped July 8, and later returned to Denver, where he was arrested Sept. 26.

Bortner's case has gone as far as Gov. John Love, who promised here to "take a long, hard look" at the case before action is taken.

Burns says his client was asleep in the back seat of his car with his son Ricky and his wife, Naomi, was driving when the truck was backed into the family car.

"Bortner was awakened from a sound sleep, cut and bruised, and in this confused state threw one punch at the driver," Burns said.

The lawyer, who said Bortner has no felony record, was chaged with the misdemeanor and placed on $300 bail pending trial. He said Bortner could not find a job in Birmingham, and jumped bail.

He was returned to Alabama after being picked up in Baker, Mont. Burns said he then was sentenced on the assault charge, and sent to the county jail.

Alabama has until Nov. 6 to forward extradition papers to Love, according to an order issued by Denver Dist. Judge Neil Horan. Dist. Judge Don D. Bowman Friday reset a hearing on Bortner's petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the same date.

Shape of Civil Rights Measure To Be Sought

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the week that should determine what shape civil rights legislation is going to take in Congress.

Starting Tuesday, the House Judiciary Committee will take up proposals to weaken the civil rights bill now under consideration. Before the week ends, votes are expected on at least some of the revisions.

The committee sessions will be the chief activity in the House.

The Senate has scheduled a vote today on a $1.7-billion program of aid to higher education, but after that the spotlight will also shift to a committee room, where hearings on the administration tax bill continue.

The Senate brought the college bill to the verge of passage last week but put off the final vote to accommodate Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had to be out of town the latter part of the week.

The bill would authorize a five-year program of grants and loans for construction of academic facilities. It differs in two major respects from a House-passed bill and there may be difficulties in reconciling the two. Such difficulties proved insurmountable last year and similar bills died.

In the House Judiciary Committee two veterans of civil rights legislative battles will try to rally support for a more moderate bill than that produced by one of its subcommittees.

Chairman Emanuel Celler D-N.Y., who helped shape the stronger bill, has heeded the plea of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to try to tone it down so it can command broader support.

Celler has lined up most of the Northern Democrats on the committee to support him, but needs the ranking minority member, Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, to go along if a strong bipartisan base is to be fashioned.

McCulloch has indicated a willingness to achieve a compromise, but faces problems in getting his fellow Republicans to go along. Some prefer the stronger subcommittee version, and others want to cut it drastically.

YES, DR. CASEY, I WAS ON DUTY WHEN DR. DUVAL MADE THESE BLOOD GROUPINGS. WHY?
SOMETHING'S HAPPENED... AND WE'VE GOT TO KNOW HOW AND WHY!
I GOT A MESSAGE TO SEE YOU AS SOON AS I CAME IN...
DR. DUVAL, MR. PELL'S BLOOD WAS RECORDED AS AB-RH NEGATIVE. BUT HE'S TYPE A.
IMPOSSIBLE! I DID THE TEST MYSELF!
I KNOW, DOCTOR—AND YOU MADE A TERRIBLE MISTAKE WHICH COULD HAVE COST MR. PELL HIS LIFE!

Record Antlers Reported in State

The ruling came from the Pope and Young Club, trophy registration group for archers that corresponds to the better known Boone and Crockett Club for riflemen.

Cook shot the animal during Colorado's 1962 archery season in Glade Park, west of Grand Junction, with a 45-pound pull bow and a 440-grain arrow with a razor head. The kill was made from 45 yards.

WASHIN' CAUTION

A Michigan State University home economist, Barbara Stowe, tested seven types of jackets which bore washable labels. She found that dry cleaning was much safer in all seven.

Mrs. Stowe also discovered that it's extremely risky to launder a jacket which has no cleaning instructions on the label. One jacket she laundered looked washable, but the lining shrank 16.2 per cent, after the first washing.

We're not a wallflower any more.

"Antique Bourbon" used to be a pretty uncommon order.

Bartenders would ask "Antique what?"

Not any more. All of a sudden, we're a trend.

Which both pleases and surprises us.

You see, we were afraid the trend was towards blander whiskeys. And the flavor of Antique Bourbon is full of character.

Our older admirers say we've recaptured the character of the great pre-Prohibition bourbons.

(Which is precisely what we set out to do. Even to the extent of employing a pre-Prohibition yeast.)

Liver, Kidney Transplants Mark New Medical Epoch

By JEFFERSON GRIGSBY

DENVER (UPI) — Mrs. Jeanine Marie Goodfellow, an attractive, 29-year-old Arvada, Colo., housewife, is up and about these days two weeks after surgery.

Commonplace? Not quite. In that surgery at the University of Colorado Medical Center here, Mrs. Goodfellow received a new liver to replace her own, ravaged by incurable cancer.

She is the sixth human in history to receive a transplanted liver. And the 11-man surgical team which did the operation, has written medical epochs in the last 11 months.

The surgery to give Mrs. Goodfellow a new liver was the fifth liver transplant performed by the Denver team (the sixth was at Boston), and the team's 43rd transplant operation since it took a kidney from a 34-year-old Denver woman last Nov. 24 and put it in the body of her 12-year-old son. Since Mrs. Goodfellow's surgery, four more transplants have been performed, all of kidneys.

The surgeons have transplanted 42 kidneys, including two for one patient, and one spleen, in addition to the five liver operations.

Of the kidney patients, 28 are still living, and the spleen transplant recipient has survived. The previous liver recipients died of blood clots or blood malfunctionings.

They also point out that such transplants are going on elsewhere — at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston, a pioneering center in earlier kidney transplants, for example.

The Denver team has one of the most consistently successful records in organ transplants, however, in a history which goes back nearly 30 years. The first such operation know was performed by a Russian in 1936. It was not successful.

This process is expected in all transplants between other than identical twins.

The Denver team tried various ways of curbing rejection, including radiation, removal of the spleen and drugs. For a while, the thymus, a small gland near the heart, also was removed in the Denver operations, "but this was not found to be of any significant benefit," one of the surgeons said. The spleen is still being removed, but radiation no longer is used.

Two new drugs — imuran and prednisone — hold the key now to much of the Denver team's optimism over controlling rejection. Although it is still not known exactly how the drugs work, they control the rejection episode. Doctors are able to reduce the dosage as the body gradually adjusts to the new organ.

Just Routine Now

The information the Denver team has compiled on taking care of transplant patients is already routine practice at the medical center and at the Denver Administration Hospital, where the operations also are performed.

Many of these techniques are so familiar at Denver that they are routine, "where in other institutions they would be considered research," an official noted.

The transplant operations generally take five to eight hours and involve nearly 20 persons, including the 11 key members of the team.

Once the crisis of the surgery itself is over, the doctors begin the countdown on the crisis of rejection.

The medical drama going on in Denver in the past 11 months is made up of may parts — the calm, conservative way the surgeons themselves talk about their accomplishments, the sight of a kidney reddening with new blood minutes after it is placed in the patient's body, the tense moment later when it begins to produce urine — to work.

But it is also the sight of Royal Jones, the ~~boy who got~~ that first kidney 11 months ago, playing basketball. Or Mrs. Marie Goodfellow, still pale and weak, but up and about.

Indonesian Soldiers Reported in Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) — Villagers reported a number of Indonesian soldiers in jungle green uniforms had landed on a beach near Penang Saturday.

The Malaysian government, which has recieved a number of reports of Indonesian infiltrators, sent a police detachment to investigate.

They found the invaders — a Malaysian police inspector and three friends who had come ashore after a fishing trip.

Plastic Surgery Picture Wrong, Humorist Finds

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A lot of people have the wrong idea about plastic surgery, including possibly a few plastic surgeons.

Many of our misconceptions stem from watching old movies on the late late show.

We tend to think of plastic surgery in terms of a middle aged actress hocking her jewels to have her wrinkles removed, or of an arch criminal getting his features renovated in an empty warehouse by a brilliant but deranged surgeon who has lost his medical license and bears a grudge against the world at large.

The Third International Congress of Plastic Surgery is being held here this week and when I dropped by to see what was going on I found that members of the profession are rather sensitive about their public image.

I asked an official of the Congress to fill me in on new developments in the field of cosmetic surgery. He quickly pointed out that cases of that sort represent only about 25 per cent of a plastic surgeon's work.

And he was cautious about discussing that for fear it might create an impression that some plastic surgeons were functioning more or less as high class beauticians.

But after pledging me to foregon sensationalism, he did acknowledge that more and more Americans are taking advantage of modern surgical techniques for improving on nature.

The most frequent operation of the cosmetic type is the rearranging of noses. After that comes the correction of protruding ears, sagging cheeks and chins, and baggy eyelids.

A relative newcomer, but becoming increasingly popular, is the revision of proportions and contours of the female bosom.

The official who gave me this information said the average layman has been lead to believe that any type of plastic surgery is likely to cost a small fortune.

Actually, he said, the fees are comparable to those of other types of surgery. A typical nose job, for example, would run between $400 and $500.

However, cosmetic surgery is usually outside the scope of medical insurance and is not the type of item that can be easily listed on an expense account.

I inquired whether the day might eventually arrive when plastic surgery would be simplified to the point where milady would change her face as often as she changes hair color.

The official replied that most people will have to go on wearing the same old faces for the rest of their lives.

Limitation of Fuel Imports Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said here he had joined in sponsorship of a bill to limit imports of foreign residual fuel oils.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D.-W. Va., and woud limit oil imports in the eastern two-thirds of the nation to an amount not more than 50 per cent of the total consumption for each three-month period of the previous year.

The Wyoming senator noted that the restriction, while limiting any increase in imports, would not cause any large scale upset in traditional residual markets.

Historical Show Too Late, Says TV Reporter

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The network that this year calls itself the new ABC started an ambitious educational project late last evening — a television history of Western man and his civilization.

The first show, one of four, quite naturally was concerned with the discovery of America. To set the scene, producer-narrator-writer John Secondari took the first half of the program for a short course on the Italian renaissance.

The narration, heavily laced with readings from old records, diaries and ships' logs, was really a lecture. And it was illustrated with films of historic places, old masters, portraits, statues and occasionally by shadowy pantomines of events.

It was a laudable effort and probably is a very expensive one. But the program, on late in the evening, would do much better in an early evening or Sunday afternoon spot so that school-age audiences could get the benefit.

The panel of well-known comedians who will kick off ABC's "Laughs for Sale" next Sunday includes Mickey Rooney and Cara ("Pete and Gladys") Williams. The object of the show, replacement for "100 Grand" is to give some exposure to the work of untried comedy writers —and if it works it will be a television boon.

Although television's rating services had some rough going last season before a congressional committee, the industry and the advertising agencies are still paying breathless attention to estimates of audience sizes, particularly those of the Nielsen organization.

The most recent nation-wide Nielsen ratings, covering the last weeks of September, when most new shows were being launched for the season has "Beverly Hillbillies" still in its usual place at the top of the heap, followed by "Bonanza," Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton and "Petticoat Junction" in that order. Of the new shows only "Petticoat Junction" and Imogene Coca's "Grindl" made the top 10 list.

"Perry Mason" seems to have quietly abandoned its old rigid format. There was an out-of-courtroom confession in an episode the other day, and one show started with invincible Perry's client convicted for murder.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain – without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all – this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) – the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Record Antlers Reported in State

The ruling came from the Pope and Young Club, trophy registration group for archers that corresponds to the better known Boone and Crockett Club for riflemen.

Cook shot the animal during Colorado's 1962 archery season in Glade Park, west of Grand Junction, with a 45-pound pull bow and a 440-grain arrow with a razor head. The kill was made from 45 yards.

WASHIN' CAUTION

A Michigan State University home economist, Barbara Stowe, tested seven types of jackets which bore washable labels. She found that dry cleaning was much safer in all seven.

Mrs. Stowe also discovered that it's extremely risky to launder a jacket which has no cleaning instructions on the label. One jacket she laundered looked washable, but the lining shrank 16.2 per cent. after the first washing.

BOGOTA — A dynamite factory is to be built in Colombia.

We're not a wallflower any more.

"Antique Bourbon" used to be a pretty uncommon order.

Bartenders would ask "Antique what?"

Not any more. All of a sudden, we're a trend.

Which both pleases and surprises us.

You see, we were afraid the trend was towards blander whiskeys. And the flavor of Antique Bourbon is full of character.

Our older admirers say we've recaptured the character of the great pre-Prohibition bourbons.

(Which is precisely what we set out to do. Even to the extent of employing a pre-Prohibition yeast.)

Liver, Kidney Transplants Mark New Medical Epoch

By JEFFERSON GRIGSBY

DENVER (UPI) — Mrs. Jeanine Marie Goodfellow, an attractive, 29-year-old Arvada, Colo., housewife, is up and about these days two weeks after surgery.

Commonplace? Not quite. In that surgery at the University of Colorado Medical Center here, Mrs. Goodfellow received a new liver to replace her own, ravaged by incurable cancer.

She is the sixth human in history to receive a transplanted liver. And the 11-man surgical team which did the operation, has written medical epochs in the last 11 months.

The surgery to give Mrs. Goodfellow a new liver was the fifth liver transplant performed by the Denver team (the sixth was at Boston), and the team's 43rd transplant operation since it took a kidney from a 34-year-old Denver woman last Nov. 24 and put it in the body of her 12-year-old son. Since Mrs. Goodfellow's surgery, four more transplants have been performed, all of kidneys.

The surgeons have transplanted 42 kidneys, including two for one patient, and one spleen, in addition to the five liver operations.

Of the kidney patients, 28 are still living, and the spleen transplant recipient has survived. The previous liver recipients died of blood clots or blood malfunctionings.

They also point out that such transplants are going on elsewhere — at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston, a pioneering center in earlier kidney transplants, for example.

The Denver team has one of the most consistently successful records in organ transplants, however, in a history which goes back nearly 30 years. The first such operation know was performed by a Russian in 1936. It was not successful.

Known as the "rejection phenomenon," it occurs when the body senses the new organ as alien, attacks it, and tries to destroy it.

This process is expected in all transplants between other than identical twins.

The Denver team tried various ways of curbing rejection, including radiation, removal of the spleen and drugs. For a while, the thymus, a small gland near the heart, also was removed in the Denver operations, "but this was not found to be of any significant benefit," one of the surgeons said. The spleen is still being removed, but radiation no longer is used.

Two new drugs — imuran and prednisone — hold the key now to much of the Denver team's optimism over controlling rejection. Although it is still not known exactly how the drugs work, they control the rejection episode. Doctors are able to reduce the dosage as the body gradually adjusts to the new organ.

Just Routine Now

The information the Denver team has compiled on taking care of transplant patients is already routine practice at the medical center and at the Denver Administration Hospital, where the operations also are performed.

Many of these techniques are so familiar at Denver that they are routine, "where in other institutions they would be considered research," an official noted.

The transplant operations generally take five to eight hours and involve nearly 20 persons, including the 11 key members of the team.

Once the crisis of the surgery itself is over, the doctors begin the countdown on the crisis of rejection.

The medical drama going on in Denver in the past 11 months is made up of may parts — the calm, conservative way the surgeons themselves talk about their accomplishments, the sight of a kidney reddening with new blood minutes after it is placed in the patient's body, the tense moment later when it begins to produce urine — to work.

But it is also the sight of Royal Jones, the boy who got that first kidney 11 months ago, playing basketball. Or Mrs. Marie Goodfellow, still pale and weak, but up and about.
